"REDS" OF INDIA PROCLAIM TERRORIST POLICY

WHOLESALE ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTED IN LEGISLATURE

"Hindustan Socialist Republican Army" Publishes Avowal of Orders Given in Accordance With Which Two Bombs Are Thrown at Session of Delhi Legislative Assembly

Bombs Hurled Explode, but Only One Man Badly Injured

Two Men in Public Gallery Throw Missiles—They Make No Effort to Escape—Outrage Occurs While Public Safety Bill to Check Communist Propaganda Is Before House

NEW DELHI, April 8.—The campaign of the India Government against Communist agitation had an ominous justification in the Legislative Assembly today when several members were injured and the others panic stricken by the explosion of two bombs thrown from a gallery. Sir Bomnjee Delalal was struck by a fragment of the bombs which made a rent two inches long and half an inch wide. He was the only one gravely injured, although other prominent persons, including Sir George Schuster, financial member of the Executive Council of the Viceroy, were injured.

The motive of the bombing was disclosed by a pamphlet signed by "Balraaj, Honorary Chief, Hindustan Socialist Republican Army."

This said: "It takes a loud voice to make the deaf hear. With these immortal words uttered on a similar occasion by a valiant French anarchist martyr do we strongly justify this act of ours."

After charging that labor leaders are being indiscriminately arrested and that the people were quarreling over distribution of "crumbs of reform" from the Simon Commission, the pamphlet said

AUTHORS AVOW CRIME

"In these extremely provocative circumstances and resolutely undaunted Republican Association, in all seriousness and realizing its full responsibility, decided upon and ordered its army to adopt certain particular action, so that a stop may be put to this humiliating farce and that alien bureaucratic exploitation may be brought under the public eye in their naked form."

The two men who threw the bombs made no attempt to escape but surrendered themselves to the police, who charged them with attempted murder. They gave up pistols which it was said that they had fired, although this could not be definitely determined because of the confusion into which the Assembly was thrown.

One of the prisoners, Baghat Singh, of Punjab, was said to be a nephew of the notorious revolutionist, Ajit Singh, who was arrested a year ago but released on lack of evidence. The uncle is still in exile. The other bomber was Batukeswar Dutt, of Bengal.

The scene came at the moment of a serious dispute between the Government and Opposition benches in the Assembly, who is an Indian Parliament. The Assembly was about to debate the Government Public Safety Bill, which would authorize deportation of non-Indians convicted of Communist agitation.

President V. O. Patel had insisted on postponement of debate on this subject until after the Meerut trial of Communists recently charged with conspiracy against the King. He argued that debate then would prejudice the trial.

The Government insisted on immediate debate and the president was about to rule in favor of trying when the first bomb exploded.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL IS MADE CHIEF

Lord Willingdon Admitted Into Another Indian Tribe in Colorful Ceremony at Tofino

NORAH WELCOMED ON MAIDEN TRIP

Viceregal Party Is Greatly Interested in Bamfield Cable Station, First Port of Call

(Staff Representative on Board)

TOFINO, April 8.—An enthusiastic reception was tendered the Princess Norah at Bamfield, Ucluelet and Tofino today, on the occasion of her special maiden cruise of West Coast points, extending four days.

The viceregal party expressed considerable interest in the Bamfield cable station, where a test message was run through for Lord Willingdon, the Governor-General.

The Indians, with painted faces, and weird headdresses, did a war dance to the beat of drums for His Excellency.

At Ucluelet a school holiday was proclaimed, and the children, whites, Japanese and Indians, swarmed over the vessel.

Twelve fishing vessels, flying the Union Jack, escorted the Norah into Tofino.

In a colorful and picturesque ceremony, Lord Willingdon here was presented with an address at the Canadian Legion Hall, and made a chief of the Clayoquot Indians.

Residents of the West Coast have so far been highly delighted with the vessel, which averaged 17 knots and a half knots to Bamfield on this inaugural trip.

The Princess Maquinna was passed at 10.55 a.m. in Barkley Sound, with an exchange of whistles. Her entire crew lined up on the deck to see the new boat.

The weather has been clear and warm, since leaving Victoria, and the sea fairly smooth.

Grave Question Stirs Diplomats At Washington

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The diplomatic corps, at a meeting at the British Embassy tonight, agreed that Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador and dean of the corps, immediately should ask the State Department for a definite ruling on the social status of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice-President Curtis.

The corps decided that since Vice-President Curtis had protested to the State Department against a ruling by former Secretary Kellogg, placing Mrs. Gann at social functions after the wives of the heads of foreign missions, that it would be better to have Mrs. Gann's status definitely established by Secretary of State Stimson.

INDIA'S POET GIVES TALK ON ART AND LIFE

Sir Rabindranath Tagore Addresses Crowded Audience at Vancouver—Art as Fruit of Joy

AUSTRALIAN SEES REVIVAL COMING

VANCOUVER, April 8—Sir Rabindranath Tagore, introduced by Professor George M. Wrong, of the University of Toronto, as "a prince in his own land, a poet and lover of world peace," was the chief speaker here tonight, at the National Council of Education conference.

Taking as his subject, "The Meaning of Art," the distinguished Indian poet condemned straining after originality in art, and deplored the "unshrinking inevitity" evident in modern literature.

Speaking for more than a hour to an audience that packed the Vancouver Opera House, he offered many observations on life of today and modern literature.

"Our modern taste for literature is like a hasty tourist in the rush over the miscellaneous, it ransacks cheap marts for curios which are mostly delusions," he said, and continued that modern literature seemed to poke its nose into out-of-the-way places for things and effects that are out of the common. Adventure stories are popular because they offer excitement without risk.

PROPHET AS COMEDIAN

It is said, the poet declared, as are wisdom struggling to seem clever—a prophet in cap and bells. All true-born artists have the divine gift of immortal youth. Directly a poem is fashioned it is liberated from its genesis.

"In my friend I realize myself. He is an expansion of my own reality. In a slave we miss the full significance of reality and therefore joy; in a friend we find it."

GRANBY APPEAL IS WITHDRAWN

DISPUTE WITH WEST KOOTENAY POWER COMPANY IS TAKEN FROM COURTS

Announcement Is Made by Counsel —Recent Legislation Makes Suit Needless

VANCOUVER, April 8.—What promised to be one of the most bitterly contested appeals carried from British Columbia to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, was withdrawn today, when D. A. Macneill, K.C., counsel for West Kootenay Power & Light Company, announced in the Court of Appeal that the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Company has abandoned its appeal. The appeal was withdrawn, explained counsel, following recent legislation in Victoria, which removed the cause of dispute.

It was a case in reality between the Granby company on the one hand, and the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, of Trail, on the other, over the rights to water of electric power for the Granby Company's workings at Alenby.

E. C. Mayers, K.C., counsel for the Granby Company, assented to Mr. Macneill's statement.

Empire Representatives And Europe's Spokesman Give Message to Council

VANCOUVER, April 8.—Three representatives of the Empire and a spokesman for Continental Europe viewed the problem of ordered leisure and essayed the role of prophecy, when they acknowledged the city's welcome to them as delegates to the fourth triennial conference of the National Council of Education here today. They were Frank Milner, from New Zealand; Aubrey Symonds, from the Motherland; Laurence F. Rushbrook Williams, official delegate of Indian Princes, and Consul-General Kemptf, of Germany, speaking for Continental Europe.

From the two delegates representing outposts of the Empire came a message of intelligent participation, a summing up of those forces which make the British Commonwealth of Nations the stabilizing political unit of international affairs. They saw in the conference a strengthening of Empire ties.

Frank Milner, who said he spoke not only for his own Dominion, New Zealand, but also for Australia, came to Canada, he said, expecting a conference "bent on intensifying the consciousness of corporate Canadian life. But what he found, he said, was an international pattering and, "eclectic humanism." The outside contributions should be valuable, he believed, because "educational idealism" is international in its scope.

"In New Zealand," he declared, "amusing to Empire affairs, "we do not quibble about our status in the Empire. We prize our heritage and we are content to broaden the strain of our Motherland among our people. We are glad to remain an individual unit of the British Empire, which is the stabilizing factor in world politics."

FROM PRINCES OF INDIA

This was the same message which Laurence Rushbrook Williams said he carried from the Indian Princes

First of Army of French-Canadian Settlers Coming

WINNIPEG, Man., April 8.—Two hundred French-Canadians passed through here last night over the Canadian National Railways for the Peace River district, where they are to settle.

They are the vanguard of a vast army of French Canadians who are being repatriated from the New England States, where they and their families have been living many years. For two years the plan of repatriation has been in the making, but only now is the effect being felt of the concentration spent on the scheme by Rev. Father J. Hamelin and those who worked with him in the New England States.

Father Hamelin has been assisted by Father Normandeau, who knows Northern Alberta well, by J. A. Lefrancs, of the colonization department of the Canadian National Railways, and by Messrs. Delorme of Woodstock, R.I., J. B. Riordan, of Manchester, N.H., and M. A. Bowley of Boston, Mass., all agents of the Canadian Government.

The majority of those now en route West are without their families. They will locate first and the families will follow, probably in June, when a special excursion will be arranged. All of those in the party had capital; the average would be about $10,000, though there were several with $25,000 and at least one with $100,000.

Court Gives Oil Magnate Prison Term

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Harry F. Sinclair, under a Supreme Court decision today, must serve three months in jail for contempt of the Senate in refusing to answer all questions put to him relative to his oil investigation. The opinion of the court was unanimous.

The wealthy oil operator will have twenty-five days in which to ask for rehearing before the mandate will be issued, but rehearings are seldom granted. In addition to the jail sentence he must pay a fine of $500.

VANCOUVER STRIKE

VANCOUVER, April 8.—Negotiations to settle the strike of shipwrights, joiners, boat-builders and caulkers are at a deadlock, according to announcements by union officials.

EXPERTS ON REPARATIONS LABOR LONG

Committee Entering on Ninth Week of Efforts to Find Final Settlement on German Payments

DECISION WILL BE MADE IN FEW DAYS

PARIS, April 8.—The second Dawes committee today entered upon the ninth week of its efforts to find a final solution of the problem of German reparations.

According to the best information obtainable in the circles of the financial experts it is the final week in so far as actual negotiations into the figures are concerned.

The experts of the committee seem unanimously to have agreed that they can no longer delay a decision and that if they cannot agree on a unanimous report to their Governments, they must say so without much further temporizing.

An atmosphere of optimism prevails among the experts, none the less, in the face of the disagreement shown in French quarters. All official information indicates that the points of view of the parties principally interested are coming closer together, though evidently willing to give details of the negotiations.

FIRE RAIDS ST. ALBAN'S CATHEDRAL

Costly Windows Ruined and Great Organ Badly Damaged in Anglican Cathedral at Toronto

BISHOP PRESERVES MARRIAGE REGISTER

TORONTO, April 8.—St. Alban's Cathedral was gutted by fire this afternoon. The blaze raged for more than an hour.

The cathedral, the principal Anglican edifice in Toronto diocese, was begun thirty years ago, but only the chancel was completed.

Many of the altar and liner furnishings were destroyed. The organ, which was seriously damaged, and several costly windows ruined. The damage is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000, covered by insurance.

Three firemen were precipitated into the basement when part of the floor of the building gave way while they were playing the hose. There was considerable excitement as they crashed down, but no one was hurt. They were quickly rescued and it was found their injuries were not serious.

SCORTHING FURNACE

It is believed the flames started in the organ and paper rooms in the basement of the edifice. Two small windows in the rear of the building at one time dense clouds of smoke were issuing from the windows and the flames could be seen leaping up in the rear of the cathedral.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Sweeney was on the scene shortly after the alarm was given, and aided by some of the firemen, was able to recover the cathedral Bible, the register of marriages and deaths, and other books. The chancel afterwards became a seething furnace, and the firemen had difficulty in extinguishing the flames.

BISHOP FOREIGN DIES

BALTIMORE, Md., April 8.—The Rt. Rev. Owen B. Corrigan, Catholic auxiliary bishop of Baltimore and vicar-general of the archdiocese died early this morning at St. Agnes' Hospital, where he had been confined for several years with heart disease and bronchitis.

FISCAL POLICY IS DOMESTIC AFFAIR

OTTAWA, April 8—A new note was struck in the budget debate today when Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, protested against high protective tariffs on the ground that they endanger the peace of the world.

Mr. Lapointe derives inspiration from conclusions reached at the economical conference called under the auspices of the League of Nations in 1927. This conference had found that international conditions would be improved by removing trade barriers and encouraging free circulation of the products of agriculture and industry, he said. "What better evidence could we have of the danger of high protective tariffs, of their inherent menace for the peace of the world and to good international relations, than the words that have been uttered in the House at the mere suggestion of a possible increase in the customs duties by the country to the south of us?" asked Mr. Lapointe.

The [illegible] opinion of other countries, proceeded Mr. Lapointe, were their own affairs.

"Hear! Hear!" interjected Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, at this point.

Mr. Lapointe went on to say that tariff issues "cannot be fought with

VICTORIA LOSES WELL-KNOWN BUSINESS MAN

Major J. H. Gillespie Had Been Active in Local Sport, Financial and Public Affairs

WAS OVERSEAS WITH ARTILLERY BRIGADE

In the death on Sunday evening of Major J. Hebden Gillespie, head of the financial house of Gillespie, Hart & Todd, Victoria loses a well-known citizen, active in many avenues of business and public life, a valued organizer in the Great War, a true national consciousness for the first time in its history, and yet with a central government that is recognized but is not given the necessary support by the provinces. China today finds itself in a paradoxical position and must rely upon some of the other nations of the world to help it regain its feet. This is a brief summing up of the findings of the League of Nations mission to China. Joseph Avenol, deputy secretary general of the League, who, with his chief assistant, Henri Bonnet, who made a tour of China lasting three months, gave an account of his findings in a joint meeting of the Institute of International Affairs and the League of Nations Society, Vancouver branches, at the University Club Saturday night.

The Central Government of China, which is situated at Nanking and is headed by Chiang Kai Shek, was created by the Kuoming Tang party and is based on the principles of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, said Mr. Avenol.

"It has insensated China's nationalism. This is not as in Europe, the aggressive feeling of one nation against another, but the growing consciousness of nationhood. The Chinese have been a people of peace and progress, now they are a people united in national feeling."

Although the Russians had done them a service in teaching them organization and propaganda, the authorities in China were today antagonistic to the Communists and the mission saw little evidence of Soviet influence.

FATHER HUOT DIES

QUEBEC, April 8.—Rev. Father Antonio Huot, D.D., director of La Semaine Religieuse, official organ of the Catholic clergy in the Quebec diocese, is dead here.

Four Boys Marooned on Island in Etobicoke River Are Rescued by Firemen

TORONTO, April 8—A sequel to yesterday's severe rain storms was a landslide on the C.P.R. tracks 400 yards north of the River Street viaduct today. Thousands of tons of earth suddenly drifted and left about 400 feet of trackage suspended off the ground. It was announced, however, that train service with Eastern points would not be affected as a different route had been adopted.

Various other slides of smaller extent were reported in the North Toronto area.

Four boys marooned throughout the night on a small island in the middle of the swollen Etobicoke River, west of Toronto, were finally rescued today by firemen, after many attempts.

YELLOW MAGAZINES

VANCOUVER, April 8.—The manner in which the economic crisis in Canada was being affected, and the part the balance of payments problem was being upset by a flood of that class of United States magazines which features immorality, violence, sensationalism and crime, was portrayed here this afternoon at the Fourth Triennial Conference of the National Council of Education.

Arranged by Major Fred J. Ney, executive secretary of the council, the presentation of the argument was almost entirely pictorial, and took the form of a screened analysis of a Vancouver book store.

ARCTIC MAIL TO GO BY AIR NEXT FRIDAY

Northern Light Plane to Take Cargo of Mail and Fresh Vegetables to Mouth of Mackenzie River

BRANCH OF YUKON AIRWAY SERVICE

DAWSON, Y.T., April 8.—Weather permitting, the Yukon Airways Company plane, Northern Light, in charge of Pilot Patterson, will take off from here for Fort McPherson and Aklavik, north of the Arctic Circle, on Friday. Aklavik is virtually an Eskimo port, as it is on the Mackenzie River, only a few miles from the Arctic Ocean. The Northern Light will be the first licensed Canadian plane to fly so far north, it is stated. A cargo of mail, fresh vegetables, fruit and phonograph records will be carried.

Airplane service throughout the Yukon is now established, the particular service being maintained between White Horse, Mayo and Dawson.

China Has Now True National Consciousness

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 8.—With a true national consciousness for the first time in its history, and yet with a central government that is recognized but is not given the necessary support by the provinces, China today finds itself in a paradoxical position and must rely upon some of the other nations of the world to help it regain its feet. This is a brief summing up of the findings of the League of Nations mission to China. Child Found Dead Beneath Fallen Crate

LONDON, April 8.—Crushed beneath a large crate of meat which fell from a truck in the eastern part of the city yesterday, one child was killed and seven others seriously injured. The truck stopped when the crate fell off and the driver went to get assistance. In the meantime a crowd of onlookers gathered about the place and were horrified to see blood trickling from beneath the crate. Desperate attempts were made to lift it but proved futile until a policeman summoned the fire brigade. It was then that the children were found. They were Henry Martin, aged seven, and his brother Thomas, aged twenty-one months. Henry was dead and Thomas taken to a hospital, where he is suffering from severe head injuries.

Zoning of Orientals Is Advocated

City Solicitor R. S. Pringle has been instructed to amend the by-laws of other cities to ascertain whether they have provided for the encroachment of Oriental stores on the business district of Victoria.

Alderman James Adam, at last night's meeting of the City Council, wanted to know if the city would not do something under the zoning he said that the city, if possible, should go even a step further and see if it were not possible to obtain legislation in some areas as Oriental quarters. This would exclude Chinese, Japanese and Hindus.

"I don't want to return to California he proposes to go thoroughly into the matter and I want to forwarding a resolution to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities so as to secure from the Legislature power to designate foreign quarters similar to the foreign quarters established in China.

In urging that no stone be left unturned in the search for power to confine Orientals to one section, Alderman Adam said: "Every step should be taken to keep the city as white as we can. I understand that North Vancouver and Vancouver City have by-laws restricting Orientals and keeping them out of the main business district."

overseas, being attached to the headquarters staff of the Fifteenth Brigade Artillery. In France he was associated with the Fourteenth Brigade.

Major Gillespie continued his close association with military and veteran matters after the Armistice, and at the time of his death was second in command of the Sixteenth Canadian Regiment, with rank of major, and it will be under the auspices of that regiment that he will be given a military funeral.

In veterans' affairs his keen interest was shown in efforts for their welfare, and last year he served in the presidency of the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion. He was also associated with the No. 6 Company, Fourendex of Canada, and was president of the Fourteenth Brigade Association.

Major Gillespie was noted in at least three walks of athletic activities, as a prominent cricketer, and past president of the association; as an enthusiastic Rugby football player, and as a rifle shot, being a member of the Victoria and District Rifle Association.

MEMBER OF COUNCIL

In 1922 and 1923 Major Gillespie was a member of the City Council, but declined renomination at the expiry of his term. His financial interests extended beyond his own house. He was president of the Victoria Stock Exchange and of the Victoria Bond Dealers' Association, of the Growers' Wine Company and Terminus Mines; he was a director of the Durable Mat Company and of the B.C. Worsted Mills Co., and a former director of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The family includes his mother, his widow, six brothers and one sister. The brothers are Mr. Alex. Gillespie, East Sooke; Mr. Kenneth Gillespie, Cowichan Lake; Mr. Dugald Gillespie, of Victoria; Messrs. Ronald and Sholto Gillespie, of Shanghai, China, and Mr. Errol P. Gillespie, of this city. His sister is visiting in Italy.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday at St. John's.

INDIA'S POET GIVES TALK ON ART AND LIFE

The poet stated that an immediate consciousness of a reality as an end to itself gives us joy, and this joy has its expression in the arts. The recognition of the intimate relationship of our own being with anything that is before us, we try to make permanent in our art expressions.

COMING REVIVAL

Life today is staggering under a burden, dazzled by gold, by material things, but to hold that such a condition will be permanent is as wrong as to deny the presence of the burden, said Sir Archibald Strong, professor of English at the University of Adelaide, addressing the conference of the National Council of Education here today. The whole history of the past is good ground for the belief that there will be a literary revival, choosing its own harmony, be said. The raw material of art lies to hand in life.

Sir Archibald warned his audience it would be well to be on guard, lest the machinery of modern endeavor engulfs the soul of man. It was his firm opinion that, despite life's complexity of content, there would arise a great new spirit of literature.

MANITOBA INQUIRY COUNSEL WITHDRAW

WINNIPEG, April 8.—Decision of the Seven Sisters Royal Commission, on the application for production of books of the Winnipeg Electric Company, is expected next Monday. On that date the inquiry into charges laid by Colonel F. G. Taylor, K.C., against the administration of Premier John Bracken, will reassemble for the first time after today's adjournment.

When his argument for production had been completed today, Hugh Phillips, K.C., retired from the court, leaving Premier Bracken in the box to be questioned by Government Counsel Isaac Pitblado, K.C., without cross-examination. Other members of Colonel Taylor's counsel will not appear until the decision is returned.

who had sent him from Asia to carry the conference's ideas back to India.

"The Princes of India," he declared, "are loyal to the Empire, and they will continue to stand shoulder to shoulder in the time of peace as they fought side by side in the last great struggle."

They had sent him across the ocean, he said, a representative, which proved that they were not unreceptive of the new ideas in the world. And it was the fondest hope of India, he added, that the congress might mean one more link "in the fundamental unity of the British Empire."

Sir Arthur Symonds, Secretary of the British Board of Education, also found in the conference evidence of the strength of the British Empire.

"The presence of this large British delegation here today is proof that we are allied not only politically, but intellectually and spiritually," he said, "and if this conference can add to the work of binding the Empire it will achieve success."

GERMAN REPRESENTATIVE

To Consul-General Kempff, who represents the new German Republic in Canada, and who journeyed from Montreal, his presence meant, he said, that Locarno and the Kellogg peace treaty had achieved their object. He felt, he said, that four years ago his presence at a luncheon table would have been impossible, but today he was proud to represent all of Continental Europe. Education, he said, however, is not national, but international, and each country can learn from the other.

Coal Industry of Australia Is in Serious Plight

SYDNEY, Aus., April 8 (C.P. Cable via Reuter's).—Representatives of mine owners and mine workers of Australia, meeting today to consider the present position of the Australian coal industry, were urged by Premier S. M. Bruce to concentrate on the problem of getting the mines again in operation. The Prime Minister also announced the Government was withdrawing the charges laid under the Conciliation and Arbitration Act against two mine owners, John Bream and Stevens Brown, of causing a lockout at the Pelaw and Richmond collieries.

Premier Thomas Bavin, of New South Wales, warned the delegates against regarding the present conference as a substitute for a royal commission, which would later investigate fully the position of the coal industry.

The condition of the coal industry has been serious for some time. Eleven thousand miners in the state have been thrown out of work since March 31, when notices of dismissal came into effect following the refusal of the workers' unions to accept proposed wage reductions.

RETALIATION TARIFF PLAN CONDEMNED

the heat of prejudice." If one market was closed to Canada, other markets would have to be found.

"If it is necessary to modify certain tariff schedules for the purpose of developing a large trade with nations which are desirous of trading with us, this may be done, but only in the interests of Canada, and not at all as a result of a policy of retaliation."

CONSERVATIVE POSITION

"The minister works himself up into a passion over the idea that this party has in mind an economic war against the United States," commented G. R. Geary, Conservative member for Toronto South, who followed Mr. Lapointe. "If that is so I have not heard of it."

Colonel Geary's solution to the market problem hinged on the development of the home market rather than the stimulation of foreign markets. If the Government would take steps to conserve the industries of Canada, then the home market would grow and absorb the products of Canada.

O. R. McIntosh, Liberal, of North Battleford, expressed the view that the principle of retaliation in tariffs was a false one.

F. E. Quinn, Conservative, Halifax, charged the Government with extravagance and instanced the building of a magazine arsenal on the shores of Bedford Basin, near Halifax. He informed the House that while this arsenal was under construction, Premier Mackenzie King was over in Europe signing the peace treaty.

"Hello Hayseed," said a facetious youth, "How about a lift to Centerville?" He jumped into the car without waiting for an answer.

Twenty minutes passed.

"Quite a distance to Centerville."

"Uh, huh."

"Say, how far is it to Centreville?"

"Few thousand miles if you go this way; 'bout eight if you get off and walk back."

WEST SAANICH ROAD REPAIR IS DISCUSSED

Board of Trade Supports Council in Effort to Have Provincial Government Take Action

SUPPER FOLLOWS REGULAR MEETING

The condition of the West Saanich Road, from Benvenuto Avenue to the ferry, was fully discussed at a well-attended meeting of the Saanich Board of Trade, held at Keating last night.

The board decided to support the Municipal Council in its effort to persuade the Provincial Government to assist in putting this road into a good state of repair. It was felt that unless something was immediately done to put this section of the Saanich Road into shape there would be every probability of a serious accident.

The board considered that while the Government had the necessary implements upon the section of the road in question, repairs should not be very costly, and the general consensus of opinion seemed to be that the time was ripe to make the road into at least a secondary highway. Reeve Crouch, Captain Kennaird and Mr. E. Harding all spoke on this question.

As guest of honor at the supper which followed the business of the meeting, Mr. B. O. Nicholas gave an address, in which he pointed out that the Saanich Board of Trade could fill a very important need for the young people of the Saanich district, especially as regarded leisure. He spoke of the Conference on Education and Leisure, which is at present in session in Vancouver.

Captain Nat. Grey, vice-president of the board, took the chair in the absence of Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, president of the Saanich Board of Trade, and called upon Mr. H. E. Tanner to address the meeting on the work of the board.

Mr. Tanner, who is manager of the Saanich Fruitgrowers, and who is probably the best authority on the problems of the farmers of the municipality, spoke on the future for the grower of small fruits in Saanich.

The remainder of the evening was given over to a concert and community singing, in which Heaton's song sheet was called into play; "My Wild Irish Rose," "Old Kentucky Home" and "Good Old Summer Time" proving the most popular numbers.

The Albion Quartette was delightful in its perfect regard for harmony, as evidenced in its rendering of "Sweet and Low" and "Little Tommy Went a'Fishing," while Mr. A. Lea, singing "Sunshine of Your Smile," and Mr. J. Rhodes' "Mother Machree" obtained the applause it deserved.

Mr. W. Cobbett surpassed himself in his comic songs. His "Little Garden Suburb" exceeded the promise of the title.

WILL OPERATE CREAMERY AGAIN

Nechako Creamery at Vanderhoof to Be Placed in Charge of Burns & Company

An arrangement has been entered into with Burns & Company whereby that concern will take charge of the operations of the Nechako Co-operative Creamery at Vanderhoof this coming season. The affairs of that organization were not of the most satisfactory character and a rather heavy loss was sustained during the years of its operation.

Under Hon. W. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, a change took place during the past Winter, when the decision was reached that there should be a cessation of the operation of the creamery during the Winter months, which in the previous years had led to considerable loss. Under the new Minister, owing to the Government being interested in the affairs of the creamery, it was decided to cease making butter and the Government undertook to bear the extra cost of freight in shipping the cream of the farmers to the city market at Prince Rupert.

The results were very satisfactory and now through the good offices of the Department of Agriculture it has been arranged to have the firm of Pat Burns undertake the management of the creamery during the coming season, as an experiment. Satisfactory arrangements have been entered into for this, with guarantees to safeguard the farmers supplying cream, and shareholders of the concern.

If the arrangements prove satisfactory an extension of the arrangements will be made.

Canadian Representation on Case Will Probably Be Delivered Today or Early on Wednesday

The legation is spending considerable time studying the context of instructions on the subject received from Ottawa, but it is believed that the note will be ready for presentation either tomorrow or early Wednesday.

NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—Counsel for Captain John Thomas Randell, skipper of the British rum runner I'm Alone, will insist upon preliminary hearing tomorrow for himself and his crew of seven, Edwin H. Grace, the captain's attorney, said today. The hearing was adjourned a week ago.

ONLY NATIVE CANADIANS TO BE ADMITTED

United States Supreme Court Makes Ruling on Right to Cross Boundary in Daily Employment

INTERPRETATION OF TREATY GIVEN

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Supreme Court today ruled that naturalized Canadians and other quota immigrants were prohibited from crossing the border to work or search for employment without presenting unexpired consular immigration visas.

Naturalized Canadians were declared not entitled under the Jay Treaty of 1794 to cross the border freely regardless of immigration restriction. The controversy did not involve the status of native-born Canadians who are exempt from the quota provisions.

The highest court held that naturalized Canadians, as distinguished from native-born, were excluded under the immigration laws from freely crossing the border in search of employment or to work upon the presentation of identification cards but were required to present unexpired consular immigration visas.

Dean Praises Press Work For Conference

The success of the Victoria meetings of the National Council of Education conference on education and leisure was attributed largely to the press by Dean Quainton in his sermon at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday evening.

The Dean said the conference had received great publicity; seldom had any event been given so much attention by the local press. This reflected creditably upon the object of the conference and upon the press, and he added that the journalists had done their work extremely well.

TWO MEN GET THREE-YEAR PRISON TERM

Robert Watson and Wilfred Jenkins Sentenced to New Westminster Penitentiary by Magistrate Jay

PLEAD GUILTY TO THEFT CHARGES

Robert Watson and Wilfred Jenkins, who pleaded guilty to charges of theft, were each sentenced to three years imprisonment in the penitentiary at New Westminster by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court here yesterday.

The two accused, who were taken into custody by Detectives Marcus Phipps and William Stark, were jointly charged on two counts of theft, and two additional charges were preferred against Watson. Pleas of guilty were entered in each case.

The first charge against the pair was of breaking and entering on March 29 the premises of the City Dye Works, 844 Fort Street, and stealing two suits of clothes, a pair of trousers, and one sweater coat. The second count against both accused was of stealing on about March 30 an automobile, the property of Mr. James Wood, 3087 Empire Street. Mr. Wood told the court that he found his car, valued at $2,500 missing from his garage at his residence on the morning of March 30. When the stolen car was located four days later the fenders, running board and bumper of the machine were badly damaged.

SEPARATELY CHARGED

Watson was also charged with breaking into and entering the shop of Mr. Arthur Gardiner, 810 Caledonia Street, on March 27, and committing theft therein, and with attempting to break into and enter on the same day a store at 760 Esquimalt Road. Detective Phipps told His Honor that the cigarettes taken from Mr. Gardiner shop had been recovered in Watson's home, and that Watson had attempted to enter the Esquimalt Road premises by breaking a window in the rear of the store, but had been disturbed while in the act of entering the place.

Mr. Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, said Both Watson and Jenkins had a police record. The two accused had been released several times on suspended sentence, but had been sentenced to prison terms on the last several times they had been in trouble.

Asked by Magistrate whether they had anything to say, Watson and Jenkins both replied briefly.

"TRIED TO GO STRAIGHT"

"I have tried my hardest to go straight, but nobody would give me a chance. Nobody would give me a job," declared Watson.

"That goes for me, too," said Jenkins. "My reputation has been against me all the time in the way of looking for steady work."

Magistrate Jay told both accused that their reputations were what they had made them. "I have given you suspended sentences several times, and have given you chances, but you apparently have not profited from the warnings. You are each sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on all charges.

the sentences to run concurrently."

A charge against T. A. Cresswell of obtaining on April 4 from Walter Hughes the sum of $120 by false pretences and with intent to defraud, was withdrawn by Mr. W. H. M. Baldane, who appeared for the informant, Hughes. Mr. Harry J. Davis was counsel for the accused Cresswell.

Plane Carries Cook Stove to Hungry Miners

Away up in the Quebec mining district, 350 miles north of St. Felicien, the manager of a new mine discovered to his horror that he had a fine camp but no cook stove to feed his hungry new crew of miners. An urgent telephone call was put through to General Steel Wares, Limited, in Montreal, and a sturdy "Alcoma" camp cook stove was promptly packed and rushed by the Canadian National Express, which left Montreal at 8:15 p.m. on March 22.

The express roared into St. Felicien at 7:30 the next morning, and the big 546-pound range in its crate was swiftly transferred to a seaplane that lay waiting for its precious cargo.

Two hours later, the seaplane, with the much-expected range, landed on a lake near the mine, 264 miles north of St. Felicien. It was promptly unloaded from the plane, set up in the cook-house, and the hungry mining crew had their noonday meal cooked on the range! Eighteen hours from busy Montreal to the remotest part of the Quebec hinterland!

This is perhaps one of the most remarkable deliveries in the history of aviation, and has caused a great deal of interesting speculation throughout the North country, as to what next the aeroplane will do.

VANDERLIP SENTENCED

WINNIPEG, Man., April 8.—Edward Vanderlip, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the slaying of Digby Poynia, local druggist, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in court here today. Vanderlip received three years also for robbery with violence. The sentences will run concurrently. Vanderlip was co-partner with Carl McGee in the robbery of Poynia's drug store. Poynia was shot by McGee when he resisted the bandits and McGee was later slain in a gun fight with police officers who attempted to arrest him in connection with the shooting and robbery

Scotland Yard Seeks Registered Mail Robber

LONDON, April 8.—The Sunday Dispatch says that Scotland Yard is seeking "Chicago Jim" in connection with the theft of a letter from a registered mail bag being transferred to the American liner Leviathan at Southampton on March 30.

The paper describes "Chicago Jim" as a notorious and elusive criminal but as a "gentleman of independent means." He is said to be an Englishman who has spent most of his life in Chicago and is now believed to be the leader of a gang which has perpetrated a number of mail robberies in England.

A young bachelor who was beset by a sewing machine agent told the latter that his machine would not answer his purpose.

"Why?" said the agent, with voluble praise. "It is the best on the market in every respect."

"That may be," replied the supposed customer; "but the sewing machine I am looking for must have a flaxen hair and blue eyes."

"Your son tips me more generously than you do, sir." A taxi-cab driver said to a wealthy city man.

"That is quite possible," the wealthy one replied. "You see, he has a rich father; I haven't."

Work on New Ferry Landing Will Be Started

The landing place for the Mill Bay ferry on the west side will be changed to the locality of Village Point, Tenders will be called by the Department of Public Works of the Province very shortly for the putting in of the necessary landing to serve the ferry.

The landing on the Mill Bay side of Saanich Arm will be about half a mile south of the Rotary drinking fountain. The new route, which will be treated for the ferry across the inlet, will be shortened by about a mile and a half.

The contract under which the ferry has operated was for a period of five years, and expires this season. There has been an agitation for some time to shorten the route, and thus make a saving in the time required. The new place selected is regarded as one that will serve the purpose well, and will avoid the congestion frequent about the existing landing place.

NEW HEAD OF B.C. SUPREME COURT NAMED

Mr. Justice A. M. Morrison Elevated to Chief Justice Post Held by Late Hon. Gordon Hunter

MR. A. I. FISHER IS NEW JUDGE

Hon. Mr. Justice A. M. Morrison is the new Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, word of his elevation to the position formerly occupied by the late Hon. Gordon Hunter having been received from Ottawa yesterday.

Mr. A. I. Fisher, K.C., well-known barrister of Fernie, B.C., is the new judge on the Supreme Court bench. He has been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Mr. Justice Morrison to the Chief Justiceship.

Hon. Aulay MacAulay Morrison, who has had a distinguished career, was born in Baddeck, Nova Scotia, on June 15, 1863, son of the late Mr. Christopher Morrison. He was educated at Baddeck, and also at Sydney and Pictou Academies, and later at Dalhousie University, where he took his LL.B. in 1886. He was called to the Nova Scotia Bar in 1888, the British Columbia Bar in 1890, and was created a King's Counsellor in 1900. From 1899 to 1904 he practised his profession in New Westminster.

In 1896 he was elected to the House of Commons for New Westminster, defeating the late Sir Richard McBride, who was his opponent at the election. He is the only man who ever defeated Sir Richard in a political contest. He was re-elected in 1900 to the Federal House at Ottawa, and was appointed on September 28, 1904, to the Supreme Court bench in British Columbia. In 1906 he became deputy judge in Admiralty. Up to the time of the death of Hon. Gordon Hunter, he was next to the Chief Justice in point of seniority on the Supreme Court bench.

He is a vice-president of the Canadian Bar Association, representing British Columbia on the executive of that organization.

Mr. Justice Alexander Ingram Fisher, the new appointee to the Supreme Court bench, has practised law for twenty-three years at Fernie, B.C. He represented that constituency for four years. Before that he contested a seat in the Provincial House in 1903 as Liberal standard-bearer for Fernie.

He was born in Watertown, Ontario, fifty-four years ago, and is a graduate of the University of Toronto and of Osgoode Hall.

ICE CREATES PROBLEM

Shuswap Lakes Winter Aftermath Has Made Serious Conditions

The ferry service on the Shuswap Lakes is giving a lot of concern to the Department of Public Works owing to the fact that the early spring of a very late one, with a heavy ice coming still interfering with the navigation of the lakes. Yesterday there were in the city the operators of the ferry, Messrs. C. B. Lamb and J. A. McRae. They were in consultation with the acting Minister of Public Works, Hon. W. A. McKenzie and officials of the department with respect to the season's operations.

So heavy has been the frost during the past Winter that up to a very recent date residence had to be had to the carrying of supplies along the route over the ice by trucks and ponies. The advance of Spring weather has made this impossible now, and it is necessary to detect ice to interfere with the operation of the ferry, which causes no small inconvenience to some of the residents along the route. The ice was twenty inches in places along the route this Winter.

The mariner took up with the ferry owners some improvements in the matter of service this coming season. These are under consideration now and it is anticipated that improvements will be worked out.

The ferry operates between Sicamous and Seymour Arm, to Bertrand and Salmon Arm.

A WELL-BELOVED CITIZEN

The death of Major J. Hebden Gillespie will come as a shock to the whole community. In business life, in militia activities, in sport, and for some time in politics as an alderman, he had been as popular in Victoria as any citizen ever became. He enjoyed that popularity among both the older and the younger sets, and one of the assets which insured his standing was his sterling sportsmanship, not only in games, but in the more serious business of life. Major Gillespie was the elder son of an old-time family, honored and respected in every sense. In years gone by he was an ardent and competent player of cricket and Rugby football and his interest in these and other games was maintained in middle life, for he was the all-round sportsman to whom a variety of forms of athletic exercise appealed.

The late Major Gillespie's activities in militia life dated far back, and he was always an enthusiastic supporter of local units. He saw service overseas during the Great War and on his return interested himself in the welfare of returned soldiers, as well as retaining his connection with the 16th Canadian Scottish, of which he was second in command. In militia circles his death will create a vacancy which will be felt keenly by both rank and file, for in his soldiering life he retained to the full the popularity which invested him in all his relationships.

In the business field Major Gillespie will be sorely missed. Honorable in all his dealings and one of the type with whom it was a pleasure to have transactions he had endeared himself to a host of friends that kept expanding with the years. The insurance and underwriting firm of which he was the head owes a great deal to his personality and the prestige of his popularity. In all ways he was intensely likeable and widely liked, and no less trusted and respected. As an alderman he was safe and sound always in his contribution to civic administration, and the citizens as a whole keenly regretted his retirement from municipal politics. There is a familiar and well-loved figure gone from our midst in the passing of "Heb" Gillespie in the prime of life and in the plenitude of the esteem of Victoria's citizens. Deep and heartfelt sympathy, in which The Colonist joins, will go out to his widow and children, to his mother, his brothers and sister, in the loss of one who was a steadfast ornament to family life as well as an exemplar of a high type of citizenship.

PERMANENCE IN VALUES

"What can give permanence in values, and by 'values' I mean nothing more than what someone desires. The good, the true and the beautiful, progress, efficience, freedom, self-expression, economic soundness, love—such are a few of the things I want. What can one do to make these values permanent, or tend to keep them so?" The above is the question which Mr. Richard Cabot asks in The Survey-Graphic. He replies himself, in part, as follows: "My answer is: The quality which can make values permanent is their interrelation one with another and with the whole. In so far as they are interlocking, tied together in memory, combined as the notes of a chord of music—in so far, I believe, they will be permanent."

It is true that any single value, no matter how good, by itself tends to get arid and stale. Matthew Arnold's remarks about "sweetness and light" were perfectly true in their time and place. When one has wallowed for a time in sweetness and light one feels like saying, "Give me a hard fact with some bite in it, anything to get out of sweetness and light." Humor is an eternal value. Yet is there anything more mournful in this world than a professional humorist? Why? Because, like any other value in the world, humor cannot live by itself. Take the value called "love." If we want to make love permanent, what are we going to do about it? Surely we have to summon every allied interest that we can find, and we need them all. We all know instances where people start out in love and think they are going to keep their love alive forever, just loving each other. Love, to be permanent, has to draw into itself other values, the value of working together; the value of finding beauty together in nature or art; the value of learning together; even the value of suffering together. "Isn't that the way," asks Mr. Cabot, "of deepening and making permanent our love?"

Take science. Louis Pasteur told his students to "live in the serene peace of the laboratories." Was it so in his own life? No. Nothing stirred him more deeply or was more productive of new truth through his labors than the bite of a mad dog on a child. From that came years of furious work, disappointment, and finally joy in the discovery of preventive innoculation for hydrophobia. His science had been interwoven with other human activities.

It is a common experience that when we have gone through anything especially vital to us, like war, or the loss of someone dear to us, or a great failure, or a great success, we begin to see our familiar surroundings with different eyes. We find something more, something better in our work. How could this be unless values come to a single centre and get their permanence in that? What did Browning mean when he wrote:

Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be.

Did he not know that old age makes people lose their eyes, their ears, their muscles, their brains? What he means, thinks Mr. Cabot, is that because we can learn to value everything by valuing anything intensely, "we become as we grow older, capable of loving more people, more books, more of nature and art, more jokes, more jobs, so that in a sense the best is yet to be—as long as we can grow old, not by senility, but by loving with all that we have learned."

PREVENTION OF ACCIDENTS

One of the purposes of a Workmen's Compensation Board is to reduce accidents by insisting on the application to industry of safeguarding appliances. It is not so clear, however, that the operation of Workmen's Compensation is all that could be desired. In Ontario industrial accidents increased from 71,979 in 1927, to 79,398 in 1928, and the benefits awarded under the Workmen's Compensation Act rose from $6,084,654 to $7,067,946. During the same period the payroll of industries in the province increased from $440,578,000 to $503,392,000, or an expansion amounting to about 14 per cent.

No doubt increased employment in industries will inevitably bring about an increase in accidents, but the point is that more and more, as the benefits of Workmen's Compensation are felt, there should be some proportionate reduction in the casualty list. In Ontario in its annual report the Workmen's Compensation Board urges both employers and employees, "to put forth every endeavor to change the situation and to avoid all accidents that can be avoided by greater care in the kind of machines and the guards supplied, and in the operation of plants generally." Where accidents continue to increase in proportion to increased industrial development there is, however, an onus resting on any Workmen's Compensation Board concerned, because it has power to assist and encourage industrial firms in the installation of safeguarding appliances. In Ontario in 1928, the Board spent $115,000 in furthering safety work, but the amount seems inadequate, or else it could have been better applied. With the growth of industrialism a major preoccupation today should be education in the prevention of accidents. The most obvious of dangers that prevail to life and limb are often those the most disregarded, which is not a particularly happy commentary on the common sense of humanity.

TO A WANDERER

You wander up and down the World's great Highways,
Sail star-lit seas and know the ways of ships,
You see wild faces round the fire of logwood,
And hear strange truths (and lies) from alien lips.
You see the mountains and the corn-waved Prairie,
Primeval forests and the rolling plain,
Eternal snows, fierce torrents, rushing rivers,
The Northwest Trail, and then the Towns again.

But I may only see the tugs and barges
Adown the old grey river slowly glide,
And watch the crimson sunset from the Abbey,
And feel the night wind fresh'ning with the tide.
And only see the shops and tubes and buses,
And hear the sound of ever-hurrying feet,
The hum of motors, and the hoofs of horses,
As they go clatt'ring down the asphalt street.

Ah! You are free. You are not bound by custom
Nor clinging ties of Home. You wander far
Just where your fancy or your whim shall lead you,
You fear no hindrance, heed nor brook nor bar.
But I am tied. I may not follow after,
Save but in dreams, down lonely misty ways,
O'er trackless paths and dim uncharted oceans,
Through starless nights, and purple-shadowed days.

Beloved, tell me, is your heart yet restless,
Your soul still groping, spirit still unfreed?
Or has sweet Peace, at last, drawn near and touched you,
Soothed your deep hurt, and satisfied your need?
Go! wander on, and take your fill of healing,
Of calm and quiet, hours and days well spent,
If I but feel and know that you are happy,
Dear Heart, I will be—nay—I am content.

—N. M. Stephen, in Overseas.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

"The bulk of mankind will know days when labor will become less incessant and exhausting, less material, tyrannical, pitiless. What will humanity make of this leisure? On its employment may be said to depend the whole destiny of man. It is the way in which the hours of freedom are spent that determines, as much as war or as labor, the moral worth of a nation. It raises or lowers; it replenishes or exhausts." A leaflet containing the above philosophical prediction by the distinguished Belgian litterateur Maeterlinck was handed to us with a request that we look it over and express an opinion upon it. We entertain a lurking suspicion that the person who handed us the leaflet was not actuated by the best of motives. In fact we believe the purpose of the donor was to get us into trouble, because the eminent educationists who have been meeting in conference in Victoria and Vancouver have been discussing that very subject and pronouncing their matured judgment upon it.

The prophetic part of M. Maeterlinck's prediction has been fulfilled. The hours of labor have been reduced. Even in our own time the length of the day of toil has been reduced from ten or twelve hours, and sometimes even more than that, to the standard day of eight hours, and sometimes even less than that. In some of the mechanical trades a standard week of five days has been adopted. And the process of whittling down is not yet finished. At the same time the recompense of labor has been steadily increased. And that process is not finished either. Labor therefore has been endowed with vastly more leisure and has been given more money to save or to spend during the hours of leisure.

If the salvation of the world depends upon the manner in which the people of the world spend their hours of leisure, in what manner are the great majority of the people of the world spending their hours of leisure?. From a superficial point of view it would appear that the pursuit of the excitements of sport is ever so much more popular now than the pursuit of the pleasures of the intellect or of the spirit. That judgment may not be true of the people of such countries as Japan, China or India, but it appears to be true of the people of Great Britain, of the people of the United States and Canada, and it may be true of the people of the nations of continental Europe in process of time.

There was a time when prize-fighting was exclusively an English or an American pastime or profession. In the United States at the present time some of the ablest professors of the manly art bear names which indicate that they are not of Anglo-Saxon origin. Not so very many years ago the professional prize-fighter was an outlaw, to be hunted down and jailed if caught in the act of practising his profession. Today the professional prize-fighter may not only openly practise his profession. He may become a millionaire in a night and in the morning carry off the most desirable prize in the social matrimonial market. And he may further demonstrate his physical prowess by knocking down a puny newspaper man with his mighty fist or killing a bull in a Spanish ring with a single thrust of a rapier.

Of course the multitude of the people is not spending its laboriously acquired leisure in fighting for prizes and knocking down journalists and killing bulls; but it is spending a considerable amount of its leisure time in watching the prize-fighters fighting (paying handsomely for the privilege) and in reading about the wonderful prowess of prize-fighters. The sporting pages of the newspapers are the mostly widely read of any section of the paper.

If there is not a prize-fight for the amply leisured classes to look at every night in the week, there are football matches and baseball matches and cricket matches to watch and become almost mad about almost every day in the week, including Sundays. In Great Britain it is football in Winter, gradually extending into Summer. In the United States it is baseball in Summer, football in Autumn, hockey in Winter, and prize-fighting all the year round. One hundred thousand people have been known to crowd into a football field and almost as many upon a race course.

Of course there may be a saving remnant of leisured people in every country who would rather listen to the discourse of an intellectual professor, to the admonitions of an inspired preacher, or to the music produced by a great artist, than cheer themselves hoarse around the prize ring or the bull ring, but, if there is anything in the signs of the times upon which to base sound judgment, the multitude care for none of these things. The majority of the people either prefer to spend their leisure time in playing games or in watching paid professionals playing games. Thus if the destiny of man is in the balance, as M. Maeterlinck says, we fear the balance is swinging in the wrong way and that the teachers who hope by argument and warning to swing it in the right way have undertaken a very difficult, and we fear thankless, job. Of course human nature, although it is said never to change, is subject to peculiar vagaries. There may be a revulsion against this worship of sport. The Colisseum at Rome is now only a shell.

A CREMATORIUM

Sir,—A passing stranger has called attention to the need of a crematorium at Victoria, which stands in the unique position of being the only capital city in the world not having this sanitary means of disposing of its dead. It seems as if money can be found for every other undertaking in business and pleasure. In three instances where a site has been selected for a crematorium, it has been turned down by the aldermen through fear of losing credit with the public, and owing to the Provincial Cremation Act requiring the buildings to be six hundred feet away from the nearest building or road, which gives opportunity for the most frivolous objections from private individuals.

Vancouver has had both a public and private crematorium for many years, and the authorities are only too willing that the present inadequacy in Victoria should continue which, at great cost for transportation to the private individual, helps to keep the crematorium at Mountain Vale Cemetery in full blast. We have a continuous procession of funerals every week to Royal Oak Cemetery, and have had two public cemeteries closed within the city limits, and the sanitary conditions of each cemetery in the midst of inhabited districts has been questioned. Had there been a public or private crematorium, many funerals would have been conducted in the modern and simpler form, which every intelligent person must know will eventually come into use.

As an instance of sanitation—in a crowded haunt of the Old Country, a model hospital was built at great cost, with every modern improvement. After it had been in use for some time it was found that the death rate in the wards was abnormally high and diseases amongst the patients which it was impossible to account for. A commission of investigation discovered that the land on which the hospital had been built had, within living memory, been a cemetery, long in disuse. The entire ground work under the hospital was then removed, with the remains, at great cost, and only then did the wards and death rate return to normal conditions.

Saanich is getting the credit of being a health centre. Have the medical faculty ever studied the sanitary conditions of the Royal Oak Cemetery?

Why in this matter of disposing of the dead body should Victoria, with its antiquated methods of doing things, be behindhand in what every modern city calls for; and even religion be invoked to put a stop to a crematorium which first originated in its modern form at the beginning of the last century in Italy and has now spread over the world and bodies of many eminent persons have been cremated wherever the opportunity has been afforded.

The cost of funerals, with their pagan ceremonies, in the United States today, reaches the high sum of $90,000,000. With the simpler form of cremation without dishonoring the dead, it could be reduced to less than half, if cremation were generally in use: and with very great advantage to the living in matters of health, economy and reverence.

Hon. Secretary Victoria Cremation Society, 1432 Lang Street, Victoria, B.C., April 8, 1929.

SAANICH TAX RATE

Sir,—My suggestion of an increased mill rate at the Saanich Council meeting on Thursday last seems to have caused a little disturbance. Maybe it will be well if I explain my action, and perhaps it will not appear quite so bad as the headings seem to show.

There is no doubt that we require more money for our roads than is available. Owing to the severe frosts they are in a wretched condition and every year the heavy traffic over them is increasing by leaps and bounds and the ward appropriation is just the same now as it was eight or ten years ago, when there was hardly any motor traffic.

Now it stands to sense that the same amount of money is not going to take care of this increased traffic, and when one comes to think that in my own ward there are fifty-five miles of road, $7,000 appears ridiculous and it is no sinecure to keep all the taxpayers satisfied. I think that all the councillors are very sincere in their efforts to give the people full value for their money, and the condition of the finances of Saanich, considering the mill rate, are in a very satisfactory condition as compared with any other municipality in British Columbia.

When I made my suggestion it was not with any belief that it would go through, but for the sole reason of bringing the fact forcibly to the notice of the council. There are other ways of raising the fund without increasing the mill rate, which I intend to bring forward at our next meeting. For instance we have, owing to judicious investment, a good surplus in hand in our sinking funds, or bonds maturing next year, and I can see no reason why we cannot make use of this. I may say hitherto, this has not met with any favor with the council, owing to the fact that there is always the possibility of a slump in the money markets, and it is always well to have something in hand to take care of such an eventuality, but seeing that the maturing date is so close now, I do not see any danger from this, and I think we could safely take advantage of it. There are other alternatives which can be considered also and will be discussed in due course.

In the meantime I do not think that there is cause for anyone to lose sleep over the matter.

Another thing I would like to mention and that is, Saanich has always been very much underequipped in roadmaking machinery, and this fact is the cause of our not getting full value for money expended and the permanent work cannot always get finished before the bad weather sets in.

This condition of things will be remedied this year by the purchase of about $15,000 of new equipment, which will be available when the reeve's comprehensive road scheme materializes. This expenditure is sure to effect the road appropriation for which $57,000 is available, as against $80,000 expended last year.

This difference must be made up somehow and in spite of my suggestion I sincerely hope that it will be made up without changing the mill rate.

THE MACOUN TROPHY

Sir,—In your Sunday edition I noticed you had an article regarding the Spring flower show to be held by the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society in which you state that the Professor John Macoun Trophy, to be given for the best collection of mounted wild flowers, was donated by the North Saanich Women's Institute. I should here like to state that the said trophy was presented by the North Saanich Horticultural Society in memory of the late Professor J. Macoun, who spent many years of his life on this peninsula. This trophy is to be competed for by members of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society and affiliated societies for the first time this year.

TYPHOID CARRIERS

Sir,—About two months ago a highly contentious article was published under the title, "How the King's Pneumonia Will Save Thousands of Lives." Today (April 7) appears another equally contentious article which would seem to emanate from the same source. It is called, "How Science Is Defending Us From Deadly Typhoid Carriers."

The article is based on the assumption that germs cause disease and then it tells us that a man in New York has been quarantined as a "typhoid carrier," i.e., a person who is supposed to be capable of giving typhoid to others, but who has never had the disease, is immune to it, in fact!

In 1906 a family on Long Island went down with typhoid, and their cook, Mary Mallon, a perfectly healthy person, was accused of giving it to them. As no explanation was found for the outbreak of typhoid, the healthy Mary Mallon was accused of being a "typhoid carrier" and was isolated. She was found to be harboring typhoid germs, the same germs, of course, that the authorities who examinerd poor Mary were harboring themselves. Later, another family for whom Mary also cooked went down with typhoid and Mary was again accused, the upshot being that she was isolated for life. Another unfortunate individual in New York is now in the same case and finds himself a "carrier" and the convenient subject for the aforesaid lurid article on typhoid.

The germ carrier theory having gained some credence, or rather having been used to cover up the failure of one of Koch's postulates (that anyone harboring the germ must have the disease), unexplainable cases of typhoid were recklessly attributed to individuals and so, in Wrexham, England, a woman was actually accused of infecting pork pies that she had never seen with a disease that she had never had. "Typhoid Mary" and her kind have nothing to do with the trouble for typhoid cases from various causes such as tainted food, impure air and water, etc., and it must be eliminated by sanitary and hygienic methods.

On reading the article alluded to, one naturally expected to find (and was not disappointed) an allusion to inoculation—here it is: "Science, bacteriology, to be specific, has accomplished equal miracles in the treatment of disease, also in protection against it by the use of antitoxins, injections of serums which make war on typhoid bacteria and destroy them. So typhoid is no longer a plague, a horror, as it once was."

The proof that germs cause disease is still wanting, and to label people as "carriers" is a scandal until such evidence is produced. A well-known medical man truly says, "The whole thing is so sublimely ridiculous that we wonder any educated man can be found supporting such nonsense."

In conclusion, one never hears of a wealthy person being termed a "germ carrier" and being isolated for life. Why is this attributed to persons in humble walks of life? Perhaps it is because they are unable to fight their own cases!

Jots From History

MARIE Charlotte Corday, one of the firebrands of the French Revolution, was born of a noble family in 1768. At first she sympathized with the Revolution, but in time became horrified with its excesses. In July, 1793, she visited Paris with the intention of killing both Robespierre and Marat, two leaders of the Revolution. Succeeding in obtaining an interview with Marat while in his bath, she stabbed him to death with a knife. She was executed four days later on the guillotine.

Encyclopedia Revolutionized By Bolsheviki

MOSCOW, April 8.—Running into some fifty volumes of 900 pages each, a new encyclopedia is being prepared for Russia. It is known as the Great Soviet Encyclopedia, and its distinctive feature is that every subject with economic or philosophical implications is treated in a strictly Marxian fashion. The introduction states "the field of social science is worked over on the basis of the logical application of the dialectic method of Marx and Lenin." One of the announced objectives of the work is "the strengthening of the revolutionary and materialistic outlook."

The list of contributors contains many famous Russian scientists and in some cases foreign scientists have collaborated in the work. The article on "Behaviorism" is written by Professor J. B. Watson, United States psychologist, and Professor A. Bowley, of London, has contributed an article on the theory of probability and its various implications. The work is the major one of a number of encyclopedia which have been or are being produced on such subjects as "Law and the State," "Medicine," "Industrial Technique," "Agriculture" and "Finance." There is also a small encyclopedia of general knowledge containing in condensed form the matter embodied in the great one.

FILM

Spreads Over Teeth

and makes them unattractive

Remove it daily to keep teeth white and sound

DENTAL science knows what robs teeth of brilliant whiteness. It is film.

It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking to turn white teeth "off color" and cloud their brilliance. Film hardens into tartar. Germs by millions breed in it, and they, plus tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

To remove film, dentists prescribe the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent.

In a few days teeth grow whiter and begin to sparkle. Start today. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter, or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 191 George St., Toronto 2, Ont., Canada.

Vessel Puts Back to Port After 70 Miles Out From Victoria—Other Charges in Police Court Today

Failure to obey the command of Captain R. J. Fisher, master of the Canadian National freighter Canadian Seigneur, resulted in three firemen on the ship being sentenced to jail by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court here yesterday.

James Phee, Robert Sullivan and Patrick Ward were convicted on a charge of refusing to obey the lawful command of the vessel's master to leave the lower bridge of the ship last Saturday night at 11 o'clock, and were each sentenced to two weeks' imprisonment with hard labor. A similar charge against Arthur Campbell was dismissed, His Honor declaring there was insufficient evidence to find the accused guilty.

The four firemen were also charged with combining to disobey the lawful commands of the ship's master at sea on Sunday, April 7, and Campbell was arraigned on a count of refusing to obey the master's command to leave the lower bridge of the ship on April 6. These charges were all remanded until this morning at 10 o'clock.

CREW REFUSES TO WORK

During the hearing it was disclosed that the Canadian Seigneur left this port on Saturday night en route for Montreal. The firemen pleaded not guilty through counsel, Mr P J Sinnott, to the charge of refusing to obey Captain Fisher's command to leave the lower bridge of the vessel. Four witnesses testified for the prosecution.

Captain Robert John Fisher, master of the Canadian Seigneur, stated the vessel was moored to Ogden Point pier, loading lumber on Saturday, April 6. When he was going up on the pilot bridge to take the ship away from dock at 11 o'clock that night, he saw Sullivan, Phee and Ward on the lower bridge, and he thought he also saw Campbell there. They were shouting at him in a very loud and abusive manner, using obscene language. They wanted to see him, but they had no right on the lower bridge as they were firemen. He told them to leave the bridge, but they refused to go and were led off.

REGARDING COMPLAINTS

Witness said he was always willing to listen to the complaints of the seamen, provided they were made in an orderly manner. "But I do not listen to complaints when they are made in such a disorderly and abusive way as was done by the accused men," he stated.

The Canadian Seigneur was scheduled to leave port at 8 p.m., but the vessel was unable to depart until 11 p.m., as the accused and other members of the crew were not aboard the ship.

Eric Connorton, chief officer, said he saw the four accused on the lower bridge, and they were drunk, calling out and using fierce language. Witness asked them to go down off the bridge, but they didn't obey the order. He heard the captain issue a similar command, and the men disobeyed it, and didn't leave the lower bridge until five minutes after the order was given. The ropes and lights were put up as soon as the cargo was lashed down. When the boat got to sea, the stokers refused to work, and the engineers had to take the ship back to port.

"ROARING DRUNK"

Leslie Bertram Hempton, chief engineer, testified that he saw Sullivan, Phee and Ward, and another seamen, Beever, on the lower bridge. The four men were "roaring drunk," and talking together. They said there were not enough lights on the aft deck, and they wanted two extra lights put up. "I said I'll see the captain. I spoke to him and he agreed to put the lights up."

Witness said the men were ordered off the lower bridge by Captain Fisher, but they made no attempt to comply with the order so they had to be herded off.

"The crew refused to do any work at sea, so we had to bring the ship back to port. We tried to get them to work, and we got a pretty hot reception. The men were gathered around a table in their quarters. I asked one man 'Are you going to go on watch?' and he said 'no.' Then Phee threw a missile at me and I cleared out, not wanting to be alone with a bunch of drunken men," Hampton stated.

The final prosecution witness was George S. Doherty, second officer, who told of seeing the captain order Sullivan, Ward and Phee off the lower bridge several times, and the men didn't obey the order right away. They were not so hopelessly drunk that they didn't know what they were doing, he said. Witness didn't see Campbell on the lower bridge that night, but stated he saw him there on Friday night and heard the captain order him off.

WHAT CREW WANTED

Edward Grant, fireman, who was the first defence witness, told of coming aboard the Canadian Seigneur with the four accused and Beever on Saturday night. "We had been in town, and had been drinking. I never heard any loud noise or swearing."

Witness said all the firemen felt that the safety lines and lights should be adjusted before the ship left port. Some of the men went to see the captain on the bridge. On coming down they told witness that the captain had refused an interview with them. The firemen all wanted to go ashore, but the gangplank had been pulled up.

"We wanted the lifelines adjusted and the lights properly fixed, which had not been done. We all agreed that as we were not taking any part in taking the ship out from port, we wouldn't take it back. We decided that unless the skipper did certain things for our own safety, we wouldn't work," witness stated.

John Beever, fireman, admitted that the accused men and himself were ordered off the lower bridge by the captain, and said that they all obeyed the order. If there was any abusive language used he had not heard it. "We were all feeling good, as we had been drinking." There were no lights fore and aft, and the lifelines were slack. He said he had fallen down a hole in the deck because there was no light, and he couldn't see when he was going over a lot of timber.

"The grievance about the sidelines and lights started on the trip from Vancouver to Chemainus," he asserted.

"IN ORDERLY MANNER"

Patrick O'Neil, fireman, said he was not ashore Saturday night, but saw Sullivan, Ward, Phee and Beever when they came aboard the ship. They came aboard in an orderly manner, but were unable to make headway to their quarters owing to an absence of lights. He heard no abusive language. Campbell was not ashore that night.

Knute Rand Moritz testified that he came up on deck about 11.30 o'clock and that he had to use his flashlight in order to see. William Horkey, another member of the crew, also testified.

Patrick Ward and James Phee, two of the accused, gave evidence in their own defence. Both stated the command of the captain was obeyed on the lower bridge. Both men admitted that they had been drinking but denied they had been drunk. Ward said he told the chief engineer that it was not safe to go aft without lights or sidelines up, and the engineer said he'd see the captain about it.

Asked by Prosecutor Herrison if they knew that the ship had been inspected and a certificate given that the ship was in satisfactory condition to leave the port, the two accused said they were not aware of it.

Phee denied that he had thrown a missile at the chief engineer. "Nothing was thrown at him. But he hit me four times across the head and shoulders with a torchlight."

Both accused declared they had not used abusive language to the captain of the ship.

MARKED CONFLICT

Magistrate George Jay said there was a marked conflict in the evidence in regard to what took place on the ship and the condition of the men. "Am I to believe the men, who were to some extent under the influence of liquor, in face of the prosecution witnesses, who were in normal condition, perfectly sober? With such conflict in testimony, I must accept the versions of those who were sober as against the others.

"There is no doubt that the captain told the men to go off the lower bridge, and that they didn't obey the order immediately. I think the men were unreasonable in their demands. They had the assurance of the chief engineer that he had spoken to the captain, and that he would put the extra lights up.

"There must be a conviction under the act, but I don't consider this case a grave offence. There is not sufficient evidence against Campbell, and the charge against him will be dismissed. Sullivan, Ward and Phee will be sentenced to two weeks' imprisonment, with hard labor," His Honor declared.

MR. C. O. VAN CAMP IS BANQUETED

A banquet was held last evening at the Hotel Douglas by the C.P.R. Bowling Club in honor of Mr. C. O. Van Camp, who will leave the city shortly, having been transferred to Edmonton to supervise construction work there. Mr Van Camp has been bridge and building master on the E. & N. Railway, leaving Nelson to take up that position eighteen years ago.

Mr. G. B. Dixon, president of the club, referred to the keen interest Mr. Van Camp had always taken in the C.P.R. Social Club activities, his advice and assistance at all times being much appreciated, and expressed his regret, which was shared by all present, that he was leaving the city. In reply Mr. Van Camp said that he was sorry to leave so many good friends in Victoria.

The catering was carried out in a most satisfactory manner.

"The Story of a Dog"

Not long ago in a large Canadian city, a faithful old shepherd dog, about to be destroyed by the authorities because he had no home and was found roaming in the streets, was befriended by a reporter on one of the papers. This reporter wrote such an interesting and human, appealing story for his paper about the dog that the the next day dozens of people phoned and wanted to give the dog a home—just another instance of dog appeal. It is, also, interesting to know that dogs are advertised for sale in "The Daily Colonist" want ad columns under the classification of "Pet Stock." And, whether it is a faithful old shepherd or a cute little Boston Bull puppy, you will find him listed there.

BOY FINDS MAN SHOT TO DEATH

BODY OF OSCAR M. MIDLETON DISCOVERED BEHIND ROCKS NEAR ROAD AT LAKE HILL

Dead Man Missing From Lodgings on Blanshard Street Since Last Saturday—Gun Beside Body

Oscar M Midleton, who had been boarding at 1605 Blanshard Street since November 1 last, was found dead on Lake View Drive, Lake Hill, at 7 o'clock last night, Chief of Police Allan Rankin, of Saanich, reported. The man had been pierced through the heart by a bullet from a gun of .38 calibre. The gun was found near the body.

The discovery was made by a boy named Stanley Stonnier, who notified the police. The body was lying alongside the road behind some rocks. Lakeview Drive is a blind street, not frequently used.

It appears that Midleton had been missing from his lodgings since last Saturday, his room not having been disturbed since then. The landlady reported to the police that she had not seen the man since he went out on Saturday.

Midleton was identified as originally having come from Shelton, Washington. It is believed that he was a returned soldier. He had an artificial right arm.

The body was taken to the Sands Funeral Parlor, where the inquest will be held.

MR. T. W. S. PARSONS

U.S. Committee on Detection and Prosecution of Crime Is to Have Assistance of Local Inspector

While Inspector T. W. S. Parsons, of the Provincial Police, has had no official intimation to the effect that he is to be invited to be called in in an advisory way to assist in the working out of a scheme for better law enforcement in the United States, it seems altogether likely that he will be asked to do so.

The Post-Intelligencer of Seattle yesterday contained the following reference to the matter, under a Washington, D.C., date line:

To be known as the committee on the detection and prosecution of crime, a new body has been organized by Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, and now head of the National Crime Commission, it was stated today.

The committee will be under the direction of J. Weston Allen, former Attorney-General of Massachusetts, and author of the Model Criminal Code, which he drafted at the request of the late Governor Hadley of Massachusetts.

In making the announcement, Baker said:

"There is a feeling that our whole system of detecting and apprehending criminals falls short of efficiency. This new committee will study the situation and obtain the advice of those best qualified to suggest steps to be taken to improve our police systems generally.

"While the problem as it relates to our larger cities has received the greatest public attention, it is the feeling of the commission that the rural constabulary is in even greater need of overhauling. The appointment of this committee is an indirect result of the study made by Governor Lowden's committee."

Baker gave it as his opinion that the full resources of each state can be placed at the command of those entrusted with police duties in the rural districts. The means is to be one of the problems discussed.

A Canadian, T. W. S. Parsons, of Victoria, B.C., a recognized authority on police administration, will serve on the committee in an advisory capacity. He will suggest such practices as have been found useful in rural England as well as in the sparse regions in Western Canada.

New Translations Financed by Mr. Shaw's Donations

STOCKHOLM, April 8.—The Anglo-Swedish Literary Foundation, endowed by the Nobel Prize money donated by George Bernard Shaw in 1926 for new translations into English of the works of famous Swedish authors, has now issued its first volumes under the imprint of Jonathan Cape, of London. The initial offering consists of four plays by August Strindberg: "Easter," translated by E. Classen, "The Dance of Death," in two parts, rendered into English by C. D. Locock, "The Spook Sonata," translated by J. S. Fagan and Baron Erik Palmstierna, Sweden's Minister to England, who has taken a lively interest in the work of the Foundation, and "The Dream Play," translated by Locock.

The books have been enthusiastically received in Sweden. Thus Anders Oesterling, one of Sweden's most famous poets and a member of the Swedish Academy, which annually distributes the Nobel Literature Prize, has written a flattering revue about them in the Svenska Dagbladet, a Stockholm daily. He feels that the free verse parts in the "Dream Play" sound even better in English than in the original.

Veteran Commemorates Famous Battle of Atbara

St. Andrew's Flag Hoisted on Crescent Avenue by One of Five Cameron Highlanders of Victoria Who Took Part in Fight

From a point on Marine Drive an observer might have seen on Sunday a St. Andrew's flag flying from a pole standing in front of a residence on Crescent Avenue. The white cross on a ground of blue was conspicuous from the roadway, but its meaning was not known to many people passing that way. The owner of the property was observing the thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Atbara, and he, with four others residing in Victoria, are veterans from the ranks of the Cameron Highlanders, which regiment led the attack on Mahmud's zareba, decimating the force of the Khalifa, entrenched there, and enabling Kitchener's army to proceed unchecked to Omdurman, the Arab capital, and to the conquest of the Sudan.

The Atbara, called by the Arabs Bahr-el-Aguad, or Black River, is an important tributary of the Nile, rising in Abyssinia, and on its banks the Arab army of about 16,000 was strongly entrenched. After a night march lasting from 1 until 4 o'clock in the morning, the British force of 12,000 men, came to a halt within easy striking distance of the enemy, and artillery bombardment lasting for an hour and twenty minutes preceded the advance. The British had the Camerons in line along their whole front; then in columns of their eight companies the Lincolns on the right, the Seaforths in the centre and the Warwicks on the left. Regimental colors were not carried out into action, but owing to the barbaric character of the enemy, it was deemed expedient to hold a rallying point in case of an emergency, and accordingly each regiment carried a flag, the Camerons that of St. Andrew's. Their flag was carried by Senior Sergeant "Tory" Gunn, whose forbears had been in the regiment since 1793, his grandfather having been born on the retreat to Corunna in the Peninsular War. The commanding officer was Col. G. L. C. Money.

Soon after 6 in the morning this part of Kitchener's war machine, in one superb sweep moved forward. The line went over the crunching gravel until it was half a mile from the Arab flags, then halted. When the bugles sounded the advance, the pipes screamed and the Camerons moved to within 300 yards of the zareba, and not until then did the order come, "Volley firing by sections." As they reached the entrenchments, out of the earth came dusty, black half-naked shapes, and in a few seconds there was a wild confusion of Highlanders, purple tartan and black-green, the Seaforths having brought their perfect columns through the gaps in the defences. The action lasted not more than forty minutes, and the dervish army was destroyed. The leader, Mahmud, was captured. The total British casualties were, in the Highland Brigade, only twenty-four killed and 104 wounded. On April 11 the Sirdar rode into Fort Atbara, but the last day of Mahdism in the Sudan had not come until early in September, when the battle of Omdurman brought an end to the rule of the Khalifa.

ALICE BEGINS ALASKAN RUN

TAKES PRINCESS MARY'S PLACE UNTIL TWO OTHER STEAMERS ADDED IN SUMMER

Elaine Comes In for Attention While Mary Takes Her Sailings

The Princess Alice left from Vancouver last night on the Alaskan route, a service in which she will operate until the Summer schedule becomes effective in June. During June, July and August three ships will be used in the service, the Princesses Charlotte and Louise being employed as well as the Princess Alice, the B.C. Coast Steamship Service announces.

This change has freed the Princess Mary, which has been transferred to the Vancouver-Nanaimo run temporarily, to relieve the Princess Elaine, which has come into port for attention.

The northward movement is proceeding, as the mining and fishing industries open up. Steamers are carrying in considerable supplies, as is the practice at this period of the year.

Public Will Be Asked to Hear Zoning By-Law

The new zoning by-law was passed at last night's meeting of the City Council and will be put into effect after a public meeting has been held, at which the views of those interested may be obtained. The meeting has been arranged for 7 o'clock next Monday night.

Amendments in the new by-law include prohibition of advertising hoardings in one and two-family areas and apartment districts. Another amendment provides that all new buildings erected in the business district or shopping areas on corner lots have the street corner of the building rounded off for the height of the first floor. This is to permit better visibility at intersections.

Inasmuch as the new Empress Hotel wing is being constructed at a cost of $2,000,000, and the bus depot has enlarged its premises, and as a result the business district is developing on Douglas Street south of Fort, the City Council last night decided to retain the Douglas Street frontage south of Fort to Humboldt Street as a commercial and retail zone.

HOCKEY SERIES ONLY EXHIBITION

Canadiens Have Only Half Regular Line-Up—Calder Denies Vancouver Games Are for Title

MONTREAL, April 8.—Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, in his objection to the Montreal Canadiens and Vancouver Lions conflicts at the British Columbia city being billed for the Canadian championship, says:

"The Pacific Coast League has secured minor league affiliation only, and it, therefore, is absurd to say a minor and a major league team can be engaging for the championship. Such a procedure would bring strong protests from minor leagues operating in Canada, notably the Canadian Professional.

"Then there is the fact that Canadiens went West with only half a team, they left Hainsworth, Mantha and Joliat behind, and this surely is half their regular club.

"When the team left for the West under strength I anticipated there would not be any big success for the Canadiens, and when I read advance notices that the games were being booked for the Canadian championship I took steps to stop this, as it was not correct. But the enthusiasm of the Western writers has overcome their discretion, apparently, for the championship booking is repeated, and I have notified President Frank Patrick to discontinue such references. These are merely exhibition games with no championship involved."

Life is a game of giving and taking—giving bouquets and taking brickbats.

ONTARIO'S PREMIER IS WISE AND WITTY

TORONTO, April 8.—The ability of Premier Ferguson to dispense wit, wisdom and whimsicality was demonstrated in the House here the other night. The Premier was asked why he had written an introduction to John Henderson's "Great Men of Canada" when the book was not issued by the Government, but rather the Government bought so many copies and distributed them.

"I have written many introductions for outside people," said Mr. Ferguson.

Then he was asked by Liberal Leader Sinclair if the second volume of the "Great Men," which he had announced in the House, was to contain "all Grits" rather than "Conservatives," as in the first book.

"Oh, no," said he. "There will be a bit of leaven, too."

NEW RAY TREATMENT FOUND SATISFACTORY

BOGNOR, April 8.—The King passed a good day today, after a good night's rest. His Majesty spent the sunny morning in the grounds at Craigweil House.

It is understood the new ray treatment of His Majesty's shoulder yesterday proved satisfactory and that it will be applied on alternate days, to overcome trouble believed to be either rheumatism or neuritis.

Commenting on Dr. Voronoff's theories of rejuvenation, Professor Osborne, of Melbourne University, said that grafting was successful only when it was done from one of a species to another—monkey to monkey or man to man. There is reason to belive, however, that grafting has been done fairly successfully from contractors to civic officials.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Bisurated Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Acid Indigestion

Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition, or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead, get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful or four tablets in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation, and there is no soreness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never in liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Advt.)

RAILWAY ROUTE IS CONSIDERED

Vancouver Dispatch Regarding P.G.E. Says Survey for Quesnel to Prince George Will Be Started

EXPERIENCED MAN SELECTED AS CHIEF

A Vancouver dispatch says: "Mr. J. Calloghan, Deputy Minister of Railways of Alberta, has been appointed by the Provincial Government to find a route for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Quesnel or a point to the south of it, to Prince George. Mr. Calloghan will take a party of surveyors and engineers to the present terminus of the railway immediately to launch the first stage of the Government's comprehensive P.G.E. survey.

"The Alberta official was appointed because he is not only a recognised expert on railway matters, but because he was in charge of location surveys in the Quesnel and Prince George districts when the P.G.E. was built.

"With the appointment of Mr. Calloghan to undertake these important duties, it became known that the route originally selected for the Prince George extension of the P.G.E. in all probability will be drastically altered. It is quite possible, too, that the railway may be diverted from its present route south of Quesnel.

"When the P.G.E. was being built into Quesnel, Mr. Calloghan favored a route farther east of that selected, in order to avoid serious engineering difficulties. Under his plan, Quesnel would have been entered by a spur. If such an arrangement is adopted as a result of the present surveys, the existing line into Quesnel could be used to serve that place adequately as a branch, and the main line would be some miles east. "While sending Mr. Calloghan into the Quesnel district immediately, Hon. F. P. Burden, acting Minister of Railways, is maturing plans for surveys of the country between Prince George and the Peace River district, where the Government expects the P.G.E. to be built ultimately. Parties of surveyors will go there and into the P.G.E. land grant areas to ascertain their value about the first of May."

Banquet Given for Visiting Officials

Purple Star Lodge No. 104, L.O.B.A., entertained the R.W.P.G. mistress and other grand lodge officers at a banquet in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street last week, the affair being most enjoyable. About sixty members and visitors attended the function. The tables were prettily decorated in the colors of the lodge with tall vases filled with red tulips and yellow daffodils.

The banquet was under the convenership of Sister E. Mackenzie, assisted by several members. Toasts were proposed and responded to. After supper the regular business meeting was held. The hall was filled to capacity for the session by members and visitors. W.M. Sister M. Townsend presided, assisted by D.M. Sister E. Wight. The grand lodge officers who were escorted to the dais and welcomed by the W.M. were R.W.P.O. Mistress Sister F. Williams, Vancouver; R.W.P.G.D. Mistress Sister I. Burt, Nanaimo; R.W.P.G.D. Sister D. Hunter, Victoria; R.W.P.G.T. Sister E. Trowsdale, Victoria; R.W.P.G. secretary Sister A. Lees, Vancouver, Most Worshipful Sister Hoey, Victoria; R. Worshipful honorary member Sister Foster, Victoria. Sister Davis, W.M. Queen of the Island, and Sister Kelman, W.M. of Britannia were also welcomed.

Sister Wright reported on the rummage sale to be held on April 13. Bundles may be left at the Orange Hall any time. Sister E. Skett also reported on a concert and dance to be held on April 17. Tickets may be obtained from all members. The grand mistress gave a very interesting talk on the order. The grand deputy mistress spoke on the juvenile lodges of which Nanaimo has a membership of thirty-six children, and expressed a hope that one would be instituted in Victoria. Other grand lodge officers also spoke briefly, the grand secretary telling of the wonderful progress of the Orange Home at New Westminster, where seventy-six children are ably cared for. The grand lodge officers were then presented with a small token showing the esteem in which they are held, each responding with a few well-chosen remarks.

Two Aged Women Are Sole Heirs To Vast Estate

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 8.—Two aged women, last of the Wendels are sole heirs to the vast fortune in New York real estate amassed by their family.

They are Miss Ella B. Wendel, seventy-six years old, and Mrs. Rebecca A. D. Wendel Swope, eighty-six years old. The fortune, estimated from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, passed to them on the death of their sister, Georgiana G. B. Wendel.

Miss Ella Wendel occupies the old family mansion at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-Ninth Street, said to be the only building in that section with a rear dooryard. Her brother, the late John G. Wendel, who with his six sisters inherited the property from his father, refused $2,000,000 for the site, saying his dog needed the yard to play in.

So closely did Misses Georgiana and Ella keep to their house that the death of Georgiana a month ago in a sanitarium was not made known until a few days ago, when a petition was filed for letters of administration of her estate.

Mrs. Swope was said to have been the only one of the sisters ever to have attended the theatre or opera.

In the Fifth Avenue mansion there is said to be no electricity, telephone, phonograph or radio.

The fortune was founded by John G. Wendel, the grandfather of the women, who was a contemporary of John Jacob Astor in the fur business. He invested heavily in land and laid down the dictum followed by his heirs, "Buy but never sell real estate."

Two women were having tea in a leading restaurant. "Why were you not at our great meeting last night?" asked one, glaring reprovingly at the other through her spectacles. "We had a most instructive lecture on how to train children."

"Because," replied the quiet-looking one, "I was at home doing it."

Fashion Fancies

By Merle Belmont

From Paris comes news of the popularity of capucine shades in three tones of nasturtium. Whether or not these colorings will invade the field of informal costume no one can say. But that they are ideal for the evening mode is obvious.

The gown sketched is in three shades of nasturtium chiffon. The lower shades are in deep orange-red, shading to light orange flesh in the upper parts. Note the three-tiered cape.

Checks and the Related Plaids

THE memory of checks and plaids from past seasons is apt to give one a chill as the fashion cry goes forth that the Spring is to have a checkered career. Trust the moderns to be bold, but not devastatingly so.

Checks have a distinct trimmness and in silks the patterns are somewhat broken in special new weaves that appear to blur the angularity of the design. The majority of the checks are about one-eighth of an inch in size, so there is nothing to fear from the standpoint of their alarming conspicuousness.

Plaids happily are not so pronounced as we remember them of old, being agreeably subtle, the effect often achieved by mere pin lines. Diagonal plaids of this sort are amazingly flattering, especially when designed in gay colors on a dark ground.

So checks and their half-sisters, the plaids, wil serve in a new capacity this season. Most acceptable checks in browns, blues and reds present a delightful medium for jacket outfits on clever frocks.

Red and yellow lines make the plaid on a black background in the three-piece suit shown, the material being an imported diagonal patterned moire, the jacket rigidly simple in construction to give free play to the color scheme. A yellow crepe blouse of unusually artistic design completes this smart costume from an exclusive house.

Three fashion points speak for the chic of the second jacket suit pictured in a combination of red, black and white. It is the modish cardigan type, it is checked crepe; and the eggshell crepe blouse wears the fashionable bow neck with shirring at the waistline.

Since we Northeners must cling to fur coats for some weeks, one certain way to feel keyed to Spring is via a checkered frock. A model showing that its designer paid strict attention to the little things, such as clever details, is the centre dress in the large sketch.

Rough silk crepe in black and sulphur is fashioned into a handsome two-piece dress with a very feminine type of scarf collar in matching plain crepe edged in black.

The lure of tailored simplicity speaks for itself in the second dress of two-piece style: also of rough silk crepe in a brown check, pipings of plain brown, accenting the horizontal bandings and pointed tabs. Side cluster pleats are repeated in the back of the skirt of this ideal in-between season model.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

VICTORIA

Last Friday the members of Victoria Women's Institute held their monthly social afternoon, and many members and friends attended. A programme of music and recitations was given by the Misses Murkar and Reece, and an interesting contest caused much speculation. The hostesses were Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Murkar. Next Friday Mrs. Barber, of Vancouver, will give a demonstration of the art of fancy needle work, showing the different stitches and blending colors and many new ideas used in up-to-date decorative needle work. All interested will be welcome, as well as members of other institutes. Afternoon tea will be served afterwards.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE

A most successful monthly meeting was held by the Shawnigan Lake Women's Institute at Rosedale Inn, the home of Mrs. F. M. Winters, on Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members and visitors, and new members were enrolled. A letter was read from the Y.W.C.A., asking for funds to help complete the second unit of the building, and at a directors' meeting, following the regular session, it was decided to send a donation to help this worthy cause. Mrs Wylde, for the committee on education, reported the school in good standing, and, following her suggestion, it was decided to purchase three additional pictures for the two schoolrooms. A special prize will also be given to the pupils of both divisions for compositions in English or subjects to be announced later. Mrs. F. Elford gave a very interesting account of the activities of other institutes, which proved that they are very active and a source of good in their respective communities. Mrs. F. Gannon gave a report of the nursing service of the Cowichan Health Centre for the month of March, with details on the work done in the Shawnigan district. Following the business meeting, Mrs. P. C. Mason Hurley gave a most interesting and entertaining account of the Malay Peninsula, which she had visited on several occasions on her way to and from China. Mrs. Hurley certainly succeeded in carrying her audience with her to these far-off spots of sunshine, sparkling waters and picturesque natives. The history of the peninsula, its discovery and early foreign settlements made an instructive background to the travel-talk, for which the speaker was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. Mrs Winters served excellent tea to all present before the meeting adjourned.

YOU CAN'T DYE with Good Intentions

You can get results—after a fashion—with any old dye; but to do work you are proud of takes real anilines That's why we put them in Diamond Dyes. They contain from three to five times more than other dyes on the market! Cost more to make? Surely. But you get them for the same price as other dyes.

Next time you want to dye, try them. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look, of streaking or spotting. See that they take none of the life out of the cloth. Observe how the colors keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

WINTER SNOW SHIELDED PLANTS

Review of Agricultural Conditions on Vancouver Island Is Issued by Department of Agriculture

The report on agricultural conditions in British Columbia, issued periodically from the office of the secretary, Department of Agriculture, under date of April, 1929, says, concerning Vancouver and Island and Gulf Islands, that a somewhat unusual Winter was experienced with a period of over two weeks with severe frosts in the first part of February and considerable snow in various districts. March was a month of relatively good weather, with fine, bright days interspersed with some rainy ones, but frosts were prevalent at night.

Generally speaking, the moisture situation is a somewhat serious one unless copious rains fall in the next few weeks.

So far as can be judged at present, tree fruits have come through in good condition. Peaches on walls and protected places now coming into bloom show no serious injury. Plums and cherries are beginning to burst the scales on their flower buds. Apples are less advanced.

Crop prospects for fruits appear to be normal, with indications perhaps of a slight increase in apples and pears.

SOFT FRUITS

Strawberries have Wintered well, there being practically no heaving, as the heavy fall of snow came before the severe frosts referred to. Two-year-old plants appear to be in very good condition. The bearing acreage will probably be about fifty acres greater than in 1928, which should give an increased tonnage.

Loganberry plantations have suffered considerably from low temperatures and there will be some losses due to injury to the canes. It is not anticipated that the total tonnage for 1929 will be any greater than last year. It may even be less despite the fact that there is a small increase in acreage coming into bearing.

Blackberries, raspberries, currants and gooseberries have come through the Winter in good shape and should give a normal crop.

In broccoli, a heavy loss owing to weather conditions is estimated, which should have been a record one.

Growers have been very busy shipping out daffodil blooms, with an excellent demand. It is estimated that the crop for the southern end of the Island will be between two hundred and two hundred and fifty thousand dozen.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

Fall wheat has come through the Winter in good condition and gives promise of a good crop.

The snowfall protected the young plants against the severe frosts.

Crops of wheat and vetch for hay and for green manure have also Wintered well and are now making growth. The 1928 seedings of clover appear in good condition and the older seedings and meadows appear to have Wintered well.

Preparation of the land for Spring crops is well under way and some Spring seeding has been done.

Owing to the late season Spring grazing is not very extensive so far.

Fall-sown garden peas for the early market have Wintered satisfactorily.

Fall-planted cabbage has also come through and is now making satisfactory growth.

COMOX AREA

In the Comox district there is only a limited acreage of Fall grains sown, says the report, although considerable of the cultivated areas would produce much heavier crops of Fall-sown grains than Spring sown. The Fall-sown grains in this district have come through in good shape, so far as can be determined at this time.

Several of last year's fields that were seeded down have very poor stands of clover and grasses. This is due to a great extent to the lack of lime in the soils.

The severe weather of January and February did some Winter-killing of fruit trees, shrubs, etc. The cold Wintry weather of February has also greatly delayed Spring field work, which is only becoming general now, but field work should proceed rapidly now, as the ground is in good shape to work, on account of light rainfall this Winter, and ideal weather now.

The cold weather also greatly curtailed egg production and cut off supply of hatching eggs, consequently hatching was delayed considerably, a month in some instances, so that the number of chickens to be hatched this year will be considerably below the average.

Livestock appear to be rather thin, except on farms where they had plenty of rough feed, and a great many farmers are selling off dairy cattle on account of being short of feed as it costs too much to buy all the feed required and pastures are quite bare yet.

Last year's potato crop appears to be about cleaned up and indications are that an average crop will be planted.

A story of the great Gladstone—A clergyman calling at Hawarden while Mr. Gladstone still held the reins, Mrs. Gladstone entertained him till her husband, who was upstairs writing, was disengaged. The minister lamented the terrible state of affairs in Ireland and elsewhere, but added consolingly: "There is One above us who will set all right." "Oh, yes," exclaimed Mrs. O., "he'll be down directly."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

ORGANIZED IRON

Iron is one of the many important elements found in the human body, and yet there is only about one-eighth of an ounce in a person of 150 pounds. This amount, small as it is, is vitally important to life. In some diseases, as in anaemia, the amount may dwindle down to only ten per cent of the normal quantity. From a superficial consideration it would seem that this deficiency could be easily made up by using more of the foods rich in iron. This is undoubtedly true to some extent, but the forced feeding of the iron-bearing foods is not alone sufficient to cure an advanced case of pernicious anaemia.

There is usually enough iron in an ordinary mixed diet to supply all of the body's requirements. The one great fault is that in some diseases the body cannot convert this iron into blood and tissue. This is due to the toxic state of the system, which interferes with proper metabolism. For example, when the body is laden with excessive acid toxins, it is unable to change the iron of the food into the needed iron of the blood. When this condition of toxemia continues, no amount of stuffing with iron-carrying foods will be of any help. It is first necessary to cleanse the body of these accumulated toxins, and then the correct foods can be used with great benefit because they can then become a part of the living cells.

The short fasting diet of fresh fruit is a most helpful method of cleaning out the accumulated toxins from the system so that the iron may be utilized. Every method of elimination should be used, such as enemas and sponge baths, and the body should at the same time be supplied with a large amount of water. A few days of this regime will do more to bring about a rapid change than all of the food you can stuff into your stomach.

After you resume your regular meals the diet should consist of plenty of green leaf vegetables and a reasonable amount of lean meats. The foods containing the greatest amount of iron are as follows: Sorrel, lettuce, spinach, truffles, strawberries, asparagus, radishes, cabbage, Swiss chard, celery, onions, string beans, pumpkins, watermelons and egg yolk.

Because of the relation of iron to the chlorophyll, or green coloring of plant leaves, the greatest amount of iron is usually located in the green leaves. For example, the green outer leaves of cabbage contain four times as much iron as the inner yellow leaves.

Do not submit to intravenous injections of inorganic iron, as this mineral has no more value to the blood stream than iron rust. Only vegetables can turn iron into an organic form, which is the only form of iron that can be used by the body. The amount needed daily is very small, and a salad of greens each day will furnish you with all that your system needs to assimilate.

RIDING RECOVERS ITS POPULARITY

Extensive Bridle Path Will Embrace Eastern Section of Saanich Peninsula

Not least of the amenities of Victoria and an important tourist attraction, are the facilities offered for horseback riding. It is perhaps a matter of surprise to some that with all the increasing use of automobiles the equestrian cult is more than holding its own, and the Victoria Riding Club at Willows Park is in an exceedingly healthy condition, having emerged from a somewhat uphill fight during the past eight years with an increasing membership now numbering nearly three hundred. Included in these figures are a number of keen young riders from the Victoria University College and from St. Margaret's School, who attend regularly the jumping classes and rides and take part in the exhibitions which are from time to time staged in the horse show building.

To increase the riding facilities which are so greatly admired by visitors from the South and from the Mainland, steps have now been taken to establish permanent bridle paths for the use of riders who, in the near future, will be able to negotiate a twenty-mile ride, away from traffic and hard roads, with many deviations in pleasant surroundings, with wonderful views over the sea.

Oak Bay and Saanich Municipalities were approached on this subject and gave encouraging assent to the project of providing permanent bridle paths; and this consent having been attained, nothing remains but to go ahead with the work of clearing the route, improving bridges and cutting away the overhanging brush.

The main route, when completed, will lead across country from the Willows gates to Cadboro Bay Road, through the Uplands to Finnerty Road to Cedar Hill Crossroads, whence the ride will turn to Gordon Head down Arbutus Road to Telegraph Bay; then to Cadboro Bay and along the bridle path, or by the beach, back to the Uplands—from whence are several alternative routes home.

Even more ambitious plans are being considered by the keen local horsemen, and not least is the provision of a new riding school with clubhouse, etc., which may be necessitated in the near future owing to extensive alterations which may be made by the exhibition authorities at the Willows. Such a club, with modern appointments and lighting, would indeed be a desirable addition to Victoria's claims as a holiday city.

Curran and Father O'Leary were dining with Michael Kelly, when the barrister said: "Reverend Father, I wish you were St. Peter." "And why, Counsellor, would you wish I were St. Peter?" asked O'Leary. "Because, Reverend Father, in that case you would have the keys to Heaven and could let me in." "By my honor and conscience, Counsellor," answered O'Leary, "it would be better for you if I had the keys of the other place, and then I could let you out."

At The Playhouses

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Dramatic in its every development and building up to a climax which is punctuated by the eruption of a volcano, "Tropic Madness," F.O.B.'s feature photoplay at the Playhouse Theatre, stands out as one of the season's most striking screen offerings. Leatrice Joy, famed star of many film successes, plays the leading role.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Actual scenes of Paris during the American Legion convention there have been incorporated in "Legionnaires in Paris," the F.B.O. comedy featuring Al Cooke and Kit Guard which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre. A corps of motion picture cameramen followed every phase of the convention throughout its duration, and prints of these scenes were rushed to the F.B.O. studios for incorporation in "Legionnaires in Paris," the F.B.O. "Legionnaires in Paris." All of the atmospheric shots which made the picture so realistic were actually filmed on the ground during the festivities, it is said. Supporting Cooke and Guard is a carefully selected cast, including Louise Lorraine, Virgina Sale, John Aason, and others.

CAPITOL THEATRE If love levels all ranks, it also overshadows even events of world import, so far as lovers are concerned. And as most of the world is composed of lovers and all the world loves them, it is not surprising that "Lilac Time," First National's big special which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, with Colleen Moore as the star, enthralls by reason of the love story it tells to even a greater extent than because of the World War background. The stage attractions include Frances Lavare, noted prima donna and musical comedy star, The Radio Roamers, and Smith and Patrick, the clever skaters and musical performers, in a sensational novelty. The Capitol Stage Band, under the baton of Chris. Wade, will play as their feature selection, "Cotton Time," and Jack Medford, the new M.C., will also be featured.

DOMINION THEATRE John Gilbert, masked in a heavy beard and wearing one of the most unusual, yet comfortable, garbs of his many adventures on the screen, is the magnet now drawing audiences to the Dominion Theatre, where he is appearing in his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature, "Desert Nights," a sound synchronized film, which opened yesterday. Ernest Torrence plays the role of Steve, the suave and exceedingly clever crook who poses under the cloak of English nobility, and Mary Nolan, former Follies beauty and heroine of "West of Zanzibar," and of "Sorrell and Son," gives another outstanding performance as the daughter of the renegade. William Nigh, responsible for "Mr. Wu" and other classics, directed the new drama which is a filmization of an original story by John Thomas Neville and Dale Van Every.

COLISEUM THEATRE There is a great audience appeal in Columbia's "The Scarlet Lady," which is being featured at the Coliseum Theatre. Lya de Putti, Don Alvarado and Warner Oland came into their own in exceptionally fine roles. The production has been made on an elaborate scale giving a magnificant spectacle of the Russia of the Czar and the same country immediately following the revolution. Lya de Putti has a role in which she rises to great heights while Don Alvarado and Warner Oland are sure to win new friends through their powerful performances. Alan Crosland has made a great picture out of "The Scarlet Lady," and has indelibly stamped himself as a director of the first magnitude.

AMUSEMENTS

Capitol—"Lilac Time," starring Colleen Moore.
Coliseum—Lya de Putti in "The Scarlet Lady."
Columbia—"Legionnaires in Paris," featuring Al Cook.
Dominion—John Gilbert in "Desert Nights."
Playhouse—"Tropic Madness," with Leatrice Joy.

"The Desert Song" Comes to Royal on Monday, April 22

Lillian Albertson's thrilling operetta, "The Desert Song," which has broken every known record business in California with the original singing stars, Perry Askam and Elvira Tanzi will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, April 22, 23 and 24, with a Wednesday matinee.

"The Desert Song" is without doubt one of the most beautiful and tuneful operettas we have had during the past decade, the music being by Romberg who, it will be remembered, wrote "The Student Prince," "Blossom Time," "My Maryland," and a number of the biggest musical hits the stage has ever known. Perry Askam and Elvira Tanzi has played their respective parts for over a year, while Nenette Vallon, David Reese, Myrtis Crinley, Charles Villar, Gary Breckner, John Merkyl, Fred Peters, John Wagner, Dorothy McCormick and Violet Derbeck have important roles.

INDIAN HISTORY REVIEWED HERE

Mr. Alfred Carmichael Tells Gyros of Tribal Civilization Preceding White Men's Coming

The history of the Indian peoples of the Pacific Northwest was briefly reviewed by Rotarian Alfred Carmichael yesterday, in addressing members of the Victoria Gyro Club at their weekly luncheon session in the Chamber of Commerce dining-room. President Harry B. Dawson presided.

Mr. Carmichael said the origin of the Indian tribes was unknown, and that many weird theories had been advanced as to their derivation. Ever since the white man came to North America the Indian peoples had suffered great wrongs, he said, the cruelties inflicted by the Spaniards having driven whole families and villages to suicide. The Anglo-Saxons had treated the Indians better.

The speaker told of the vast influence of the cedar tree upon the lives of the primitive Indians, and discussed the religious beliefs of the natives. The origin of totem poles was explained. Social relations were excellent within the families and tribes, the women of many tribes being accorded great respect. The leaders of the tribes possessed wonderful gifts of oratory, said Mr. Carmichael, who considered the life of the West Coast Indian to hold rich opportunities for imaginative writers.

Birthday gifts were presented to Gyros Tom McCafferty, Jack Clay, Harry Holder, Bill Hudson and G. Patterson, all of whom will have birthday anniversaries during the month of April.

Sergeant-at-Arms Bert Bibbald found six members of the club, Gyros Noel Collinson, Bernie Hall, Jack Clay, Archie Wills, Harold Butteris and C. C. Paxton guilty of various offences, and compelled them to sing "The Prisoner's Song," to the delight of their fellow clubmen.

A Visitor From Palestine

DAVID Bloch, Mayor of Tel-Aviv (Hill of the Springs), one of the most modern cities in Palestine, was welcomed at the Toronto City Hall by Mayor McBride. Mr. Bloch is touring Canada lecturing to Hebrew audiences on the advisability of returning to the "new old land of their fathers."

TRIBESMEN ACTIVE IN THREE REGIONS

LONDON, April 8.—Activity of tribesmen on three widely separated fronts was described in dispatches today.

From Bengasi, Libya, North Africa, news came that native Italian troops had defeated a large group of rebel tribesmen near Bir Bu Gedari, killing 160 and leaving 100 camels and considerable stores. Fifteen loyalists were killed and ten wounded.

Basra, Irak, dispatches related that a body of Akhwan riders, composed of Ataibah and Mutair tribesmen, suffered heavy losses in attack and dispersal by a force of 40,000 men led by Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz.

An official communique has been issued at New Delhi, capital of India, dealing with Afghan efforts to embroil tribes along the northern frontiers of India in civil war and emphasizing measures being taken by the Government of India to maintain neutrality.

New York Car Fares

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Interborough Rapid Transit Company, of New York, today was prohibited by the Supreme Court from increasing to seven cents its present five-cent fare.

Mother: "Why aren't you as polite and considerate and well-behaved as little Johnny Jackson?"

Small Son: "Well, he was brought up in some street where the other boys were all bigger than him."

YOUTH HELD ANNUAL MEET

United Church Young People Took Forward Step at Ladysmith Conference—Officers Elected

The second annual conference of the Young People's Societies of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, which embraces the various Young People's Societies of the southern portion of Vancouver Island, was held in the Ladysmith United Church.

The conference, which numbered 100 delegates, opened with an inspirational Good Friday service, preceded by a cornet solo by Sterling Manual. The vice-president, Mr. A. M. Dirom, conducted the call to worship, and Mr. William Speed, of Metropolitan, gave a challenging Good Friday message. Misses M. Watson and B. Simpson contributed a vocal duet, "God Is Love."

The meeting opened at 2 o'clock with devotional exercises, with Mr. Frank Hunter, president, in the chair. Rev. W. R. Brown, of Ladysmith, welcomed the delegates, and after the roll call of the various societies, the conference proceeded to the consideration of many important topics.

Resolutions adopted by the young people favored Oriental immigration on a quota basis of the Canadian percentage of population in the respective Oriental countries; decided to take out membership in the League of Nations Society; expressed their approval of the modern style of dress on the grounds of economy, health, utility and appearance, and went on record for instruction in the schools on the life and teachings of Jesus Christ.

At the close of a prolonged session the conference adjourned to the United Church hall for a social hour around the supper table. This was followed by a lively sing-song led by Mr. Kelly, Duncan United.

At the evening session the conference elected officers for the forthcoming year as follows: Honorary president, Rev. M. W. Lee, Sidney; president, Mr. Cecil Davies, Victoria; vice-presidents, Mr. Albert Dirom, Duncan; Miss Gwen Owens, Duncan; secretary-treasurer, Miss Merle Lorimer, Victoria. Hearty appreciation was expressed to the retiring officers, Mr. M. F. Hunter, president, and Mr. Ashfield Walker, secretary-treasurer, for their faithful services during the past year. The conference was then addressed by Mr. Kelly, of Duncan, on the subject, "What Have the Young People to Offer the Church," and by Rev. W. R. Brown, of Ladysmith, on the subject, "What the Church Expects of the Young People," both of which addresses were greatly enjoyed.

Amateur Typewriting Championship Goes to Vancouver Resident

TORONTO, April 8.—Miss Louisa Marchese, Vancouver, won the Canadian amateur typewriting championship here Saturday from fourteen other entrants in the competition. Miss Marchese made a net rate of 104 words per minute.

Miss Elsie Kerniston, Gananoque, Ont., was second with a rate of 100 words per minute, while Miss Ann Kreutzer, Winnipeg, was third with ninety-five words per minute.

NOT THIS YEAR

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—James Warner, radio operator aboard the transpacific monoplane Southern Cross, on its flight to Australia, told the Associated Press today he was planning to attempt to fly to Tokio.

He said he was considering two routes, the northern route from Seattle to Kamchatka and thence to Japan, and the southern route from San Francisco to Honolulu and then across nearly 4,500 miles of open sea to Tokio.

He said he would be accompanied on the trip by Harry Abbott, veteran Pacific Coast aviator, and a crew yet to be selected.

"Any announcement of the plans at this time would be premature," Warner said, "but there is little likelihood of the flight being made this year."

"I suppose you and your wife are of one mind?"

"Oh, yes, we shouldn't have room in our flat if we weren't."

Final Bid 2S Played by South

Salient Points of the Bidding

Informatory Double in Lieu of Rebid

South, strong in Spades, correctly bids that suit in preference to No Trump, though holding all four suits stopped. West bidding two Diamonds and North failing to assist Spades, South doubles on the second round instead of rebidding in order to secure his partner's best bid in case his partner cannot show normal expectancy in Spades. North holding three Spades assists his partner instead of showing a suit.

Salient Points of the Play

Establishing a Trick in Dummy for the Discard of a Loser—The Double Finesse

Trick 1.—Declarer holds off to trump the third lead of Diamonds in Dummy should West continue the suit.

Trick 2.—Placing Declarer with the Ace of Diamonds in view of East's discouraging play to the first trick and noting that Dummy can trump the third round, West switches and leads Clubs, hoping to drive out Dummy's Ace which might be useful to Declarer to bring in Dummy's Hearts after establishment of that suit.

Trick 7.—With but eight trumps in the two hands, Declarer takes the double finesse.

screen stars use it to keep their skin soft and smooth

Jeanette Loff, charming Pathé star, says: "No matter what climate my pictures take me to, or how hard the water, I have found that Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin enviably smooth."

"I am utterly enthusiastic about Lux Toilet Soap," says pretty Mary Nolan, Universal star. "Even the most expensive French soaps have not kept my skin so beautifully smooth."

REALLY exquisite skin does win hearts—Hollywood knows how surely it wins them!

"If a girl wants popularity she must have a lovely smooth skin," says William K. Howard, Pathé director. "Without rare beauty of skin a screen star can never hope to win her public, no matter what else she may have."

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. You have only to look at Jeannette Loff's skin, or Mary Nolan's, or Nancy Carroll's, to see how exquisite this delicately fragrant white soap keeps the skin. Small wonder that every one of the great film studios has made Lux Toilet Soap the official soap in all dressing rooms! You'll love it yourself — its generous lather is so caressing, and leaves your skin so velvety. Use it in your bath, too—and for the shampoo, as the screen stars do.

Nancy Carroll, Paramount — "Lux Toilet Soap is delightful for the skin."

Tired Nerves and Heavy Head

So many women complain of both. Nerves are all unstrung. Restless and irritable. Can't sleep well. Get up in the morning without that feeling of freshness and cheerfulness that a good night's sleep should bring. Usually, this unhappy condition is the result of a number of little things, rather than one serious ailment.

Indigestion, sour stomach, biliousness, lazy liver, constipation — these are the usual things that upset the nerves, make the head ache and keep you feeling miserable.

And these are the troubles that ABBEY'S corrects so quickly. Just a glass in the morning is sufficient to sweeten the stomach, clean the system of waste, neutralize acidity, send pure, rich blood flowing through the body and put your whole system in an orderly natural condition. It's surely worth while to

Contracts for Railway Work Are Awarded

WINNIPEG, April 8.—The awards of grading contracts for four Canadian Pacific Railway branch lines, totaling ninety-nine miles, were announced today. The work will commence as soon as the weather permits.

Fred Mannix, of Calgary, was awarded the contract covering the grading between Coronation and Youngstown, Alta., and a twenty-five mile line to a point northest of Acme. An eighteen-mile stretch of road from Bromhead to Lake Alma, Sask., was let to Riley & Reed, an Edmonton firm. Roosa & Wilkstrand, of Vermilion, received the contract covering fifteen miles of road northwest of Lloydminster, Sask. Other contracts relative to the Canadian Pacific branch lines will be awarded shortly.

The child of rich parents saw half-a-dozen ragged urchins streaming across the street in front of her car. "Poor little children," she reflected. "I suppose they've got no nurses—only mothers."

SUGAR TARIFF OPPONENTS ON ORIENT SHIP

Filipino Delegation Arrives En Route to Washington, D.C., to Demand Independence for Islands

ALSO OPPOSED TO PROPOSED TARIFF

En route to Washington, D.C., for a twofold purpose, one to register their protest against a tariff on sugar and copra importations from the Philippine Islands and secondly to make further demands for independence, a party of Filipinos, headed by Camilo Osias, resident Commissioner of the Islands, passed through Victoria yesterday morning on board the President McKinley.

The delegation was by far the most important to pass through Victoria for years. There were fourteen in the party, including Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Rafael P. Alunan, secretary of agriculture and natural resources for the Philippine Islands. The party was welcomed here by members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

In an official statement worded by himself, Mr. Osias, leader of the party said:

"We are here on a mission of friendship, because we believe that the relations between the two peoples—be they economic or political—can be best adjusted through mutual understanding and friendship."

Touching upon the proposed tariff on all sugar imported by the United States over the 600,000-ton limit, Mr. Osias said that this would mean that more than 100,000 tons would be subjected to duty if the legislation passed, "but we believe such legislation to be so inconsistent with America's altruistic policy that we cannot conceive of the United States taking any action that would reverse that policy. It involves not only matters of trade, but principle, and we do not think that any true American will take any unfair or unjust step.

"The present Secretary of State said, 'I cannot believe that any such backward step will be taken by America today. The American flag stands today not only for individual freedom but for freedom of trade for all people under that flag; and so long as we retain these Islands under that flag we are in duty bound to give them the advantage of trade with the home country.' We are committed to a policy that will foster existing relations, particularly as they are referred to by the Secretary of State, just as long as the Stars and Stripes fly over the Islands," Mr. Osias said.

Asked if there was no means by which the Philippine Islands might counter the tariff move, Mr. Osias said, "We have no right to impose a tariff, and, even if we did have the power, to use such a threat would be to take a definite step from that principle laid down by the Secretary of State to which we staunchly abide, that is freedom of trade between all people beneath the United States flag."

DREAD OTHER MEANS

When asked if the United States-Philippine question was not somewhat similar to that between Ireland and Great Britain at one time, and if there were not other means than those already used for securing independence, Mr. Osias said, "Our situation is totally different. We are entirely at the mercy of the United States. We have neither power to legislate on the tariff, forestry, mines or commerce. We are completely under the administration of the United States Congress. We dread to think of any other means of securing independence other than those provided by law."

He went on to say that "we are deeply indebted to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and many other American organizations for the very fair and spontaneous manner in which they have stood on all questions pertaining to American and Philippine interests in trade matters. Their sincerity has been shown us in the resolutions they have forwarded to responsible government officials. For this we wish to express our deep appreciation."

Mr. Osias concluded his remarks by saying that the estimated export of sugar from the Philippines to the United States this year was more than 600,000 tons and he could not believe for one minute that any true American would do anything that would restrict trade between the United States and the Philippine Islands, particularly as American interests were heavily invested in the sugar and copra trade.

MOVEMENT TO SAVE WILD LIFE

Small Attention Being Paid to Homes of Well-Known Canadian Authors

The Alberta Fish and Game Association is taking the leadership in a movement for the formation of a Dominion Fish and Game Association, and to this end is communicating with other governmental, provincial and local bodies interested in fish and game conservation, as well as with the various individuals known to be in sympathy with this work. It is proposed to carry on a publicity campaign during the present year, to be followed by the calling of a convention in Ottawa or Montreal, at which the organization could be completed. In the first of a series of bulletins issued from Calgary, the objects of the movement are set forth, as follows:

To save wild life from extinction in Canada.

To encourage the enactment of wise regulations by the Dominion and by the Provinces to this end.

By wild life is meant not only the game birds, game animals and game fish, but all other useful birds, animals and fish.

To increase Canada's wild life resources by means of preservation and by stocking.

To introduce new species of game birds, game animals and game fish that will thrive in Canada.

To spread knowledge of Canada's wild life and its value as a national resource through the Dominion and Provincial Governments, through the Dominion and Provincial Fish and Game Associations, through the schools and colleges, through the press, through the community clubs, and through any other reasonable and available agencies.

To encourage the establishing of fish and game sanctuaries, both federal and provincial.

To co-operate with the United States in respect of stocking and protecting international streams, capable of supporting game fish.

To assure the exchange of information between the Provinces in regard to wild life conditions and with regard to the results of stocking, protection and conservation efforts.

To encourage the exchange of fish and game birds and animals between provinces for their mutual benefit.

To discourage the market sale of game birds, waterfowl, game animals, or their flesh, and game fish.

To standardize the fish and game regulations throughout Canada.

To urge the destruction of vermin which is destroying Canada's useful wild life.

To conserve the forests and to prevent forest fires.

To safeguard the wild life of Canada primarily for the benefit of the people of Canada.

To discourage the use of public domain or streams for private and selfish purposes.

To encourage the establishing of game fish hatcheries on an adequate scale in each Province.

To urge the big land-owning companies, lumber companies and railway companies to set aside desirable areas as game sanctuaries; also lakes and sloughs as waterfowl sanctuaries.

To encourage farmers, ranchers and private and corporate owners of big land areas to establish game farms.

To encourage the study of the habits of game birds, waterfowl, big game and game fish with a view to gathering information which will assist the conservation and propagation efforts.

To urge the establishment of Dominion and Provincial game farms, or, in the alternative, the use of part of each Dominion and Provincial demonstration farm for this purpose.

To encourage the study of regulations affecting fur-bearing animals with a view to standardization that will assure conservation and an increasing supply.

To prevent pollution of national and international waters which contain game and commercial fish.

To introduce new game fish into Canadian waters.

To encourage bird banding.

To co-operate with the United States Biological Survey in respect of study of migratory birds and preparation of helpful regulations.

To make Canada the richest country in the world in respect of wealth of wild life, fish and game.

To urge Dominion and Provincial Governments to make surveys of Canada's wild life.

To urge the Dominion Government to make surveys of past conditions in all its national parks with a view to more rigid control of such pests as are destroying useful wild life.

To arrange for reciprocity between provinces respecting fishing and hunting licences, it to be understood that such reciprocity does not abrogate payment of fee in each province.

To investigate types of guns and fishing tackle reported to be unduly destructive to game and fish.

To investigate the question of exportation of game fish, game flesh and game trophies.

To investigate conditions under which visiting sportsmen from other countries bring in their guns, ammunition, dogs, fishing tackle, automobiles and other equipment.

To encourage scientific research into Canada's fish and game conditions.

The movement is being directed by Charles A. Hayden, a former Montreal newspaper man who is now managing editor of The Calgary Herald and president of the Alberta Fish and Game Association, and any persons interested in the project can obtain further information by communicating with Mr. Hayden.

$5,000 DAMAGE TRIAL BEGINS

NICHOLAS LERICK CLAIMS DEFENDANT BROKE AGREEMENT IN RESTAURANT BUSINESS

Permanent Injunction, Restraining Busy Bee Cafe From Carrying On Trade, Is Sought

Claiming $5,000 damages for an alleged breach of agreement, and seeking a permanent injunction, restraining the defendants or either of them from further carrying on the business of the Busy Bee Cafe, Nicholas Lerick launched suit in the Supreme Court here yesterday against James Zaferis, V. Paul and Mrs. Amalia Zaferis. Evidence for the plaintiff was entered, and when court resumes this morning, defence witnesses will take the stand. Mr. Justice Murphy is presiding at the trial, with Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., as counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. Stuart Henderson and Mr. David S. Tait representing the three defendants.

Nicholas Lerick, of the Gem Cafe, 631 Johnson Street, the plaintiff, claims damages against James Zaferis for an alleged breach of a covenant in an agreement dated May 17, 1928 dissolving the partnership formerly carried on by plaintiff and defendant at the Gem Cafe. Plaintiff contends that by the indenture Zaferis agreed he would not during a period of three years from date of the agreement carry on or be engaged in either directly or indirectly, in the business of a restaurant, a cafe or a hotel, without plaintiff's consent.

Plaintiff alleges that Zaferis broke the contract, and has without his consent within the past five months carried on or been engaged in the Busy Bee Cafe, 625 Johnson Street. Plaintiff claims damages against V. Paul and Mrs. Zaferis, wife of James Zaferis, for allegedly wilfully inducing or procuring Zaferis to break the agreement and solicit old customers of the Gem Cafe, and for damages against all the defendants for allegedly conspiring to destroy plaintiff's restaurant business.

"I think the way she treats her husband is positively awful!" "Well, to say the least, it's awfully positive."

JAPAN STARTS NEW AIR ROUTE

TOKIO, OSAKA, FUKUOKA, URASAN, KEIJO AND DAIREN LINKED BY PLANES

Imperial Army Loans Twenty Aircraft Pending Completion of Twelve for Service

TOKIO, April 8.—The Japan Air Transportation on April 1 commenced operations between Tokio, Osaka, Fukuoka, Urasan, Keijo, Heijo and Dairen.

The initial subsidy, amounting to $240,000, will be given shortly by the Ministry of Communications. Twelve planes are to be used to cover the routes, six Fokker planes of Dutch design, and six from the United States.

Mr. Keinosuke Nishino, president of the company, purchased these planes while he was abroad recently but, as it takes a few months for their completion, the company arranged with the Imperial Army for the loan of twenty Salmson planes pending their completion in July.

During the use of Salmson planes, the Korean Channel will not be crossed but the flying will be limited to the Tokio-Fukuoka route and the Urusan-Dairen route.

The Tokio-Osaka service is worked twice a day, the Osaka-Fukuoka once and the Urusan-Dairen route also once a day. The company at present only carries mail and freight, pending plans for passenger service.

Mail times between Tokio, Korea and Manchuria are now cut down from five days to a little over twenty-four hours. As in the air transportation service of other countries, motion picture films are carried without charge.

Underwriters' Luncheon

The monthly luncheon of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters will be held Thursday next at 12 noon, at Spencer's. A large attendance is expected, as a well-known local business man is to address the association.

The Ohio State Journal regrets to note that most of those who express a great fear that the country is going to have a religious war in this campaign seem to look forward to it with considerable enthusiasm.

And . . . CHEVROLET goes high-compression!
its new owners should avoid hard carbon from burned oil*

The first power of the new Chevrolet comes from a new high-compression type motor. No room in it for hard carbon. Note this cut-away cylinder—see how the piston comes right to the top! Where would you put the handful of cake-like carbon that old-style oils soon leave?

Even the costliest oils form more carbon. A sample of this oil, when burned, left more than three times as much as Shell Motor Oil

An equal sample of Shell Motor Oil left only this small fraction of carbon—and it is soft carbon, not the hard, gritty, damaging kind

AN ADVANCE in motor design — you hear of it everywhere. High-compression, higher powered motors; yet more economical, smoother running. Nearly all the cars built this last year or two are higher compression, among the newest and most notable the Chevrolet six, the announcement of which was repeated by millions of lips.

This modern trend in motors caught many oil refiners unaware! Their fine lubricants had a fault — serious when engines were roomy inside, but a positive menace in new-type motors. This fault is the tendency of their oils to form flinty layers of hard carbon. And there is no room for carbon deposits in the new high-compression motors.

Hard carbon causes knocking, engine strain, power loss. Flakes grind like grit through tight pistons and bearings, wearing them away more rapidly.

Yet one motor oil meets new conditions squarely. It forms only 1/3 to 1/5 as much carbon as even the most expensive oils you can buy! The little it does form is soft and soot-like—a kind that blows harmlessly away through the exhaust.

It is Shell Motor Oil, a remarkable new lubricant. It withstands violent temperature changes without breaking down; keeps its sturdy body long after ordinary oils would disintegrate.

New day motorists acclaim Shell Motor Oil as the answer to the high-compression lubrication problem—keep away from hard carbon!

Naturally, motor car manufacturers do not specify brands of oil. None is factory recommended for the new Chevrolet. But every modern car should have an oil that forms no hard carbon. Ask any lubrication expert.*

SHELL MOTOR OIL

SHELL 400, THE NEW "DRY" GAS THAT BURNS CLEANLY AND KEEPS OUT OF THE CRANKCASE, IS THE IDEAL RUNNING MATE FOR SHELL MOTOR OIL. EVEN SHELL MOTOR OIL CAN BE RUINED BY "THINNING" WITH A "WET" GAS

CANADIENS DISPLAY SPEED IN WHIPPING LIONS

Stribling Should Be Dangerous Contender If Properly Handled

Walter Trumbull Says Macon Heavyweight Should Quit Fighting Fourth Raters and Get Some Experience Against Good Men

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1929, By the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

When Billy Gibson used to run the Fairmount Club in New York's Bronx, he put on popular priced shows in which the contestants fought almost as earnestly as amateurs. Billy was often accused of securing his talent from the seats of coal wagons or the Stevedores' Union, but he certainly picked free and willing mixers. But Gibson never would match the boys for a second battle. "They know too much," he explained. "They have learned to duck."

YOUNG STRIBLING

That is just what seems to be the trouble with the leading heavyweights of the present day. Sharkey may not be as good a fighter as when he stood and tried to swap punches with Dempsey, but he is a lot smarter fighter. Paolino still attacks, but he has learned to block punches with other things than his chin. Boxing is a business, and there are few dividends for the man who does too much of his fighting in a horizontal position.

For the same reason, young men with a punch soon grow afraid to launch it. As they fight better men they find that the wallop which was so effective against stationary targets, is missing its mark and they realize that they have much to learn. Then they are likely to become as cautious as one of those drivers of a new car, who gets run into from behind.

VON PORAT HAS PUNCH

Von Porat can punch with the best of them. Yet the other evening he let Johnny Risko bull him about the ring, take the play away from him and beat him on points. Had Von Porat punched and kept punching until he landed a few clean right-hand shots, it might have been that even the game Risko's enthusiasm would have grown noticeably less.

It still seems to me that there is promise in Stribling. He has one of the greatest right hands in the game, but he has been using it on dubs and doesn't know what to do when he gets in with a smart, experienced fighter. Jack Sharkey himself said: "Stribling hit me and hurt me, but he didn't know enough to follow up his advantage."

He never will know enough unless he quits fighting fourth-raters and gets some experience against good men. If handled properly, Stribling could still be a dangerous contender.

There is a vast difference between a counter fighter and a defensive fighter. Tunney was a counter fighter, but attacking him was like taking a poke at a coiled rattler, or charging a machine gun nest. He didn't dive for any bombproof cellar and wait to be dug out. He caught his man coming in and cut him to pieces. And, when he considered the time ripe, Tunney could attack as fiercely as any of them. Moreover, he could hit hard with either hand.

But the crowd doesn't go crazy over this type of fighter, however great or effective he may be. The mob loves the Jack Dempseys and Terry McGoverns, who go over the top when the whistle blows—to slay or be slain. If Young Willie Stribling had the fighting spirit of either of these two, he would be drawing million-dollar gates.

SCHMELING SHOWS PROMISE

Max Schmeling showed promise, but Max's early record doesn't entitle him to any worldwide acclaim until he has proved himself a little more. It is an infinite pity that the German boy has so snarled himself up in legal coils that it may ruin any career he might have had. Max can't punch much with a pack of managers and lawyers hanging on each arm. Schmeling can't win any heavyweight title fighting in the law courts.

Tommy Loughran could make it unpleasant for any of the heavyweights, and he would be a credit to any title he won; but Tommy apparently intends to stick to his own class and crown. A grand, likeable fellow, Loughran is neither a heavy nor a crushing hitter. With Stribling's right-hand punch, Tommy would have chased all these heavies into the ocean.

Ernie Shaaf has shown ability; Jim Braddock might grow heavier and more formidable; Jack Kearns declares that he has the makings of a great fighter in Al Fay; but the chances are that the next great heavyweight will suddenly and unheralded come out of nowhere, to hammer with iron fists on the gates of fame.

Mother Points Out Hero for Youngster

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

By knocking out Johnny Risko, Cleveland "Rubber Man," recently, Max Schmeling became the fistic sensation of the hour.

Because of a remarkable resemblance to the "Manassa Mauler," he has been called the German Dempsey.

Probably the man most commonly taken for Dempsey is none other than our old batting friend, Babe Ruth.

I was riding in the elevator of a southern hotel with the Babe one evening when a young woman with a little boy about six years old entered.

Ruth's massive bulk almost filled the elevator and after sizing him up the lady turned to her young son and said:

"Take a good look at Jack Dempsey, the greatest fighter that ever lived. This is probably the closest we'll ever get to him in our life."

"Guess again, lady," said the Babe, who got a great kick out of the incident. "you'll probably come closer next time."

KNOCKOUT CAGE GAMES CARDED ON WEDNESDAY

Red Birds to Meet Fidelis for Honors, While Duncan and Crescents Will Clash in Island Semi-Finals

C.P.S. TO PLAY VICTORIA CAPS

Three more knock-out series basketball games are on the book for tomorrow night at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. In the opening tilt, at 7.30 o'clock, the Red Birds and Fidelis will meet in the final of the senior "B" ladies' knockout championship, while five courtsmen from Duncan will tangle with the fast-traveling Crescents in the semi-final of the Vancouver Island knockout title. Two ancient and bitter rivals will be seen in the final contest, when the Capitals and C.P.S. senior teams take the floor in the semi-final of the senior knockout championship. The winner of this game will clash with the Keating quintette next week for the title.

Fidelis will be hot favorites to win from the Red Birds. So far this year they have captured the city and Island ladies' senior "B" titles, and only last Saturday lost to the Kamloops ladies in the final for the British Columbia honors. The Red Birds have been showing great form lately, and are expected to make their opponents go the limit for a victory.

DUNCAN TO BE STRONG

The Crescents, city and Island intermediate "A" titleholders and winners of the Bob Whyte Shield, will have their hands full when they take the court against the much-talked-of Duncan crew. Led by the veteran Doc French, the Up-Islanders are bringing down their strongest squad in an effort to chalk up a win.

From whistle to whistle, the Capitals and C.P.S. teams are expected to be in the fight in the final game. The Caps have suffered two reverses at the hands of the lumbermen, while they have taken the C.P.S. crew into camp at least six times. With two titles, the city and Island, to their credit, the Capitals are placed favorites to register a victory.

Tommy Forbes and Bob Whyte are expected to referee, and the probable line-ups follow:

Red Birds—Bertha Peden, Torrie Rennie, Dorothy Holder, Alice Dean, Siddy Boyce, Dot Lea and Dot Rendle.

Fidelis—Isabel Crawford, Bona Macmurchie, Iris Philbrook, C. Freeman, C. Robertson, D. Bailey, B. Campbell and I. Foubister.

Duncan—D. French, J. Evans, Talbot and A. Dirome.

Crescents—N. McConnell, B. Low, I. Spence, R. Thorpe, L. Jones, R. Temple and V. Jones.

Capitals—N. Forbes, A. Boyd, L. Patt, J. McKenzie, W. Skillings, A. Cudlip and T. Wachter.

C.P.S.—G. MacEachern, J. Dowds, S. Skillings, O. Faberburg, G. Wooldridge, J. Butler and O. Davis.

CARPET BOWLERS TO MEET FRIDAY

The annual general meeting of the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League will be held in the Civil Service rooms on Friday at 8 o'clock. Reports for the year will be read and election of officers will take place. A large attendance is requested.

H. SMITH AND DIEGEL BEATEN

Lose Exhibition Match to Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen Two Up

NEW YORK, April 8.—Johnny Farrell, United States open champion, paired with Gene Sarazen to defeat Horton Smith, the "Joplin ghost," and Leo Diegel, P.G.A. and Canadian open title holder 2 up, in an eighteen-hole exhibition match yesterday at the links of the Cherry Valley Country Club in Garden City, Long Island.

Farrell and Sarazen led one up at the turn, their best ball being 34 to Smith and Diegel's 35. Smith won the fourteenth with a birdie three squaring the match. Farrell's birdie three won the fifteenth, but Diegel again squared the match with still another birdie three on the sixteenth. Sarazen, however, took the seventeenth and eighteenth. On the incoming journey each pair had a best ball of 33. The individual cards were:

Farrell 72, Sarazen 76, Smith 76, Diegel 72.

Fans Expecting Much From Horton Smith on Invasion of England

Brilliant Display Looked for From Youthful Professional—Lack of Foreign Tournament Experience May Be Handicap, Trumbull Says

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Babe Ruth stopped a ball game in Oklahoma. The bleacherites who wished to crowd around the great man couldn't even wait for the ninth inning to be played. Dempsey, during his active fighting days, never could appear on the street without being the innocent cause of a riot, and even today he is likely to stop traffic if he walks a downtown street. Now, young Horton Smith is learning what it means to be an idol of the proletariat. Trying to compete in a foursome, the main thing he did was to distribute autographs for eighteen holes. In place of playing golf, one might have supposed that he was playing the luring pipes of the Piper of Hamelin.

HORTON SMITH

Smith now has seen his pictures in every suit he owns. He has read accounts of his life and of all the incidents connected with his golfing career—some of which he recognizes. He has shaken hands with duffers from coast to coast. He has been compared to Lindbergh, Mathewson, Vardon, Alfred the Great, Will Rogers, George Washington, Alexander, the Prince of Wales, Thomas Edison and the man in the iron mask.

In spite of all this, Smith has remained an attractive, unspoiled young man, with a zest for his game, a curiosity concerning new sights and sounds and a sense of humor. This last quality may prove invaluable to him. He will need it.

MUCH EXPECTED OF HIM

Many have now convinced themselves that Horton Smith is sure to prove the most brilliant of the American stars in Britain. They expect him to shine in the Ryder Cup matches and then walk away with the British open. If he does, it will be the eighth wonder of the world.

Smith never has played abroad. Everything from customs to climate will be strange to him. Courses, conditions, wooden clubs—all will be new. Several of his comrades on the cup team, and others who will play as from the United States in the open, are experienced campaigners. Such experts as Hagen, Farrell, Diegel, Armour, Mac Smith, Bill Mehlhorn and others are veterans tried and true. It is more logical to suppose that they will be better equipped to meet conditions of play than a youngster on his first invasion of a strange land will be. If Horton Smith wins the British open he is a miracle man.

The Ryder Cup team is to be given a dinner at the New York Athletic Club tonight, in New York City, under the auspices of the Professional Golfers' Association. The team sails tomorrow and, as this is the first time some of its members have crossed the sometimes angry sea it may be the last dinner they actually will enjoy for some days.

LIKE TO CHEER WINNER

Whether he wins or loses abroad the fact remains that Horton Smith is the finest young player developed in the United States in many a moon. But if he should not go too well over there, he will find the requests for autographs has diminished during his absence. Nothing loses interest as quickly or forgets as soon as the populace. The crowd is out to cheer the winner. If a man doesn't win, all the rest is silence.

This has not been so true of Dempsey, because of that seventh round at Chicago. But in general the statement is correct. Interest in the old titleholder or the old recordholder grows dimmer with each passing year.

But it will make little difference in the long run what Horton Smith does abroad on this trip. There should be many other seasons for him. In the natural course of events, this boy has many a triumph in front of him. His fine personality and his undoubted talent should bring him many a victory and a full share of fame.

But, no matter to what golfing heights he may climb in future, it is scarcely probable that he ever will forget this first glow of the spotlight; this first big thrill. It is exciting to win from winners, and the music of cheers is sweet."

It is great to be young and a champion.

GOLF
AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Is it best to pitch all shots to the green, or is it better to play a run-up shot when possible?

Answered by
BOB CRUICKSHANK

The pitch shot is always a safe way to a green, but the run-up is often better if you have a clear space to the green. It is also easier in playing a run-up, a straight faced club should be kept low. The pitch and run, a combination of both, is also a very useful shot but rather difficult.

WALLACE HEADS QUALIFIERS AT MACAULEY CLUB

Runner-Up in B.C. Amateur Golf Tourney Turns In 80 to Lead Large Field in Club Championship

WEATHER MAKES SCORING HIGH

Norman Wallace, seventeen-year-old youngster, and runner-up in the recent British Columbia amateur golf championship, started off in the right manner in defence of his club championship on Sunday by winning the qualifying round at the Macauley Point Golf Club by turning in a card of 80, one stroke in front of Willard Wills.

The scores have a strong resemblance of those turned in in the qualifying round of the British Columbia amateur, the majority of them being over ninety and many over the century mark. High scoring was due to the heavy wind which blew over the course throughout the day and the heavy downpours which took place now and then, making the greens and fairways difficult to master.

Wallace, in capturing the qualifying round, shot consistent golf, considering the handicaps against him. He negotiated the first nine in 42 and traveled around the final nine in 38. Willard Wills, runner-up for the club title last year, annexed second place with a splendid 81. J. Burns and C. H. Christopher, a sixteen-year-old schoolboy, were deadlocked for third position with 83's while fourth berth went to W. H. Thornborrow with an 85. Scores of 91 and better qualified.

The first and second rounds of the championship flight and the first round of the first flight will be played next Sunday. The first and second rounds of all other flights will also be played the same day.

Wallace's card for the eighteen holes was as follows:

Out .... 5 3 5 5 6 5 6 4 3—42
In .... 4 3 4 3 5 5 6 5 3—38—80

Packed Arena Watches Speedy Montreal Crew Hand Vancouver Lions Setback in Strenuous Game—Final Game Billed Tomorrow Night

VANCOUVER, April 8.—Montreal Canadiens tied the exhibition hockey series between East and West, when they won tonight's game from the Vancouver Lions, of the Pacific Coast League, by a score of 4-1. The third game will be played Wednesday night.

The Lions started the scoring with a goal in the first period, but during the two succeeding periods were unable to penetrate the Easterners' net owing to the snappy work of the Montreal forwards and their defence. More than 10,000 fans witnessed the contest. The Canadiens outgeneraled the Lions and, after taking a three-goal lead, continued to press in three-man formation until the final whistle. The contest was marked by very strenuous play and spills with hard checking were the order of the evening.

CROWD GETS PEEVED

In the second period the crowd showed its disapproval of the tactics by littering the ice with paper and holding up the game until the surface was cleared. Vancouver's only count came well through the first period, Phillips scoring after taking a pass right in front of the net from Sanderson. The period was exceptionally fast.

In the second period Morenz evened the count on Patterson's pass after twelve minutes, while Gagne figured in the next score, assisting Mondou a minute and a half later. Near the close of the stanza, Jackson pulled two great saves from Morenz.

Two more Canadiens' scores came in the last period, and only hard checking prevented more. Morenz pulled a stirring solo rush to get the first one. The final counter was made by Lepine, who shot over Jackson's body as the local goalie was flat on the ice.

GRANDSTAND IS DISCUSSED AGAIN

Sport Representatives Heard by Royal Athletic Park Committee—$5,000 Voted for New Structure

Representatives from soccer, baseball, lacrosse and cycling met Alderman James Adam and Alderman Litchfield in the council chamber last night to discuss the proposed new grandstand for the Royal Athletic Park. Alderman Adam stated that the city had put aside the sum of $5,000 for the purpose of bettering the seating accommodation at the Royal Athletic Park, but before taking any steps towards spending the money he stated the committee wished to hear the opinions of different sport representatives.

William Oliphant, Jr., president of the Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League; Matt Hunter, past president of the S.C.A.B.A.; Alex Robertson, local representative of the S.C.F.A.; F. W. Reeves, member of the L.I.F.A.; J. Sullivan, Junior Football League; L. Gilver, Eagles' Baseball Club, and R. A. Hunt, Sons of Canada, were all of the opinion that the logical place for the proposed new structure was at the northwest corner of the Royal Athletic Park.

Speaking on the defence of the cycle track, Bob Peden, well-known local sportsman stated that it made no difference to him where the new structure was placed as long as the cycle track was left alone.

After hearing the remarks from the various representatives, Alderman Adam told the gathering that City Engineer Preston would be asked to make a plan of the new grandstand. In the meantime no steps would be taken by the Royal Athletic Park committee, he said.

CONNOR IS BADLY HURT BY HARRIS

SEATTLE, April 8.—The New York Americans left here tonight for Vancouver smarting under a 4-1 defeat handed them by the Seattle Eskimos in the second of their exhibition games. The Eskimos got through the Yankee defence repeatedly in the first period to roll up a three-goal lead that they were able to hold to the end.

EARL ROBERTSON

Harry Connor, big wing man of the Yanks, was painfully hurt late in the third period, when "Smokey" Harris accidentally kicked him in the face. Johnny Sheppard took a hard tumble in a head-on collision with Earl Robertson, Victoria goalie who filled in for the Eskimos, but was able to resume play in the third period. Lionel Conacher, star defence man of the Americans, was able to resume his post tonight after missing the Friday game, due to injuries sustained in Portland. The game marked the close of the hockey season in Seattle, the ice arena being closed after the session.

Young Stribling Willing to Meet Any Heavyweight

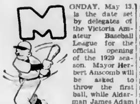

NEW YORK, April 8.—Still in the heavyweight fistic limelight, the Striblings, "Pa" and W. L. (Young) Stribling, came to town today to talk business with the two chief figures of metropolitan promotion, W. F. ("Big Bill") Carey and W. H. F. (Jack) Dempsey.

"The boy is ready to fight anybody in the heavyweight division to prove he still is a contender for the title," declared "Pa" Stribling. "I expect to talk with Carey tomorrow and with Dempsey on Thursday. Dempsey already has proposed several opponents for the boy, mentioning Jim Maloney, Otto Von Porat and others, but I have made no definite arrangements."

SENIOR BASEBALL LEAGUE WILL OPEN ON MAY 13

Five Clubs to Play In Loop This Year; Prospects Are Good

Sons of Canada, Eagles, Jokers, Tillicums and Sidney Will Have Strong Teams—Play-Off Series Will Be Introduced

MONDAY, May 13, is the date set by delegates of the Victoria Amateur Baseball League for the official opening of the 1929 season. Mayor Herbert Anscomb will be asked to throw the first ball, while Alderman James Adam will, it is expected, complete the battery. Prospects for the coming season look exceptionally bright, with promise of plenty of tough opposition. Five teams, Sons of Canada, Eagles, Jokers, Tillicums and Sidney, will operate this year, making the league the largest here for many years.

A schedule calling for thirty league games will be drafted in the near future. Each club will meet the others three times. Games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at the Royal Athletic Park. There is also a possibility of league fixtures being played at Sidney. Thomas Rigg, manager of the millmen, stated that money is being spent to improve the playing field there for the coming season.

An innovation will be introduced this season, that of a play-off series for the league championship, in which three teams will compete. The team finishing at the top on the completion of the schedule will receive a bye, while the second and third clubs will play a two-out-of-three series for the right to meet the leaders. The champions will be decided by the best three out of five games.

The league is anxious to admit the fair sex to all league games free of charge, but this matter was laid on the table until the officials see the Royal Athletic committee.

Season tickets will be printed and will soon be available from members of the various clubs.

Two umpires will be used in all games, and at last night's meeting "Allie" McGregor and Frank Moore were appointed.

UPLANDS WINS STRAITH CUP FROM COLWOOD

"A" Team Makes Fine Showing at Colwood but Lose by Four Points After Great Battle

UPLANDS "B" SIDE WINS DECISIVELY

Uplands golf representatives will take possession of the Straith Bros. Cup for the next twelve months as a result of their victory in the second half matches Sunday between the "A" and "B" teams of Colwood and the Uplands at the respective links.

R. H. Challoner led the Uplands "A" team out to the Colwood links to battle Colwood's first string group. They made a commendable showing despite the fact that they were playing away from home. The visitors broke even in the singles, each team chalking up ten points, while the foursomes were won by Colwood's team by four points. In the fourball matches the winner was in doubt until the last two matches were concluded.

While the senior groups were point gathering at the Colwood links, the "B" teams were playing at the Uplands Golf Club. A decisive victory was the result of the Uplands matches in favor of the home club. The visitors were only able to gain one and a half points, while Uplands registered eighteen and a half points in the singles. The foursomes went the same way, the home club walking off with practically every match. The final count was: Colwood, four and a half points; Uplands, thirty-five and a half points. Colwood won the first match by thirteen points, but lost Sunday by twenty-seven, giving Uplands the cup by fourteen points.

Bob Morrison, Uplands champion, went down before the great playing of Harold Lineham in the singles, while Harold Brynjolfson won a close struggle from Jack Matson in another feature match at Colwood. In the foursomes, Matson and Lineham played par golf to win from Brynjolfson and Morrison. The Uplands players were 2 up at the twelfth, but faltered on the last few holes to lose out. All the players in this match turned in scores in the seventies.

The results of the matches at Colwood, with Uplands players first named, follow:

ELK LAKE MAY BE USED FOR RACING

Outboard Motorboat Club Asks City for Permission to Use Sheet for Races This Summer

Permission to use Elk Lake for outboard motorboat races was asked of the City Council last night by the Victoria Outboard Motorboat Club. The organization wishes to hold four races this Summer, one each month, commencing May 22.

The club stated in its communication to the council that there was a likelihood of competition being brought from Seattle and Vancouver, and that an international meet might be possible as a result. Elk Lake lent itself admirably to this sport.

When it was suggested that the matter be referred to the water commissioner for report, Alderman Adam said he could see no objection to the lake being put to this use. It was of no more harm to the city's dormant watershed than swimming which was now permitted.

The City Council, however, decided to have a report from the water commissioner and also the city solicitor to ascertain how far the city's private act went in this regard.

Lester Patrick Arrives in City From New York

Lester only stayed a few hours here, returning to Vancouver to watch the Vancouver Lions and Montreal Canadiens play in the second game of the series. He will remain here for several months, and will devote much of his time trying to break par at the Colwood golf links.

Golf's Vital Plays as Told by Masters

Long Iron to Green Hardest to Execute Properly, Reekie Says—Primarily a British Shot, But Just as Potent This Side of the Atlantic

By WILLIAM M. REEKIE
Twice Metropolitan Amateur Champion
Written exclusively for The Colonist and The North American Newspaper Alliance
Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance

Harry Vardon once called the long iron to the green "the master shot of golf," and it is unquestionably just that. It is the hardest to execute properly, and the most beautiful to watch.

Primarily a British shot, because sweeping winds that whip the English courses demand low, hard hit irons to bore through them, it is just as potent a scoring factor on this side of the ocean.

I play this shot with the interlocking grip. The first finger of the left hand is over the little finger of the right, with the thumb down the shaft. The grip is tight, which helps in overcoming a tendency to take the club too far back. My feet are fairly close together.

The perfect long iron shot has a low trajectory and a terrific spin. To achieve this the ball must be struck on the down swing, the blade cutting through the turf but not being smothered. Most people in playing a midiron take the club too far back. This is ruinous to direction as well as power.

The best exponent of iron play I know of is Tommy Armour, who won the National Open championship in 1927. He hits a beautifully-timed and accurate ball. I don't imagine there are any better than he in this particular line.

The best midiron shot I ever saw was not made by Armour, but by a chap named Fred Kennedy, who might have become one of the immortals of golf had business not taken him away from the links.

We were playing on the Mississagau course at Toronto some years ago. It was a foursome of men pretty closely matched in ability. My partner and I won in the morning and we went out for another tussle in the afternoon.

The hole where Kennedy made his wonderful shot was 450 yards long, a par four. His drive came to rest in a hollow on the down slope of a hill; a very bad lie, particularly so in this case. Another hill rose before Kennedy, and he needed height as wall as distance to clear that mound and reach the green. I frankly didn't see how he could do it with the lie he had.

Kennedy cut into that ball with all his power. It rose high on a dead line with the pin, sailed over the intervening traps and landed plumb on the green within reasonable putting distance for a birdie three.

It was a marvelous shot. None better could have been made. I'm sorry to report that after a shot like that, Fred lost the hole anyway. He missed his putt, while I sank mine for the birdie that he should have had.

There are many instances of great iron shots being responsible for winning championships. No one will forget the one Cruickshank made on the eighteenth at Inwood to tie Bobby Jones for the National Open championship in 1923; nor the one Jones himself made on that very hole the next day to take the title away from Cruickshank in the play-off.

(Next—George Voight on the Second Shot).

General Election May Cause Change In British Amateur

LONDON, April 8.—British authorities announced today the amateur championship will be set back two weeks, starting June 10 instead of May 27, in the event of conflict of the earlier date with a general election. The tournament will be played on the Royal St. George's course at Sandwich.

115,000 WATCH FOOTBALL FINAL

Ill Feeling Shown Between Teams as Kilmarnock Defeats Rangers for Scottish Cup at Glasgow

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 8.—More than 115,000 people saw Kilmarnock defeat Glasgow Rangers by two goals to nothing Saturday and win the Scottish Football Cup. Kilmarnock, after having the worst of the play in the first half, reacted speedily after the interval. Their goals were netted by Aitken, former Clyde player, who came in as a substitute at the last minute for the injured Paterson, and J. Williamson.

Kilmarnock won the cup in 1920. This was Rangers' third defeat in a Scottish Cup final since the war. They won last year. The match developed ill feeling towards its conclusion.

The match was played in brilliant sunshine, though the temperature was not too high.

The Rangers conducted a number of fine offensives in the first half, but their luck was out. They should have been in possession of a good lead at halftime, but they could not pass Climie, the Kilmarnock goal keeper.

ST. ANDREWS WILL BE HERE SATURDAY

Flashy Mainland Soccer Aggregation Will Meet Esquimalt in Province Cup Match

Soccer fans are promised some classy football Saturday, when the flashy St. Andrews eleven from Vancouver visit here to meet Esquimalt in a Province Cup match at the Royal Athletic Park. The kick-off is set for 3.30 o'clock.

The Mainland aggregation is rated second only to the fast-stepping New Westminster Royals, Dominion champions, and will, no doubt, be favored to grab off a win at the expense of the dockers.

Esquimalt, in the limelight two or three seasons ago, have found difficulty in getting near the top this year. However, with their team at full strength, they should put up enough opposition for the visitors to make things interesting from a fan's point of view.

CHAMPS TO FIGHT BUT TITLES WILL BE LEFT IN STORAGE

NEW YORK, April 8.—The nation's boxing calendar for the coming week finds three champions willing enough to fight but at the same time careful enough to leave their titles in cold storage before they enter the ring.

Joe Dundee, who holds the welterweight title chiefly because he cannot be persuaded to defend it, Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill., who rules the lightweights, and Izzy Schwartz, of Niagara, recognized by his home state boxing commission as flyweight titleholder, all are down for items of a more or ordinary character.

Mandell should have little trouble with Benny Duse, of Grand Rapids, when they meet in Grand Rapids Friday night, nor should Schwartz be unduly extended by Roy Walley, of Manville, at San Francisco the same night. Both bouts will be at catch weights.

On the other hand, Dundee possibly will be in for an unpleasant evening at Boston on Friday when he meets Al Mello, of Lowell, in a return match at the Boston Garden. Mello gave the welterweight champion something of a trouncing in a recent match at Boston, and may do it again. As usual, Dundee has seen to it that his title is not at stake.

British Ryder Team Will Furnish Stiff Rivalry, Say Pros

Horton Smith and Ed. Dudley Confident That Englishmen Will Be Hard to Beat on Home Links—Americans Book Passage

Walter Hagen, captain of the Ryder Cup Team, is still in Detroit, but two of the most brilliant members of his squad are having a busy time in New York. Horton Smith and Ed. Dudley have been pretty well over the Manhattan courses. I found them yesterday lunching with Joe Williams and Bob Harlow, who manages Hagen, and who is the guide, philosopher and friend of most of the other professional wood and iron men in the United States. Horton Smith was just finishing a glass of milk, which I hope will be a hint to many little boys who wish to grow up and become champions.

WALTER HAGEN

It is true that neither Dudley nor Smith is a little boy, Ed. standing an even six feet and Horton topping him by an inch. Smith is blond, while Dudley is dark, which, on the theory of the attraction of opposites, may be why they are such good friends.

Dudley was born in Brunswick, Georgia, twenty-seven years ago. He began his golf there on a nine-hole course with sand greens. Later he played in Savannah and other larger cities and played so well that he soon got a job as a professional.

JOHNNY FARREL

Some few years ago he was teaching the young and old to shoot at Joplin. One of those matches between a professional and an amateur from nearby clubs was arranged and the professional at Springfield, Missouri, brought as his partner a kid who had been born in that town. His name was Horton Smith.

He was a little more than five years younger than Dudley, but the older golfer saw in him a great prospect. Dudley became one of Smith's first boosters and they have been friends ever since. They are rooming together at the Biltmore and they will room together on the Mauretania, when that ship leaves port next Wednesday with the Ryder Cup Team on board.

PICK STATEROOMS

Immediately after lunch yesterday we went down to the Cunard Line and they picked their quarters from those reserved for the team. Being on the job early, they secured one of the best rooms, near the one assigned to Johnny Farrell and his roommate. As neither youngster has been aboard before they were interested in the plan of the ship and asked many questions concerning the general layout. They also examined minutely the model of the Mauretania in its glass case. One thing they wished to know was the probable state of the weather for the crossing. I don't believe weather will make much difference to them, as neither wore either hat or overcoat, in spite of the rain and general dampness, to which they paid not the slightest attention.

From the steamship offices we went to the golfing sector of a department store and Smith began trying out every club he could reach. The first few he swung had shafts of steel.

"You might as well stop fooling with those," said Dudley. "You'll have to use wooden shafts on the other side."

In all the tournaments he has won, Smith has been using irons with wooden shafts, but drivers, brassies and spoons with shafts of steel. He will have to use all wooden shafts under the British rules and he told me that he thought it might make some difference in his game.

"It may take me a little time to get used to them," he said. "The feel of them isn't the same."

When he said that I looked at his hands and noticed that, while they appeared fair sized and strong, the fingers were rather long and sensitive looking. One might call them artistic fingers. Why not? Smith certainly is an artist at golf. I can see why Smith vaguely reminds some persons of Matty or Lindbergh, but beyond height and general coloring the resemblance is faint.

Both Mathewson and Lindbergh have seemed to me to have "sailors' eyes"—eyes that always appear to be looking at something way out toward the skyline. Smith has darker eyes than either, and they are live, vivid, interested eyes. Moreover, this boy doesn't seem to me to be the reserved, phlegmatic type. He is interested in everything he sees and an easy conversationalist.

"I don't think any one part of my game is especially strong," he said. "I know that there are several shots on which I am weak. But I am pretty steady. I don't get off the course very much and I have been lucky in keeping out of traps. In a couple of tournaments I know I must have been putting well, because I didn't have any three-put greens. When you play a round without a single three-put green, the ball is rolling for you."

PUTTS WITH WRISTS

Smith then took a putter and showed me how he stroked the ball and the difference between his putting and that of other great players, for example Bobby Jones. Smith's arms do not move. He seems to putt with his wrists, with the weight a little on the left foot, and standing fairly straight.

Before returning to the hotel, we dropped in at The American Golfer where Innis showed Smith many pictures of himself, in one of which the young star severely criticized his own golf form. Here, too, he managed to find a club or two to swing.

Both Smith and Dudley are much interested in New York as a general proposition. One thing they were curious to see was the Little-Church-Around-the-Corner. Someone had told them its history. They both spoke of being conscious of the eternal movement of so large a city and said they noticed a tightening of the nerves and felt the tension.

Both were confident that the British team would be hard to beat on its own links. Smith said that he thought the eight who played might be Duncan, Compston, Mitchell, the two Whitcombes, Boomer, Robson and Cotten, and added that they were all good golfers and that they had been doing more preparatory work than usual. He also pointed out that the British had brought Boomer home from France and Allis from Germany to add all possible strength to their team. The remaining member of the British forces is Stuart Burns, described by Smith as "A Scotch boy."

Both Dudley and Smith look like college men. If I met Smith, without knowing who he was, I'd take him for a college jumper or hurdler, or possibly a crew man. He has that build.

I have never spent an afternoon with two more attractive, likable young men. Tall, slender, well mannered, handsome, clean youngsters, they are of the type mothers used to make before the younger generation went jazz and became ultra modern. Smith and Dudley will be a credit to their team, their families and their country in whatever land they visit.

SEATTLE NEGRO CAPTURES LAP

Ed Gardner Wins Run From Hancock to Cumberland in Fast Time—Hamilton Man Quits Derby

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 8.—Heading for the Pacific Coast and home, Ed Gardner, Seattle negro, today, as yesterday, led C. C. Pyle's "bunion" derby into this control point, wresting the lead from John Salo, of Passaic, N.J.

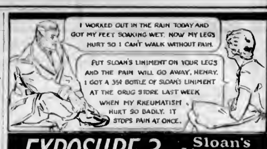

Gardner completed the thirty-nine miles from Hancock, Md., in 6.38.45.

HANCOCK, Md., April 8.—Thomas B. Ellis, of Hamilton, Ont., who stood thirteenth in C. C. Pyle's "bunion" derby, dropped from competition yesterday because he was kicked in a tendon by a runner. Although he finished Saturday, he suffered great pain. Yesterday at the starting point he announced he was through. He finished last year's jaunt from the Pacific Coast, although not in the money.

RELEASE PHEASANTS AT LAKE COWICHAN

Government Stock Turned Down on Logged-Off Lands in Sporting District

LAKE COWICHAN, April 8.—The Government has released a number of pheasants at Cowichan Lake and on the logged-off lands at Charter Siding.

The pheasants came from the Government Game Farm at Saanich, and are a healthy looking lot of adult birds. It will be a great advantage to have infusion of new blood with the present stock, other birds having been released at the lake several years ago.

It is hoped that the Government will continue to release pheasants here until a large stock is built up, as this district is particularly suitable for the propagation of these birds owing to the quantity of food.

Also this area will make a large public shooting ground, making another wonderful sporting district, one which will be among the most accessible in the Province and at the same time solving the problem of pheasants destroying the crops in the agricultural districts.

MR. JOHN MAXWELL BURIED AT DUNCAN

DUNCAN, April 8.—The funeral of Mr. John Maxwell, who passed away at the King's Daughters' Hospital on Friday last, after a long illness, was held from the United Church on Sunday afternoon. A large number of friends and neighbors attended. Rev. W. P. Burns conducted the service at the church and at Mountain View Cemetery. The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The pallbearers were all neighbors on Gibbin's Road, Messrs. Bugh Savage, John Weismiller, George MacNeal, John H. Thomson, A. Whitbourne and W. J. Curray. Mr. Maxwell, with his surviving brother William, resided for ten years on Gibbin's Road, moving there from Duncan, where he had lived for one year. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved brother. Another brother, two sisters and a half-sister, all living in the United States, also survive. The deceased was sixty-four years of age. R. H. Whidden had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Alert Bay Badminton

ALERT BAY, April 4 (By mail)—The open singles badminton championship was decided April 3 before a good turn-out of spectators, in the Parish Hall. The prize was a beautiful silver cup, presented by Rev. F. Comley. Members of the Alert Bay Badminton Club and the Parish Hall Badminton Club competed. The first and second rounds of the competition were played in the hall, March 22. The following players were left to play off the third round: Dr. Watson, J. Enfield and J. Burgess representing the A.B.B.C. and Gilbert Cook, Christopher Cook and Steven Warren representing the Parish Hall Club. In the third round C. Cook eliminated J. Enfield 15-1; G. Cook beat C. Cook 15-11. In the semi-final S. Warren eliminated Dr. Watson 21-18 and G. Cook beat J. Burgess 21-16. In the final G. Cook won the cup by defeating S. Warren 21-11.

The matches between S. Warren and Dr. Watson, also between J. Burgess and Gilbert Cook, produced very fine badminton, the winner of the cup especially displaying wonderful control and judgment.

Cumberland Cricket

CUMBERLAND, April 8.—The Cumberland cricket team have been invited to open the season at the Nanaimo cricket ground on Sunday, May 5, when a team from the Hub city will oppose Cumberland.

Minister of Mines To Present Prizes At Indoor Meet

CUMBERLAND, April 8.—All arrangements for the big first aid indoor meet to be held Saturday in the Ilo-Ilo Hall, have been completed, and it is expected that Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, will be present, and will present the prizes to the successful contestants. The prizes are on view at the store of Campbell Bros., making a wonderful display of beautiful and useful gifts.

A free dance will follow the competitions.

BURNS' ADMIRERS FAIL TO RALLY

CUMBERLAND, April 8.—The illustrated lecture, concert and dance which followed the serving of refreshments at the Anglican Hall, under auspices of the Cumberland Cronies' Burns' Club, proved to be very interesting and entertaining, and it is to be regretted that there was such a sparse attendance. It was a great disappointment to the executive of the club to see such a poor turn-out at the lecture, as it was felt that the subject, "Burns and Scotland," would have been of great interest to the many Scotch people residing in the district.

Rev. E. G. Robathan operated the picture machine, Mr. R. Strachan delivering a thoughtful lecture on Burns, the poet. Songs and instrumental selections by well-known local artists made up a well balanced programme. The dance which followed was a merry one, music being supplied by the Byng Boys' Orchestra.

Mayne Exhibition Committee Chosen

MAYNE, April 8.—The annual meeting of the Mayne Island Exhibition was held on Thursday afternoon, in the hall, and was well attended. Lady Constance Fawkes was re-elected president, Colonel Flick becomes treasurer, Mr. Houlgate, secretary, and Mesdames Foster, Elverson, West and Houlgate, and Mr. Hall are the committee. As usual, the exhibition will be held in August, on a date to be announced later, and it is hoped to have the honor of having the Lieutenant-Governor at the opening.

Buried at Cumberland

CUMBERLAND, April 8.—The funeral of Norio Herose, the fifteen-year-old Japanese schoolboy who died on Tuesday, took place on Thursday afternoon, amidst many expressions of sympathy from the Japanese settlers of the district. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. G. Robathan, vicar of Holy Trinity Anglican Church.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, including a magnificant wreath from the teaching staff and class mates of the Cumberland High School.

GHANDI GRIEVES

BOMBAY, India, April 8.—"My Shame and Sorrow" is the title given by Mahatma Ghandi, Nationalist leader and mystic, to a signed article in his vernacular weekly paper, Navan Javan, in which he tells the world of the moral lapses of some of his followers who are inmates in his institution at Ahmedabad, "Saturagraga Ashram."

Ghandi takes the blame for the sins of his disciples on himself. He quotes the case of his cousin who "committed petty larcenies"; that of his own wife, who, "despite her vow of renunciation of private property, was twice discovered in possession of small private funds amounting to between 200 and 400 rupees, and that of a young bachelor, who, "despite his vow of celibacy, seduced a widow who was believed to be pure."

Sets Style

This lovely New York girl, now appearing in George White's famous "Scandals," has plenty of personality. Not only has she won Broadway's admiration by the cleverness of her acting and dancing, but she has literally "set the style" for Fifth Avenue by the way she dresses her hair.

"Girls in my position must do everything to keep their appearance pleasing," says Miss Manners. "But I lead such a busy life that I can only use the simplest methods. I know I have discovered the easiest way of doing my hair. It's so popular now here in New York. It keeps my hair so easily manageable that I can dress it any way I want and it stays in place wonderfully. All I do is put a litle Danderine on my brush every time I use it. My hair was dull and wiry before I started using Danderine. Now it's so bright and sparkling and so soft and fluffy that everyone compliments me. Danderine soothes my scalp and keeps away all traces of dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean, I don't need to shampoo half as often as I used to."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from the hair; brings out its natural color, makes it fairly sparkle. It keeps your hair soft and easily manageable while you're letting it grow to the new length. It helps stop dandruff. It is delightfully fragranced, isn't oily, doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. Over five million used a year. (Advt.)

CHAMBER MUSIC

Sixty Minutes of Popular Dance Hits Offered Over CFCT Tonight

The delightful combination of violin, 'cello and piano will be heard over the local station this evening, when the Sunset Trio offers an hour of chamber music for the pleasure and enjoyment of radio listeners. The nightly hour with the Sunset Broadcasters over CFCT will open with "Two Hindu Pictures," by Hansen, commencing at 8:15 o'clock. A concert waltz by Joyce, "Chanson de mon Coeur," will then be rendered, followed by Rachmaninoff's "Serenade" and Pessard's "Andalouse."

Victoria's radio station will also be the medium for bringing the "Allegretto" from Grieg's "Violin Sonata" to the fireside of unseen listeners, while Coleridge-Taylor's "Petite Suite de Concert," played in three parts, will be heard toward the conclusion of the hour's music.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock the microphones of CFCT will be placed in the south ballroom of the Crystal Garden, when the orchestra will be heard in sixty minutes of popular dance melodies, and then Victoria's radio station will be silent soon after midnight.

"Has your present wife a more even temper than your first had?"
"More even? No! Even more."

Fish Caught in Streets

GALT, Ont., April 8.—Two fish were caught in the streets of Galt yesterday. Struggling through the torrents which swept Water Street, one man noticed a fifteen-inch sucker. He plunged into the stream and secured his prey. Another sucker was caught when it swam into the cellar of a house.

Farmer (on one side of the hedge, to boy on the other side): "Now then, my lad, didn't I tell you not to let me catch you here again?"

Boy (preparing to run): "All right, don't make a fuss. You ain't caught me yet!"

STOCK MARKET WORKS LOWER; SESSION DULL

Coppers Under Pressure—High Price of Metal Reported to Be Causing Curtailment of Orders

HIGH GRADE BONDS CHIEFLY FAVORED

NEW YORK, April 8.—The stock market worked irregularly lower in the dullest session so far this year today. With the Supreme Court reconvening in Washington, traders were disposed to mark time in expectation of decisions affecting stocks, and in the meantime found little encouragement in the credit situation.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, and with the slow pace of trading, funds were adequate at that rate. Copper stocks were under pressure, in response to rumors that the high price for copper metal is curtailing orders. Anaconda dropped 6 and Cananea more than 7 points. Federal Mining & Smelting dropped 18 points in a small turnover.

Such issues as American Telephone, Radio, Consolidated Gas and Standard Oil of California sagged about 2 points each.

Commercial Solvents mounted 8 points, then slipped back 10. American Express shot up 13 points to a new high of 409, in anticipation of the announcement of acquisition by Chase National Bank, and closed at 400. Woolworth mounted about 8 points to a new high, while Safeway Interstate Department and Macy & Company were in good demand. Mail order stocks, however, were heavy.

General Motors and Chrysler sagged a point and more, and Murray Corporation and Mack Truck mounted 3 and 4 points.

Foreign exchanges were firm, with sterling ruling about 1-8 of a cent higher.

New York Traction bonds slumped fractionally to 5 points with stocks today. The bond market trading session showed a generally weaker trend, except in the high grade rails and industrial issues.

Whitney Letter

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, April 8.—Whitney says today:

It would appear that your analysis of what transpired in the closing few minutes of Friday's market was a correct one, and was the belief that the selling movement would be carried over into Saturday's session and provide a point at which stocks should be purchased, while Saturday's market contributed no radical advance. It was, nevertheless, a particularly significant session in that it indicated that the early part of this week at least will witness higher prices in at least three groups, viz.: Oils, steels and rails. For the additional advances which will be recorded in these groups, there will be plenty of justification.

For the oils, as previously stated, there is a production restriction programme which will be carried out with the aid of the Government, even though the Attorney-General, due to an antiquated law, cannot officially give a clean bill of health to each and every step which is taken. The steps will be taken, however, and everything which it is desired to accomplish will be accomplished in just a slightly different method and to the accompaniment of Government cancellation of thousands of drilling permits.

For the rails, we have expanding earnings, and scheduled for this week, a Supreme Court decision and a favorable ruling from the Interstate Commerce Commission on one of the most important petitions before it. For the steel stocks, a gain in earnings, higher prices and new business coming in faster than capacity operation of the mills can fill orders, as will be disclosed by the U S Steel tonnage statement on Wednesday.

In the oils, continue to buy Standard of New Jersey below 60, Standard of New York below 45, for co-leaders Standard of California is a purchase at any price it has sold at this year, and the deal with Gulf Oil is going through, despite official denials, as will a deal between Standard of New York and Vacuum Oil. In lower price range, Pan-American is as good as Standard Oil. In the lower priced yet, Superior Oil. In steel group, continue to buy U S Steel and Bethlehem, and do not overlook C F I. In rails, believe the so-called Van Sweringen rails will be the leaders with the new record coming for Allegheny. Elsewhere through the list look for new record for the year in Marine preferred, which is almost as attractive between 47 and 50 as it was between 41 and 45. Baldwin Loco recapitalization plan will be announced this week, indications pointing to elimination of preferred stock and four-for-one split in common. Texas Gulf Sulphur is just about the surest profit maker on the list if purchased before it records a new top. Continue to buy American Telephone & Telegraph below 225, National Cash Register below 132 as well as Associated Drygoods.

An advertisement, to get results, must be believed.

Many advertisements have good illustrations, excellent headlines, strong appeals, effective lay-outs, logical arguments and represent dependable merchandise, but a few statements which sound exaggerated weaken the whole ad because the reader feels that, if one fact is overstated, probably many others are. In an effort to make his ad forceful the writer makes claims which the public doubts or knows are overstated.

A conservative statement which is believed is worth many extravagant claims which are doubted. The statement "This toothpaste cleans quicker" is much more apt to be believed than the broad claim, "The world's best toothpaste." Almost any reader would discount the latter as a clever advertising phrase, but would accept the former as descriptive of the product.

Mining News

(H. S. Hunnings & Co., Ltd.)

CALGARY, April 8.—McLeod No. 2 will not be drilled deeper in the hope of obtaining production at the McLeod No. 4 zone until difficulties at McLeod No. 3 have been overcome. The roller swedge with which to straighten the casing at United No. 4 is expected to arrive this week and meanwhile the well is producing sixty-five to seventy-five barrels of crude oil daily. When tools were run into this well after the derrick had been destroyed by fire it was found that the casing had become pinched some distance down the hole, with the result that before fishing can be continued, this will have to be swedged into shape.

A bailing test is being conducted at Devenish No. 3, but no figures are available, it was stated by J. H. McLeod, producing manager of the Imperial Oil Company.

McDougall Segur No. 2 was 107 feet in the lime Saturday evening when working laid off. The formation was still hard, though becoming a little softer, but there was no change in the gas flow.

With the obstruction in the hole the full flow of gas is not being obtained at Okalta No. 1, it was stated Saturday evening.

TORONTO, April 8.—Royalite No. 14 and No. 18, the last two big naphtha producers of the Turner Valley, will be cleaned out and deepened. No. 14 for a time gave a flow of 24,000,000 cubic feet of gas, but has slowed down to about 10,000,000.

Eastcrest well, east of Mayland, has entered Dalhousie sands at 3,795 feet. Intention is to carry to lime, unless there is better production in Dalhousie sands.

McDougall No. 2 is drilling in hard formation.

McLeod No. 2 will be drilled to the same depth as No. 4. It is now 730 feet in lime.

Advance Oil will increase its capital to 1,000,000 shares of no par value. A shareholders' meeting to authorize this will be held on April 15.

Royalite No. 8 flow jumped up to 15,000,000 cubic feet.

Home No. 2 well casing has been cemented in the lime and the diamond drill will be ready to drill the well in as soon as the cement hardens sufficiently.

Mayland No. 1 is down 5,270 feet. Wall looks first class.

No. 1 Okalta which has been running wild for a week, was placed under control Saturday night, and is now on separators. This well was termed a second million-dollar well, but later developed casing trouble and froze up.

Mayland down 5,290 feet in very hard formation, approaching lime.

Mercury 950 feet down. Okalta under control and producing 200 barrels daily. Still some obstruction in hole which accounts for decreased production from last time well flowed.

McLeod No. 3 will likely be given its second shot Monday.

Royalite No. 8 keeping up good gas flow. No effort will be made to remove the remainder of pipe in the hole as long as it keeps up production around 15,000,000 feet of gas. Should give over 200 barrels of naphtha.

Home No. 3 fishing, job not difficult one, according to Imperial officials. Cooper-Nanton taking up option on Eastcrest shares, and the company will be liquidated and reorganized, and are contemplating resuming drilling on its old wells. Cooper-Nanton has 203,000 shares issued and shareholders receive one Eastcrest for each Cooper-Nanton.

Okalta No. 1 nearly ready for complete hook up on separators, and in the meantime gas flow continues steady at a rate of 35,000,000 cubic feet. No. 2 will be drilled down to pay sand from present level, where it is giving crude oil.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, April 8.—The raw sugar market was steady and unchanged at 3.58 for spots, duty paid. There was not much inquiry, however, and the only sale reported was 14,000 bags of Philippines for June and July shipment to an operator at 3.83 delivered.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged at 4.80 for fine granulated with a better withdrawal demand reported.

PANIC AFFECTS EARLY MARKET

WHEAT MAKES BIG UPWARD JUMP AT WINNIPEG GRAIN MART

Buying All Local—Statement by President Hoover Given Credit for Causing Rise

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, April 8.—The wheat market was panicky during the first hour today and after opening ⅜ lower based on the disappointing cables, the market reacted on the strength being shown by Chicago and prices actually advanced 3c from the opening low marks, while Chicago scored a gain of over 3c. The buying here was all local and chiefly short covering, as no export business could be discovered as being worked over the week-end, and seaboard houses were not in the market. The same class of buying was reported from Chicago.

The cause of the strength in wheat was credited to a statement by President Hoover, giving the new Federal Farm Board plenty of money and broad powers to work out its own destiny, which will probably mean buying up a large part of the United States surplus wheat and holding it off the world's markets. There were a few slight reactions, but both markets reached the high point during the last hour of trading. In the cash market there was a fair demand early for No. 4 wheat and lower grades, while other grades were neglected. Offerings continue light and buyers are satisfied with small lots.

All spreads were unchanged except No. 3 Northern, which was 1-4 lower. Actually the demand for cash wheat is extremely quiet. The weather has turned cold in the Canadian West, and snow flurries were reported from a large number of points and more is forecast. Heavy rains fell over the week-end over parts of the Winter wheat belt. Markets on this side will be technically weaker for today's short covering, and we advise extreme caution in following further upturns.

Outside of shorts covering in the coarse grain markets there was very little doing. There was no export business in anything and the consumptive demand was very poor generally. The strength in wheat and corn was the main feature.

The Flax market closed higher in sympathy with the strength in the general grain list. Demands continues slow.

Wall Street Journal

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, April 8.—New York Traction shares broke sharply in today's late trading following the announcement of the Supreme Court which completely overthrew the basis for a 7 cent fare on the Interboro Rapid Transit. Previous to the publication of the decision, I.R.T. advanced sharply on hopes that the court interpretation would be favorable. When the actual decision was announced pandemonium broke loose around the I R T post. Specialists in the stock were flooded with offerings and the price took a sheer drop of 25 points to around 30. Other New York tractions, including Brooklyn Manhattan, Third Avenue, Manhattan Modified also experienced convulsive setbacks.

Extreme weakness in the traction shares had a disturbing influence on the whole list. During the morning dealings price movements were mixed, with rails fairly strong on the Chesapeake decision. Steels steady and coppers under pressure. However, the general selling movement which broke out in the tractions was short-lived. Strong support came into pivotal shares during the last half-hour and a somewhat better tone developed in the main body of stocks.

Mine News Bulletin

The general public is beginning to realize that the Pend Oreille announcement has considerably more to it than first impressions gave. For instance, while no section of ore reserves was made, it is pointed out that the Reeves positive ore reserves are now in excess of eight million tons, and will be doubled by this Summer's work. In other words, on two thousand tons daily capacity, working 300 days per year, ore reserves on Reeves alone are sufficient for twenty-five years' operation without figuring any Pend Oreille ore reserves, which are presumed to exceed Reeves.

It is further pointed out that interests desirous of securing control through the purchase of rights would naturally not come out with their connection, otherwise their participation in lapsed rights would only embrace 600,000 shares or that amount represented by Larsen's personal holdings, in addition to putting the market out of reach as far as additional shares are concerned, necessary to guarantee absolute control. Estimated initial earnings on reorganized outstanding capital will show $2.72 per share, figuring pure lead and zinc on 7 1-2 cents per pound basis with an additional 65 cents per share for every cent advance in the price of metals. Taking a price of $16 per share and adding rights thereto or an average of $7.50 per share, earnings will work out at 36 per cent per annum. Under the circumstances, there seems little doubt that the price of Pend Oreille Mine and Metal shares will gradually work higher to a price of $20 to $25, or to a basis commensurate with earnings possibilities. It is understood the set-up of assets and liabilities in the new company will show valuation of new stock of $20 per share. A statement to shareholders with the fuller details is now in course of preparation for circulation by the company, and will iron out certain phases now in doubt. The stock is expected to continue to strengthen.

Speculation Costs Millions

Speculation costs the citizens of Canada many millions of dollars annually. Figures prove it does not pay. There is no reason for this loss of savings in precarious "Investments." The same expert counsel is available to small savings as to large capital. The only difference is that careful investors seek advice, while small capital yields to sales talks and risks all on unproved promises.

No matter how small the sum may be, get the facts from us or some other disinterested institution. There is no obligation.

OIL ISSUES ON UPWARD MOVE

Home Oil and Dalhousie Are Favorites—General List Steady or Slightly Higher

PRICE MOVEMENTS IN MINES MIXED

VANCOUVER, April 8.—The demand for oil issues was strong on the stock exchange with the close showing a general upward movement. Mining shares, on the other hand, were weak. A fair demand came out during the morning session, but weakness during the afternoon slowed up interest.

Home Oil was the strongest issue on the boards, and after opening 15 cents weaker at 18.75, quickly moved up to $20.00 and closed with a net gain of 1.00 at 19.90. Dalhousie was another favorite, opening 4 cents stronger at 5.25, touching 5.60 and finishing with a net gain of 29 at 5.50. A.P.C. was in demand and firmed up at 6 cents to 3.21. Royalite on a small turnover hardened 6.00 to 156.00. The balance of the oil list was steady to 50 cents higher.

In the mines Pend Oreille was fairly strong during the early trading, moving between 6.75 and 6.10 but fell away in the afternoon to close 35 cents easier at 5.40. Reeves McDonald held fairly steady during the early trade, easing off 15 cents to 2.80 at the close.

Grandview lost a point to 46 1-2, and Big Missouri 5 to 1.20. George Copper was 25 cents stronger at 6.50, and Noble Five, on a good demand moved up 5 cents to close at 72. Price changes in the balance of the list were narrow and mixed.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

NEW YORK, April 8.—Selling during the first hour on Saturday probably represented liquidation of speculative positions inspired by the desire to stand aside for the present, and also perhaps because of the growing belief that the high cost of carrying stocks might more than offset profit possibilities.

It is obvious that during the past few days thin markets have developed in a large number of issues, which are moving within a relatively narrow range. It is anticipated that the easing in the call money market, which was a feature of the latter part of last week, will continue in early part of this week, but still in the background is the credit restriction still strongly in effect.

From a trading standpoint, steel shares apparently continue to offer best opportunities. It is practically a surety that United States Steel and Bethlehem showed almost record-breaking earnings in the first quarter, and the figures when published late this month are expected to show that Bethlehem Steel earned the full year's dividend in the first three months, with new profits on United States Steel perhaps over $5 a share.

Rail shares are virtually neglected, and yet it is possible to list a number of well-known transportation stocks whose present market valuations are not more than ten times current rate of earnings.

Such a list would include Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison, Union Pacific, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Rock Island, Erie, New Haven and Pennsylvania. Seasoned dividend payers like Southern Pacific and Southern Railway are currently selling not more than eleven times indicated earnings.

COMING EVENTS

Phillips Pete—Since the first of the year Phillips has added more than 100 retail sales outlets to its marketing facilities through which it now distributes about 1,000,000 gallons a day. This retail marketing is a relatively new development with the company and should prove an important source of revenue in the future. At current levels Phillips Pete offers attractive opportunities for investment as well as for short term trading.

A. M. Byers is meeting with excellent buying and should sell much higher over the long pull. While this year's earnings will not show any marked increase, future results are expected to be such as to warrant at least double the present prices for the stock.

Magma Copper—Earnings for the current year are expected to about double those of 1928. If the present rate of production is maintained for the remainder of the year, the output will approximate 40,000,000 pounds of copper. In comparison with the other copper stocks, Magma Copper is underpriced.

American Steel Foundries is being well bought by interests close to the management. The company's unfilled offers show a gain of 25 per cent over those of last year, and earnings for 1929 should reflect the greater volume of business. American Steel Foundries is expected to sell higher.

WALL STREET MIRROR

Purely speculative interest in the stock market dwindled away on Saturday and it was evident that a large percentage of operators did not appear on the floor or Street in the half day at the end of the week. Some of the large operators who often direct price movements over a wide range also have become inactive because of impaired resources.

Little attention was paid all through last week to any other matter except the credit situation and the attitude of the Federal Reserve Board. The stock market has been of such a character in recent trading that many of the leading financial interests believe that all the results desired by the Federal Reserve Board have already been obtained, and that there will be no definite step taken by the Reserve Board to further check security trading under prevailing conditions. Leading oil interests were confident that the various steps taken toward controlling the crude oil output have already had good results in the movement to curtail production, including the contraction of production in the fields which furnish most of the excess of supply. With the industry approaching the period of greater consumption of crude oil products it was believed that the position of the oil stocks will develop increased strength, and that many of those stocks will be strong features the coming week.

Nearly all the speculative holdings of oil stocks were liquidated following the statements made by President Hoover and Attorney-General Mitchell. According to those who have studied the market situation there are no further holdings hanging over the market. It was insisted in one quarter that Standard Oil of New Jersey, in which speculative trading was greatest a week ago, will again be the leader of an upward movement in oil stocks. The market was not cheerful on the copper stocks, the general impression being that the advance to 24 cents has been too hurried and that a reaction should naturally be expected.

CARRIER SHARES SHOW STRENGTH

Prices Generally on New York Stock Market Irregular—Steady Near the Close

NEW YORK, April 8.—Prices on the stock market were somewhat irregular at the beginning of trading today. Shares of the various carriers were strong reflecting the announcement over Sunday of the I.C.C. favorable decision with respect to C. & O. application to list additional stock.

Chesapeake & Ohio enjoyed a spirited rally closely followed by B. & O., New York Central, and other representative railroad issues. In the industrial stocks price movements were somewhat mixed, with steel shares generally strong and coppers under continued pressure. In the oil division of the list, a resumption of accumulation was observable by interests who are of the opinion that recent efforts to stabilize the industry have had a very good effect on the petroleum industry in general.

Around midday the general list developed a somewhat heavy tone, but on the decline some good buying entered the market, which steadied prices generally. American Can was a strong spot, advancing sharply to a new high for the present shares. The buying in American Can today, no doubt, was based on the rather optimistic reports with respect to the company's earnings at the present time, which are said to be running substantially ahead of those last year, and the prospects for a continuation are regarded as excellent. In the afternoon dealings the shares of the various local traction companies advanced sharply in anticipation of a favorable decision. This had been against them, and the various issues declined rapidly, and at the close the general list exhibited a rather irregular tone.

We are of the opinion that the market will continue to be a trading affair for the present.

Another warning has been issued by the Federal Reserve Bank. Stocks refused to be liquidated and business is doubtful in its outlook on the controversy between Washington and the stock market. That seems to sum up the financial situation as it was last week in the one aspect that is of chief interest to persons throughout the country, that which has been accomplished by the Federal Reserve is something; the stock market has been checked in its stride and a moderate reaction has taken place. Brokers loans have been reduced by a small margin in comparison with the large total. But it must be considered that the Reserve board has not accomplished its purpose, and therefore it is to be imagined that further pressure will be applied.

DELEGATES ATTEND SERVICE AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

Mr. Ernest Raymond, author of "Tell England," "Through Literature to Life," etc., was speaker in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday morning, when this old Paulian, war padre and novelist, told his hearers of the purpose and message of education.

Among the congregation were Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon, Hon. R. R. Bruce and Miss Mackenzie, delegates to the conference and members of the local committee of the National Council of Education, members of the Provincial Cabinet, the Mayor and aldermen, members of the school board and other public bodies. Viscount Willingdon read the lessons.

After the service the Dean of Columbia and Mr. J. C. M. Keith, the architect, conducted the delegates over the new cathedral building.

A newsboy was excitedly running down the village street at top speed when he met the mild and benevolent Vicar of the parish. "Have you heard the distressing news of the Dean who was found dead in a box, sir?" the boy asked. "No," the Vicar answered in surprise. "What Dean was it?" "Why, the sardine, of course," was the quick reply, as the youth hastened away.

Lightfoot Guards His Antlers

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Peter Rabbit continued to visit Lightfoot the Deer, for Peter was very much interested in those new antlers growing on the head of Lightfoot. It was astonishing how fast they grew. It sometimes seemed to Peter as if he could almost see them grow. It interested him to see the very great care that Lightfoot took of them.

"I don't see," said Peter, "how you manage to get around through the woods without injuring those antlers. You say they are soft and tender. You must hit them every once in a while against branches."

"Why must I?" demanded Lightfoot.

"I didn't mean just that," explained Peter. "What I meant was that you cannot get around without sometimes hitting them."

"Why not?" asked Lightfoot.

"Well, I don't see how you can," said Peter.

"That's different," replied Lightfoot. "If I were such a happy-go-lucky, heedless sort of fellow as you are, very likely I wouldn't be able to. There is nothing like knowing how, Peter; nothing like knowing how."

"I guess," said Peter, "that if you had to run very fast through thick woods or bushes those antlers of yours would get hit a good many times."

"They might," replied Lightfoot, "but I don't think so. It is my business to see that they don't get hit, and I have learned my business pretty well, if I do say so. Now, if you will excuse me, I think I will go down to my favorite thicket and lie down for a while."

"Look out Buster Bear don't get you," chuckled Peter.

"He won't if you are around, I am quite sure," replied Lightfoot, whereat Peter looked pleased.

Lightfoot started off and Peter watched him go. There were some rather low branches on the trees in the direction Lightfoot had chosen. It seemed as if he certainly must hit those tender growing antlers, but he didn't. It was a sight worth seeing to watch him pass through the woods. He turned his head ever so little this way, he twisted a bit that way. He didn't pause, but kept going right on, yet never once did anything more than leaves touch those antlers. Peter just sat there and admired the clever way in which Lightfoot took care of those precious antlers. Finally, Lightfoot disappeared in his favorite thicket.

"He did what?" inquired Sammy Jay, alighting in a tree near Peter.

"He did it," said Peter, quite as if he couldn't believe what he was himself saying.

"He did what?" inquired Sammy Jay, alighting in a tree near Peter.

"Lightfoot went right down through all those young trees and bushes without once hitting his antlers," explained Peter.

Sammy nodded. "Of course he did," said he. "I could have told you he would. If he hadn't he would have some badly shaped antlers. He cannot afford to take any chances with those antlers while they are growing."

"Well," said Peter, "there is one thing I am glad of."

"What is that?" inquired Sammy.

"That I'm not a Deer," replied Peter. "That I'm not a Deer, and so don't have to wear horns. They may be very nice to fight with, but they certainly are troublesome things to grow."

PASSION PLAY MAY BE SEEN IN NEW YORK

David Belasco Asked to Sponsor Appearance of Freiburg Players of Freiburg, Baden

OLD DREAM ABOUT TO BE REALIZED

NEW YORK, April 8.—Mr. David Belasco for many years has dreamed the dream of producing in America's greatest city the Passion Play, which traces the holy spirit of Christ from the crucifixion to the resurrection. Today it seems that his dream is in process of fulfillment, for he has been besought by the Freiburg Passion Players of Freiburg, Baden, in association with Morris Gest, to sponsor their appearance in New York City at the Century Theatre.

The Freiburg Players are headed by members of the Fassnacht family, who appear in the principal roles, including that of Christus. This group began portrayal of the sacred spectacle in the year 1264, or 400 years before the Oberammergau players began their annual offering. For seven generations, or since 1760, the Fassnacht family has carried on in the principal roles.

Back of David Belasco's ambition to produce the Passion Play in New York are several motivating influences. First, as a child during his life in British Columbia, Mr. Belasco was a pupil in a Catholic monastery with Father McGuire, an aged priest, as his mentor. Out of this contact grew a deep spiritual reverence for all things religious, and for all sincere religious forms, regardless of sect or creed. This has been one of the deepest influences in Mr. Belasco's life and was the cause of his turning to a production of the Passion Play in San Francisco in February, 1879, with E. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin as a financial sponsor.

ENGAGES JAMES O'NEILL

David Belasco, then in the youth of his production life, obtained the services of James O'Neill, even then a famous actor, for the role of Christus. Belasco thereupon scoured the schools, churches and homes of the city for an ensemble of more than 600 persons, infants, children and adults. The result was a cast unequaled in the annals of the theatre for many years to come.

The spirit of the play swept the city. O'Neill and all of the members of the cast gave up all social pleasures and lived the lives of the deeply religious. Mr. Belasco, obsessed by the beauty of the production, went about the city with a Bible before his eyes and with the influence of Father McGuire recreated in his mind. The performance was given with a simplicity which amounted to grandeur, and it is recorded that, at the first and all succeeding performances, the audiences knelt and prayed when the mob inflicted the crown of thorns on the patient brow of the Christ.

When David Belasco came to New York in 1889 and became associated with the Mallory brothers at the Madison Square Theatre, he found a new incentive to produce the Passion Play again. George H. Mallory, the elder brother, was a pastor as then the most influential ecclesiastical journal in the country.

APPROVES PLAN

Mallory was thoroughly in accord with Mr. Belasco's ambition to produce the great religious spectacle, and often they discussed plans for it. Subsequently Salmi Morse, author of the original San Francisco version, was induced to come to New York. "Lucky" Baldwin had financed the California version for $100,000—equal to the sum of half a million dollars today—but New York financiers open-handedly agreed to put up unlimited funds as well for the New York production.

But the plan was doomed to failure. Salmi Morse, failing in health, was ordered by his physicians to the country for a rest and while recuperating met death by drowning. The project then was abandoned, and O'Neill, who had come on from the Coast to play the Christus, was obliged to return.

"Never," said Mr. Belasco today, "have I been content to forget my ambition to produce the Passion Play. Within me is a love and reverence for religion, and a deep and abiding belief that the world will be bettered for a faithful, loving exposition by living players of the wondrous story of the crucifixion and resurrection.

"That ambition has been realized at last through Morris Gest, who has besought me to join with him in bringing to New York this most beautiful and sacred of plays. He has asked me to aid in sponsoring it, and in preparing it for the New York offering.

"Who says dreams do not come true?"

COINCIDENCE IN LOVE AND LIFE

Writer Recounts Interesting History of Pneumatic Tire Invention

"Society gossip does not always match the journalist's conception of a human story. Just now, however, the five o'clock teas of Mayfair are being enhanced by a true story that ought no longer to be exclusive to them," writes Henry S. Doig in The London Weekly Dispatch.

It appears that a young woman who is not conspicuous either for her good looks or appearance had fallen in love with love, but found no swain eager to seek her hand in marriage. In her distress, she fell on her knees in her boudoir and prayed to heaven, fervently and aloud, that her dearest wish might be granted, and that a Prince Charming might appear.

To her entered a girl friend, one, presumably, of the Bright Young People. Promptly, and without equivocation, she showed her youthful brightness by jeering at the distressed and praying maiden, who, it is deplorable to have to record, rose from her knees, and, seizing a costly vase, hurled it at the head of her unfeeling interrupter.

"Thus bad begins, as Shakespeare says, but worse remains behind. The vase missed the girl friend, went through the window, and cut open the head of an unsuspecting young man who happened, going about his lawful occasions, to be passing by.

The young man was taken into the house, his wounds were bound up and—well, he became a friend of the family, and ultimately married the girl. Love will find a way.

WHEN TO THROW

If this true and touching episode has the effect of bringing the young women of Mayfair more often to their knees, that is doubtless all to the good. But they will be well advised to refrain from throwing vases, even inexpensive ones, through the window into the street.

I may tell them that the law, by no means always an ass, is very clear about this. If you live in a country mansion surrounded by its own park, and so far forget yourself as to throw a vase through a window and hit somebody, the law will not call you criminal.

If you do it in a crowded city without looking to see if anyone is likely to be struck, or giving any warning, you may be guilty of murderous malice.

Malice, not necessarily murderous, may bring about coincidences scarcely less charming than the sequel to a thrown vase. There is the story, which I should never like to think untrue, of the Earl of Granard.

Some waggish fellow officers of the Guards sent him a letter on paper "borrowed" from Downing Street, inviting him to call on Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who was forming a new Government. Lord Granard called—and got a job. The Premier knew that somebody had tried to play a spiteful joke. His answer did credit to a Scottish gentleman and gave us a delightful example of the coincidence unexpected. Incidentally, he gave the Royal Household a very good Master of the Horse, a position Lord Granard still holds.

Coincidence in the grave world of business is not quite so colorful—but in its effect it is often even more far-reaching.

A generation ago a small boy was riding around the garden paths of his home in Belfast, when the hard rubber tire on his high bicycle came off. The rubber had perished. His father was mending a garden hose. Wishing to shorten it, he cut a piece off and tied it onto the rim of the boy's bicycle. Had it not been for the coincidence of the father being engaged as he was, this incident might never have taken place.

The tube, as a substitute for the solid tire, was a great success. The name of that father was Dunlop, and he was by profession a veterinary surgeon. He abandoned his surgery and, turning his mind to perfecting the air cushion tire, gave the world the tire that has made his name familiar in our mouths as household words.

Look back at the changes that have followed in our lifetime from this happy coincidence—the father with a piece of discarded hose in his hand, the son in tears at a useless bicycle. Both the Dunlops are now dead, but before they passed away they had seen a world transformed by this simple happening in a Belfast garden.

The pneumatic tire lifted the motor car from its kinship with the steam roller of the roads to what it is today—the poetry of motion. The internal combustion engine improved with the demand for the motor car, and its improvements made possible the dazzling portent of the age—the airplane. These things followed in their due sequence—as night follows day.

ROYAL BIRTHDAYS

Possibly some other genius would have invented a Dunlop tire. That takes us into another realm of speculation. "Doubtless," said the Rev. Dr. Boteler, "God might have made a better berry than the strawberry, but doubtless God never did."

So we must leave the coincidence, as and where we found it. In later years keen business men would have brushed aside this charming little story as unworthy of a great industry. I treasure it the more, for Mr. Dunlop himself told me, to my great delight, that it was perfectly true.

And, another aspect of that singular coincidence. It made millionaires of many people, among them Sir Arthur du Cros—a champion cyclist in his time, and son of the managing director of Dunlops. How fortunately he spent his money we all recognized when he was the owner of the beautiful house in which daily the King is progressing, amid the good wishes of all his subjects, to complete convalescence.

And, before one leaves the topic of coincidence, the Royal Family can itself offer one that few families can excel. The King, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and Prince George all chose a Saturday for their birthday. Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary and the Duchess of York were equally unanimous. They chose Sunday.

One may say of our Royal Family, respectfully and entirely without the cynicism of the inventor of the phrase, that when they do agree, their unanimity is wonderful.

Alsace—The True and the False

The True Alsace (pointing to the False Alsace sheltering Germany). "She is the one who wants home rule."

(There is a feeling expressed in the French press that Germany is spreading unrest among the people of Alsace-Lorraine and suggesting that they demand home rule.)

"Aimee's" Mother Is Sued by Cleric in Seattle For Breach of Promise

SEATTLE, April 8.—Asking $50,000 heart balm, Rev. H. H. Clark, middle-aged Seattle clergyman of the "Christian" denomination, entered suit for breach of promise against Mrs. Minnie E. Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, of Los Angeles Tabernacle, here today.

In the suit, filed by Attorney Gordon McGauvran, Rev. Clark charges that Mrs. Kennedy promised to provide him with a tabernacle in Seattle, and a gospel ship to be used in missionary work in Alaska, and on the Pacific Coast. The minister said he first became acquainted with Mrs. Kennedy in Seattle December 14, 1928, and that during the days which followed the defendant telephoned plaintiff to take defendant to luncheon, dinner and to theatres.

Central British Columbia Map Is Rich in Interest

Present-day rapid transit, easy communication and intensive activity in human interests demand the quickest possible methods in the collecting, sifting and display of information of a country and its resources.

In this new map, published by the Department of Lands of British Columbia, a huge area is depicted which comprises a portion of the westernmost and last remaining section of North America suitable for white race settlement. The map shows the middle portion of the province from the latitude of Kamloops and Ashcroft on the south to include the Dominion Peace River Block on the north, whilst easterly it extends to Revelstoke.

In addition to the geographical outline of lakes and rivers, etc., the map is designed to give prominence to road communication and to record a wide field of information for commercial and visitors' interests. The objective of preparing a map of Central British Columbia which would be of a type most useful in teaching British Columbia geography in schools, was kept in view.

The economic data upon the map and the appreciations of the resources and various phases of administration, covering a very wide field—population, climate, agriculture, mining, fisheries, grazing, water power, forest, lands, fur, as well as detailed descriptions of the important cities and towns of the map area—are shown in a readily readable way.

Entirely new features of mapping are the descriptive tables and routes of trails and water routes. This practical form of publicity can be expected to attract attention which may develop these possibilities very widely in the future.

This new Central British Columbia map surely is a valuable contribution to the economic geography of Canada, and will be a most useful authority and assistance towards the settlement and development which must be immediately ahead for the vast and rich areas of Central British Columbia.

This new map was designed, compiled and drawn for reproduction by the Geographic Division of the Department of Lands.

The three destroyers will visit this port from June 11 to 15. On board will be university students taking training as cadets. Their visit will be the occasion of internaval sports.

Passengers Taken Off Wrecked Ship In Alaskan Waters

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 8.—Passengers from the steamship Discovery, which was wrecked yesterday, were safe at Seldovia, Alaska, today, after taking to lifeboats.

The Discovery, on her run from Seward to Illiamna, struck a rock, and her commander, Captain H. Berger, deeming her condition dangerous, ordered passengers into lifeboats. Meagre reports here of the wreck said that passengers left all their possessions behind because of the haste with which they left the motorship.

SALVAGE KING FINISHES TOW

2,700-Mile Voyage With Disabled Freighter Havilah Ends in Osaka Harbor

Completing what is believed to be the longest tow ever undertaken on the Pacific, the Salvage King docked at Osaka yesterday morning, according to advices received yesterday by Mr. A. C. Burdick, president of the Pacific Salvage Company.

The tow from Dutch Harbor to Japan is a distance of 2,700 miles, and the Salvage King experienced bad weather en route. Despite the Havilah's disabled condition and her cumbersome cargo of 4,000,000 feet of lumber, she accomplished the voyage in twenty-six days.

The tow was undertaken on the no-delivery-no-pay basis. The job is viewed by shipping men as an outstanding feat and another laurel for what is considered the most powerful and best equipped salvage craft in the world.

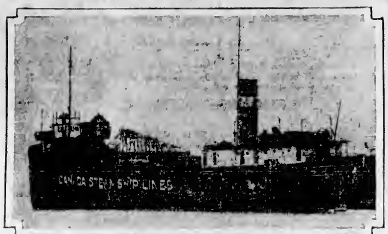

The Salvage King was constructed at a cost of $500,000 and when launched in England received considerable notice from the various shipping journals which lauded her as the most modern and powerful salvage craft afloat.

After the Havilah discharges her cargo she will be broken up by wreckers in Osaka. The sturdy ship that towed her across the Pacific will leave today for the return trip. She is expected back in Victoria on April 25.

NEBRASKA DUE THIS MORNING

Latest advices received from the Holland-Amerika liner Nebraska, are to the effect that she will dock from European ports at 11 o'clock this morning. The Nebraska is inaugurating the new service, which includes a call at Jamaica, West Indies, en route to this coast. Captain Bridges is in command of the vessel. Mr. A. P. Moffat, local agent, announced yesterday.

The Nebraska is the largest refrigeration ship in the service. She has cooler space for 200,000 boxes of apples.

Until the vessel arrives it is not possible to ascertain how the new Canadian treaty will affect this vessel's call at Jamaica. A duty is charged on all bananas shipped to Canada in other than Canadian bottoms. Whether this will affect the Holland-Amerika line's service to this port is not yet known.

Mr. Moffat also reports the Noorderdyk en route here from Europe. She is due on April 20 to discharge 150 tons of freight. The Nebraska has 100 tons of cargo for discharge at this port.

TATSUTA MARU TAKES WATER ON APRIL 12

Chichibu Maru Will Be Launched on May 8—Releases More Vessels for N.Y.K. Northern Route

THREE NEW SHIPS TO BE CONSTRUCTED

April 12 and May 8 are the dates respectively set for the launching of the new Nippon Yusen Kaisha motor liners Tatsuta Maru and Chichibu Maru for the Orient-San Francisco run, it was announced at local headquarters yesterday. The launching of these vessels will release the Siberia Maru and Korea Maru from the San Francisco run for the transpacific service into Victoria and Seattle, Mr. A. H. Hebb stated.

A third vessel will also be transferred from the San Francisco run to the Yokohama-Victoria route. No definite advice has been received yet. But it will be one of three ships, the Shinyo Maru, Taiyo Maru or Tenyo Maru.

Three vessels of similar type as those now under construction for the San Francisco run have been ordered for the Yokohama-Victoria-Seattle service. Those nearing completion in Japan will set a new mark for luxurious accommodation and speed on the transpacific run in so far as Japanese steamship lines are concerned.

McKinley Is Given Clean Health Bill

A clean bill of health was given the President McKinley on her arrival here yesterday morning from the Orient. Pratique, however, only affected those embarking here. There were several cases of pneumonia and other sickness on board, which was attended to on the liner's arrival at Port Townsend, the United States quarantine station.

Prominent among the passengers to arrive on the McKinley were:

Mr. Camilo Osias, the resident commissioner of the Philippine Islands, accompanied by Mrs. Osias, his three sons and two secretaries. They were en route to Washington, D.C., where Mr. Osias will assume his new position.

Mr. Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Philippine Islands, was a member of the delegation enroute to Washington to make demands for independence and to protest against any tariff on sugar and copra exported from the Philippines to the United States. Another member of the delegation on board was Rafael P. Alunan, secretary of the Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources for the Philippines.

His Excellency Phya Damrong Baedyagun and Lady Baedyagun, of Bangkok, Siam, were on board. His Excellency is Director of Sanitation for Siam. He is closely connected with the Royal Family, and is en route to Europe. Accompanying him is His Excellency Phya Prakit Kolasastra, Postmaster-General of Siam.

Mrs. Alma Newton Anderson, noted novelist, returned from a visit to the Orient, where she collected material for a new book. Mrs. Anderson writes under the name of Alma Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Young are en route to their home in the Eastern United States. Mr. Young is prominent in the sugar industry of the Philippine Islands.

Mr. Frederick Waller, president of the Pan-Pacific Oil Company, is returning to Los Angeles, California. He is a well-known novelist and writer of political and economic subjects.

INCREASE IN U.S. QUOTA IS EXPECTED

Last Batch of Passports for United States Issued at Consular Office Here This Month

OVER 2,000 ON WAITING LIST

At the end of April no more people will be allowed passports to the United States until the new quota comes into effect in July, it was announced yesterday by Mr. George Bucklin, American Consul.

A total of 180 passports were allotted to Victoria last year for British people. On the waiting list there are 2,000 who want passports. They have been permitted to go through to the United States at the rate of eighteen a month.

The new quota law, put through several weeks ago, however, is likely to make a change in the allotment for Victoria. Mr. Bucklin has already given an estimate of what the waiting list for 1929-30 will be to the British consular office, which will apportion the quota to the various Dominions, according to the size of the waiting lists.

Mr. Bucklin said that he expected there would be a very substantial increase in the number of passports allowed for the new fiscal year, which starts at the end of July. Unfortunately, however, when the quota is increased the waiting list increases proportionately, he said. It takes about eighteen months to secure a passport at the present time, from the date on which an applicant places his name on the waiting list. Each month large numbers drop out when notified that they can obtain a passport. While waiting to get a visa, people secure positions and then have no desire to go south. In this respect the quota law somewhat redounds to Canada's benefit, as it restricts those immigrants coming to Canada from Great Britain from passing through to the United States shortly after their arrival, as was the case several years ago.

CANADIAN FARMER FOR WEST COAST

Only Vessel in California Service Not to Be Sold Will Carry Fish Oil This Season

The Canadian Farmer, the only vessel in the Canadian National Steamship's California service that will not be sold, will be used in the freight service to the West Coast of Vancouver Island during the fishing season.

Equipped with oil tanks she is quite able to enter the fish reduction plant business along with other vessels.

The C.P.R. will operate the Nootka to the West Coast this season, while the Princess Norah will take care of lighter freight.

Frank Waterhouse & Company have five freighters which will be operated in the service this year, so that the West Coast will have excellent connections with Victoria and Vancouver during the peak season.

Shipbuilders' Strike Comes To Deadlock

VANCOUVER, April 8.—The strike of shipwrights, joiners, boatbuilders and caulkers on the waterfront remains at a standstill, though there is a probability that the men employed by companies not members of the Boatbuilders' Association will return to work shortly, at the advanced scale, according to reports at union headquarters.

The men went out on March 26 to enforce a request for an increase of $1 a day. The old scale was $6.50 for shipwrights, joiners and boatbuilders, and $7.25 for caulkers. Carpenters' wages on shore, in house building, etc., is $8 per day. The strike came following negotiations extending over two years.

The situation is now a deadlock, with some grain ships diverting to Seattle for lining before coming here to load. There are 174 carpenters on strike, and 100 helpers, employed on ship lining, have refused to work and are now organizing as an auxiliary of the carpenters, it is stated.

Marine Notes

Bringing valuable machinery for the $550,000 cold storage plant at Ogden Point piers, the Canadian Rover is reported due from California ports Wednesday morning. Besides the machinery she has nearly 100 tons of general freight for discharge here before proceeding to Vancouver.

The Pacific Maru, Captain Z. Wakabayashi commanding, which docked here 9 o'clock Saturday night to discharge 200 tons of corn from Manchuria, cleared for Vancouver at noon on Sunday, King Bros. announced yesterday.

The Woyo Maru docked at Rithets piers at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night to load 700,000 feet of lumber for Japan. She is expected to clear from port today.

To load 700,000 feet of lumber for Japan the Meiwu Maru is reported due from the Orient at 7 o'clock this morning, King Bros. report. Captain R. Sugiyama is in command.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as given above.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

The Crooks' Game

By GEORGE DILNOT

CHAPTER XXVII

There are many groups in the underworld of London, as in most of the great cities of the world. They impinge upon one another in overlapping sections; but, contrary to popular fancy, there is no more universal freemasonry among them than there is among the animals of the jungle. Self-interest is the ruling passion. Except by chance, or possibly by prison acquaintanceship, there are many who rank in the hierarchy of crime who have no knowledge of each other. This is more particularly so with lesser rogues, who play entirely for their own hand or work among their own coteries.

Nevertheless, there is one common professional, or rather class, sentiment among these groups. The British crook has no use for murder. He holds it to be a clumsy expedient. Murders, as the British crime returns show, are in ninety-nine per cent of cases committed by amateurs in crime, and occasionally by ignorant and reckless aliens who have not estimated its perils. A person known to be "wanted" for murder is more shunned by the average British crook population than he would be by the virtuous and law-abiding citizens of Belgravia. A plague-stricken rat would be more welcome.

There were those who, watching the papers, knew that Scotland Yard was "onto" Nares and Moses. They had heard of the capture of Lola and of Jacky the Dude, and for sufficiently obvious reasons were anxious to avoid contact with men whose mere presence might spell trouble. Thus the two found certain doors shut against them on various pleas.

Neither of them was of easy temper, but they dared not attract attention to themselves by any overt row. One man banged a door in their faces at the first glimpse of them; another shook his head deprecatingly when they sought sanctuary at a house in one of the streets off Whitechaped Road. He was pale-lipped but determined. "We got a house full already, gents. I wouldn't advise you to come in here."

Sheldon Nares stood in the middle of the street and cast an uneasy glance over his shoulder. "We can't run about like this all night," he said. "At any moment we may be recognized."

Moses tucked his coat-collar higher and pulled the peak of his cap lower. "We got to do something," he asserted. "This kind of thing is just asking for it. It will have to come to an hotel, I guess."

"An hotel!" Sheldon Nares whirled furiously upon him. "I thought we'd thrashed that out. An hotel! Why not the nearest police station? We'd stand about as much chance of getting by."

"We've taken bigger chances," declared the other. "Who would expect us to do a thing like that?"

"Sure we've taken bigger chances," agreed his companion. "They might have looked bigger to a pinhead like you. Do you realise that we're the two best-advertised men in England just now? What about the waiters and chambermaids and hall porters? Can't they read? What are they going to do about two men walking in without baggage who look like the guys who are hunted by the police. Either shut your head, or talk sense."

"You think up something, then," said Moses sulkily. He dropped his voice. "Look out."

A constable methodically paced by them on the other side of the road, and they edged closer into the shadows. But beyond a casual glance he paid them no attention. Belated night wanderers were no uncommon phenomenon in that part of London. They walked on silently till he was out of earshot.

"I'm not sure," went on Moses, "that it wouldn't be wiser for us to separate. They're after the two of us, and while we're together we might be more easily identified. Singly, one or both of us might slip through."

Nares came to a halt. "I see," he muttered. "They'll be looking for a fat man. If they get on my scent, it might detract attention from you. I'm to be the goat. For all I know you'd squeal on me to save your own dirty skin. No. We stick together, you and I. If they hang me, I'm going to have company."

The little man took refuge in silence under the flouts of the other. They turned into the Whitechapel Road before either spoke again. Then Nares went on. "Do you know how far it is to Wapping?"

Moses waved his hand vaguely. "Over there, somewhere. You thinking of that. I've never walked there."

"Well, you're going to walk there now," said Nares grimly. "I don't see any chance of a cab."

"I'm not sure that I can find the way," objected his companion. "We daren't ask. What'll we say if any policeman stops us?"

"No policeman had better be too inquisitive tonight," said the fat man. "I'm not feeling in the mood for questions."

They trudged on. By some miracle they were not accosted by any guardian of the law, and by another miracle they ultimately found themselves in a district which both had some little cause to remember. In a cul-de-sac running to the river they reached a wood and tin shed, half boathouse, half hut. Nares knocked peremptorily on the door, and, after the summons had been repeated twice, a sleepy, partly dressed man, grumbling and muttering to himself, appeared in the doorway. He gave a startled yelp as Nares jammed the business end of a pistol into his stomach.

"Stop that row," ordered the fat man. "You've got two guests for the night, and you can save any argument. Take us in and get us something to eat." He emphasized his commands with a prod of the weapon. This time he was determined there should be no denial of hospitality.

"Why, is it you, boss?" cried the other in a sort of gruff whine. "Love a duck, what are you doing here?"

He carried a cheap oil lamp in his hand, and by its feeble light they made their way into the dirty outer room of the two into which the shanty was divided. Wood shavings, pieces of rope, a broken oar or two, pots of paint, buckets, and a couple of empty salmon cans littered the floor. On a rough wooden bench, amid a quantity of tools, was the evidence of meals taken the previous day, in a series of unwashed plates and dishes. There was an all-prevading odor of tar.

"Suffering snakes! What a pigsty!" ejaculated Nares.

"I didn't ask you to come here," retorted the other. "Them as don't like the way I live can lump it." He picked at his coarse beard with a gnarled hand, and a pair of animal eyes stared out of a bloated face at his visitors. "I done what you wanted," he went on, "and that's the finish. If I'd ha' knowed what I know now, you wouldn't ha' got me coming near you by the length of a barge pole. A couple of blasted—"

He stopped. Sheldon Nares had thrust his fat face forward and glared into the other's eyes. "Say it," he snarled. "Go on, say it."

A fat man essaying the dramatic is usually a ludicrous figure. But there was nothing ludicrous about Nares at the moment. He radiated a kind of dynamic fury, and the other man wilted before him.

Moses had caught sight of the partly filled whisky bottle, and, putting it to his lips, drank deeply. He placed the bottle on the bench, where it would be at hand, and cast a glance at their unwilling host.

"Murderers, that's what we are, Shel! That's what Tom Jackson wanted to call us. Blasted murderers."

Jackson shrugged his shoulders. "I wasn't meaning no offence," he said in morose apology. "To be woke up that-away kind of sours a man. I've had the jumps ever since—" There was a pregnant hiatus at the conclusion of the sentence. He turned heavily to some shelves which, curtained by a patch of sail-cloth, served as a larder, and produced half a stale loaf of bread and a lump of mouldy cheese. "That's the best I can do for you in the way of grub. I don't live high. If you want a drink, you're welcome to what you've found." His gaze lingered for an instant on the bottle that Moses had sampled.

The two were not inclined to be fastidious. It was long since they had eaten, and they had walked far. Both ate wolfishly, but while Nares had the lion's share of the bread and cheese, Moses balanced matters by his attention to the whisky.
